NAVAL ENGAGEMENTS IN TWO QUARTERS.

Battles Between Chefoo and Port Arthur and in Tsushima Straits.

Captain of a Vessel Which Sighted the First Conflict Heard a Terrific Explosion—Kamimura is Supposed to Have Trapped the Vladivostok Squadron. Rainy Season Interferes With Operations on Land.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEFOO, July 1, 8:30 p. m.—[By Asiatic Cable.] What should prove to be a decisive naval engagement was in progress at 1 o'clock this afternoon, midway between Chefoo and Port Arthur.

The steamer Chefoo, which has arrived here, passed within fifteen miles of the Japanese fleet, consisting of two battleships and four cruisers, all actively engaged. The Russian fleet was not seen, but the distance of the Japanese from land precludes the possibility of any attack on the land batteries. The captain of the Chefoo says he heard a terrific explosion, but was unable to discern whether a Japanese or a Russian ship was affected.

The battle is held here to confirm the Chinese report that only four of the larger Russian warships were at Port Arthur last night.

KOUROPATKIN TO THE CZAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—The Emperor has received the following from General Kouropatkin, dated June 30:

"Torrential rains fell in the Ta Tche Kiao district June 28, and on the roads from Ta Tche Kiao to Siu Yen, inundating our bivouacs. The Japanese are advancing slowly in different directions towards our east and south fronts. On the south, the Japanese are advancing eastward with the object of effecting a junction with Kuroki's army.

"It has been ascertained by a reconnoissance in the direction of Dalin Pass that the Japanese have retired some distance from the positions recently occupied by them. Their covering forces consisting of several companies, retired after a short fusillade.

"A report from the direction of Feng Wang Cheng June 29 announced that an energetic advance of the Japanese forces had been discovered toward Wan Fan Hun and the Lin Ho Sin Pass. The rains continue."

KOUROPATKIN'S PLAN OF ACTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWCHWANG, July 2—A telegram from German sources at Mukden, received here yesterday evening, says Gen. Kouropatkin has decided not to fight at Ta Tche Kiao or Haicheng, but to retreat from Ta Tche Kiao, which movement was started June 28, and is well under way. Small detachments of troops will, it is added, stay south to stem the Japanese until the Russian retreat is in full swing. It is not believed here that the Russians will be able to reach Liao Yang, as the Japanese control the passes, which would indicate that the Russian line of communication may be cut. A Chinese rumor is to the effect that 2000 Mongolian troops engaged by Russia have been annihilated in battle. No credence is placed in the report.

The crew of the torpedo-boat destroyer, Lieut. Burukoff, which arrived here from Port Arthur June 29, say they left Port Arthur Tuesday night in a fog and rain, and near Hockey Light got out of the course and ran aground on the Bitter Shallows, near Helf Bay, on the west coast of the peninsula. They got off in two hours. When the fog lifted, several of the Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers were seen coming toward the Lieut. Burukoff, which was saved only by her speed. A boat which arrived here from Shanghai last night reported that a Japanese torpedo-boat destroyer was outside the entrance of the river, which may mean that she will come in and engage both the Lieut. Burukoff and the gunboat Sievouch.

ZINILSKY REPORTS VICTORY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—The following dispatch has been received at the War Office from Gen. Zinilsky, dated June 30:

"The following reports have reached here (Liao Yang) from Port Arthur: On June 24 the Japanese displayed great activity at all their outposts, and in the hope of recapturing the mountains of War-Tzei-Laza, which had been taken from them, they attacked, but again were repulsed, and our troops now occupy the village of Beikhohoon, northeast of Siao Ping Tao. The enemy maintained a heavy fire at long range on our left flank from their squadron, which lies in Talienwan Bay in full view of Port Arthur. It consists of a cruiser, two torpedo-boat destroyers and seven merchant ships, which evidently brought cargoes into the bay.

"On the night of June 24 and 25, the Japanese torpedo boats reapproached the fortress, and at 4 a. m. on June 26 the enemy began to cannonade from their vessels in the Siao Ping Tao Bay, directing their fire against the whole coast toward the north, from the bay to Mount Uit-Selo, and then attacked the great fort, firstly height No. 151; secondly height No. 126.

ALL ASSAULTS REPULSED.

"The latter were attacked by a small detachment landed for this purpose. These two heights were held by our riflemen, who, after driving off three attacks with heavy losses, retired, and being pressed by the enemy, sought refuge on the heights of Loun Van Tian. The enemy attacked this position in great force, employing at least a division, but all the assaults were repulsed.

"At 3:30 p.m. the Japanese appeared on the Port Arthur road in great strength, and attacked Kwin Shan (Guin San Shan.) The riflemen, who held the height with two battalions, retired. The Japanese turned them from the rear, losing heavily in the maneuver. Our torpedo boats were of some assistance to us, advancing on Loun Van Tian and bombarding the coast occupied by the enemy.

"Our losses were seven officers and about two hundred soldiers killed or wounded. Our mines at the proper time, blowing up at least fifty Japanese. Their losses were evidently considerable.

"According to the latest advices, large columns of the enemy are marching from Dalny toward the village of Suan Tsan Hon and Khouint Mountain.

"On June 27 there was a fusillade at the Japanese outpost due to the Japanese establishing themselves on the summit of Van Tian Mountain. Our boats proceeded yesterday toward Loun Van Tian, and bombarded the shore.

"Yesterday evening, the forts and batteries at Port Arthur opened fire on the Japanese torpedo boats."

EXPLODED MINE UNDER JAPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MUKDEN, Thursday, June 30.—[Delayed in Transmission.] Heavy fighting is reported to have occurred near Port Arthur, June 26, resulting in the Russian withdrawal from Guin San Shan after severe losses on both sides.

The Japanese fleet appeared at Siao Ping Tao, midway between Port Dalny and Port Arthur, the morning of June 26, and bombarded the coast north of the bay as far as Ult Selo Shan. Strong Japanese forces which had been landed then attacked the heights, which were occupied by Russian riflemen. Three times the Japanese were driven back with heavy losses, but the Russians were forced to retire from their main position near Guin San Shan. The Japanese reinforced their advance guard and pressed the attack. After several fruitless assaults on Guin San Shan, the Japanese commander sent a strong column along the central road from Dalny to Port Arthur, with the object of turning the Russian left, forcing the Russians to retire.

The Russians lost seven officers and nearly two hundred men killed. The Japanese losses are believed to be much larger, as during the battle they passed over a mine which the Russians successfully exploded.

DALIN PASS REOCCUPIED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, June 30.—[Delayed in Transmission.] Gen. Kouropatkin with reinforcements, personally moved toward Dalin Pass, whereupon the pass was evacuated by the Japanese and reoccupied by the Russians.

"WAR AGAINST THE WAR." WARSAW SOCIALISTS' SLOGAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times' Russian correspondent says that a thousand Socialists marched in procession through the streets of Warsaw, Tuesday, carrying red flags with the inscription "War Against the War" on one side and "Down with Czarism" on the other.

The policemen and door porters not only made no attempt to stop the procession, but they moved out of its way. Some even took off their caps. On former occasions, they were very active in preventing such demonstrations. No excesses were committed.

PFLUG DENIES THE SINKING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—Maj. Gen. Pflug, telegraphing from Mukden under date of July 1, says: "The reports from foreign sources that the Japanese fleet sank several vessels of our squadron on June 23, and that our losses included Prince Ouktomsky and 700 sailors are absolutely untrue."

PREDICTING END OF WAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, July 1.—The question of mediation between Russia and Japan on behalf of peace continues to be discussed in diplomatic circles here. The Tageblatt quotes the utterances of an unnamed diplomatist having close relations with Japan as saying that Japan is disposed to accept the mediation of some friendly power, and would propose peace conditions that Russia could accept. Conditions could be framed easily since Japan does not seek territorial acquisitions in Manchuria, but only wants the preservation of her commerical interests there and a certain influence in Korea.

Having already substantially improved her moral position with European powers through the victories hitherto won, Japan would gladly utilize the situation thus created for establishing peace before Russia reinforces her Manchurian army too strongly. This diplomatist further argues that Russia, after having gained one important victory, would consent to mediation, because the war has demonstrated that she is unable to cope with Japan with her existing military equipment and needs ten years for reorganization and rearmament before renewing the struggle. Hence the war will soon come to an end.

LOST IN A TYPHOON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, June 20.—[Delayed in Transmission.] During a recent typhoon in the Sea of Japan twenty-seven barges belonging to the Nippon Yusen Kaish of Tokio lost 300,000 pounds of flour intended for the Japanese armies. The rains here are increasing.

POLITICAL.

PLOTS OF BOLTERS.

Bryanites to Bring Fake Contests.

Will Endeavor to Throw Out Regularly-elected Delegates of Five States.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Brooklyn Eagle's St. Louis special says:

"The Hearst-Bryan plot to annul the will of the national Democracy was fully exposed here last night, the conference between John P. Hopkins, national committeeman from Illinois, Roger C. Sullivan of Cook county Democracy and representatives of Democratic organizations in Indiana, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. It involves the bringing of fake contests from five debatable Northern States, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana and Illinois, with the connivance of Charles A. Walsh, secretary of the National Committee, M. Dunlap, treasurer, and other conspicuous members of the committee, the purpose of unseating the regularly-elected delegates from those States.

"This is precisely the plan outlined in the Eagle three weeks ago in a dispatch from Albany, in which it was said the purpose of these contests is to pave the way for a bolt in the event of the conservative ascendancy in the convention.

"Conservative delegates have been actively working since midnight to learn just how far the integrity of the National Committee has been undermined. Hopkins explained to the leaders at last night's conference. Bryan, Walsh and Dunlap have been in Chicago for several days, putting the finishing touches on the deal. Originally, the Illinois contest did not promise to involve the whole delegation. Carter Harrison had not brought district contests in Cook county, and some of the rural districts of the State were intending to contest in one form or another against the seating of the delegates selected at the Springfield convention.

"While Bryan and his two friends on the National Committee were in Chicago, however, the determination was reached to bring a general contest against the whole Illinois delegation upon the ground that since it had been instructed by the Springfield convention to vote as a unit for Hearst it had been planning to abandon him and align itself with the conservative branch of the party on the issue of Cleveland or of Parker. In pursuit of that petition, petitions are now being circulated among the Illinois delegates for unseating Hopkins, who has publicly declared that he will not intend to vote for Hearst on the first ballot, or under any circumstances.

ILLINOIS DROPS HEARST.

"It is true that the Illinois delegation has abandoned Hearst. Thirty-fourteen of the fifty-four delegates were ever in favor of Hearst's nomination. The remaining forty have been so much against Hearst and what he represents in politics that they were only induced, with the utmost difficulty by Hopkins, to remain in the delegation after the resolution of instruction was passed in Springfield.

"Probably, in a pinch, one or two forty anti-Hearst delegates would vote for Hearst on the first ballot, but the anti-Hearst predominance is so great and its opposition to him is so earnest that it is certain that practically the whole delegation would leave him after the first ballot, or in its power. Realising the facts of this situation, Bryan advised the Illinois radicals to get up this general contest, and with the help of Walsh and Dunlap and their fellow conspirators in the National Committee, throw the whole delegation out.

"Bryan also represented to the Illinois radicals that well-formed plans to bring contests from Indiana, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are to be carried out. He explained to them that, with the aid of these contests would involve all the debatable Northern States and furnish basis for argument in convention that no conservative nominee, either Parker or Cleveland or any man who would be likely to attract the support of the old Cleveland elements in 1900 can use the Democratic leaders of those States and obtain electoral votes for the Democratic ticket.

BRYAN'S BUNCH OF ISMS.

"No doubt is entertained by Democrats here that the defeat of Parker is the first true objective of Bryan's plan. He intends to go before the convention with the Hearst delegates of the West and the Nebraska and Oklahoma delegations, which he personally controls, and then fake up contests from doubtful Northern States. He intends, by means of prearranged treachery in the National Committee, to control the Committee on Credentials, usurp the will of the accredited Democracy, if he finds it possible to do so by nominating himself, or somebody of his class. Failing in this, Democrats here believe, almost to a man, that he intends to call a new convention, comprising the elements he is now gathering together and other extraneous elements of populism, greenbackism, union laborism, socialism and paternalism, with which he has been recently in more or less intimate association, and organize a new national party.

"Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who has been, since his defeat in the New York State convention of April 18, repeatedly saying that he had Parker defeated, and, in view of the Hearst-Bryan developments of last night, openly accused of having guilty knowledge of all irregular proceedings with radical Democrats in the doubtful Northern States, said Ex-Senator James Smith, Jr., nominal head of the New Jersey Democracy, is under suspicion. It is said here that Col. Guffey of Pennsylvania and Senator Gorham of Maryland declined to enter into any arrangement with Murphy and Smith for the defeat of Parker, because they became convinced that events would identify too many of the malcontents with radicalism and link their interests in the convention inseparably with those of Hearst and Bryan."

PARKER'S LEAD IS STRONG.

ANAGERS EXPECT STAMPEDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

T. LOUIS, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Parker's lead in the race for Presidential nomination is strong, increasing. There is apparently doubt that the work of the leaders king him for the nomination has ulted in considerable crystallization sentiment in his favor. The open osition to him is confined to the rst and Bryan shouters, who are t conspicuous around the Californand Nebraska headquarters in the l Jefferson. The opposition of Tammany is suddenly secretive, if ntinues to exist, and that which is ed to exist in the Pennsylvania, Jersey and Maryland delegations ot traceable with the naked eye. will no doubt be anti-Parker enough later on, when the opposn develops a working programme, today the Parker boom is developing uninterruptedly.

illiam F. Sheehan, who has end rooms at both the Southern and the Jefferson, will be one of e Parker's important representahere. After the recent conferwith Hill, Senator McCarren, Smith, Thomas Taggart, Repreitive Head, Senators Stone and er, August Belmont, Maurice M. on and John Sharp Williams and leading delegates from Arkansas, ado, Connecticut, West Virginia, ia, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsyl, Vermont and New Hampshire, an told friends who have his idence that Judge Parker will bly be nominated on the first t, and if not then, certainly on second. "Politicians with a keen for trouble are astonished that of it is not in evidence. The arrivals are all Parker men, of them are talking with great of the strength of the New jurist. The impression that he be nominated is equally strong the Northern and Southern conitives, and is afflicting the more ent Western radicals with the of dejection which nothing exthe prompt arrival of Hearst and can cure.

re are many delegates from m radical States under instruction for Hearst who prefer to supJudge Parker and the conservaplatform that his friends intend pose for adoption. There are, ing to the Parker men, eight e Democrats in the California tion, seven in Nebraska, three ahoma, four in Idaho, twelve in three in South Dakota and two oming, beside forty in Illinois, Rhode Island and two in Utah. whole Hearst strength is bonded with conservative senti This sentiment grows in the in direct proportion to the prev of Cleveland talk. The Parker ers are led by this to believe the projected attempt to nomiCleveland will precipitate a Parstampede, whether the attempt is while the first ballot is in progr later.

LINOIS LIKELY TO SLIP.

G OVER TO CLEVELAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dis It developed today that Illilikely to slip its instructions arst after the first ballot, or the second, and cast its influth Tammany for Grover Cleve This is the plan which is being y perfected by John P. Hopd Roger Sullivan with James and others who are favorable Cleveland cause. These genfigure that the strength of arker will be fully developed first or second ballot, and by e there will be an opportuone of the strong delegations, ois, to turn the tide by swing line for one of the other can s where Hopkins plans to take e of the "little joker" which ped into the platform resoluopted at the Springfield con This resolution, it will be ered, gave the delegates the meet, and by the vote of a of their number set aside tructions. It is considered p to" Illinois, if the State is in the convention in any imway, to get out of the minority and away from Hearst-Bryan domination and to get into line for one of the candidates who is to win. This is the way it is being presented to Illinois delegates and politicians.

DEMOCRATIC SKIRMISHING.

TWO LINES OF OPERATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Two distinct lines of operations developed today in the preliminary skirmishing of the Democratic convention. One is a scheme to rush the nomination of Judge Parker on the first or second ballot, and the other is to scatter the vote and prevent an early nomination, with a view of naming Cleveland or Gorman. The friends of Gorman and Cleveland are working to hold the convention for several ballots, in the hope that their candidate may be named. The Gorman men are not parties to the Cleveland movement, nor are the Cleveland advocates combining with Gorman's friends. There is no alliance, but it is to the interest of both that the Parker strength be disintegrated as soon as possible.

There are a few men here—men of the old Cleveland guard—who are watching every point, and who are in close communication with Cleveland supporters, and in a subtle and subterranean manner they have been feeling the pulse of men as they arrive. They are using the race issue on the Southern men, and with all delegates they use the argument that Cleveland is the only man that the Democrats can elect. With some effect, they are pointing out to the Southern delegates that they need no better excuse for supporting Cleveland than that they did so for the purpose of preventing negro domination by the Republicans. The man who is credited with being the head and front of the Cleveland movement, Thomas Ryan, will arrive tomorrow. Ryan is a delegate from Virginia, and has been identified with the Atlantic Coast Line road. He has also been associated with Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. Ryan is credited with having Southern States' delegations up his sleeve ready to throw to Cleveland.

Gorman's position is stated to be that he will not enter into any combination to prevent the nomination of Parker, unless it means his own selection. He will not be used to pull out chestnuts for Cleveland. Around Gorman are gathered the Maryland, West Virginia and District of Columbia delegations and some from other States, with a bare possibility of securing New Jersey and Pennsylvania. But, like Gorman, former Senator Smith of New Jersey and James A. Guffey of Pennsylvania want to see success in sight before they jump.

There is a story going the rounds of the politicians who are here that the recent conferences between Gorman, Smith, Guffey and McLean had for their main object a proposition to control the party organization; that, in the selection of a committee chairman, someone should be chosen who would name men for the campaign committee under the control of these men. This control is desired to prevent it falling into the hands of David B. Hill, and also that the machinery of the party organization should not be used for Parker in 1908, if he had been nominated and make a good showing this year. No one appears authorized to speak with authority for any man who participated in the conferences, but, whatever occurred, the friends of Gorman here are still talking about the possibility of his nomination, and seem to think his name will be presented to the convention. This may be a part of the plan to secure concessions from the Parker men.

It is somewhat surprising that, although 264 delegates are instructed for Parker and about two hundred and sixty were elected under auspices favorable to him, there should be so much talk about scattering his strength after one or two ballots because delegations are not under instructions. The inference seems to be that they will go to another candidate at an early stage in the balloting. Parker's friends do not admit this weakness of their candidate, although the opponents of the New Yorker are making the supposed lack of adherence of his delegates one of their strongest points.

It seems apparent that the control of party affairs will pass to the East, no matter who will be the candidate or what may be the platform. Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska will give way under the changed conditions to New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and New England.

There is a little talk about what William J. Bryan may do, but some strong assurances are given that he will not bolt. A topic of discussion also is what the convention may do with Bryan. It is expected that he will have a vigorous dissent to the platform, and possibly to the candidate, but some Democrats say that after expressing his dissent, it is not the intention of the leaders to allow any great latitude to him after his minority report has been rejected.

GOSSIP FROM ST. LOUIS.

CLEVELAND BOOM DISCUSSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Talk in the interest of Cleveland for the Presidency constitutes the most prominent feature of the anteconvention gossip heard today, and the publication here of a Washington dispatch quoting John R. McLean in advocacy of the ex-President's nomination has added somewhat to the volume of prediction. There is no definite movement discernible as yet in Cleveland's interest, and the few delegates in the city generally decline to discuss the probabilities, saying that all predictions would be premature at this time. The discussion is therefore confined to politicians other than delegates, and with reference to the Cleveland nomination these are divided into two classes—those who favor him and those who fear him.

In a general way, eastern arrivals are favorable, on the ground that Cleveland can carry eastern States, such as New York, which they say no other man can carry. It is asserted that strong influence among the business interests is being organized in his interest.

At the Jefferson Hotel, where the National Committee makes it headquarters, the friends of Judge Parker are congregating in large numbers, and included among them are a number of delegations not instructed for the New York candidate.

They are very antagonistic to Cleveland, and, believing that Parker is the most available instrument with which to accomplish the defeat of the ex-President, they are quite prepared to accept him. They freely predict

THE VERY LATEST.

WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—[By the Atlantic Cable.] Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated June 30:

"A report received today from acting commander of the Port Arthur squadron (Rear-Admiral Withoeft) states that on the night of June 23, eight torpedo boats were dispatched to guard the roadstead seven miles out to sea. The torpedo boats repulsed the enemy's torpedo boats, which had approached. During this action, Commander Ellissein, Lieut. Smirnoff and two bluejackets were wounded. All the torpedo boats returned toward morning.

"At 6 o'clock, the Novak, Diana, Askold, Sebastopol, Poltava, Czarevitch, Pobieda, Peresviet, Retvizan, Bayan and Pallada steamed out into the roadstead and anchored, two floating Japanese mines having been perceived in the roadstead, and the squadron remained at anchor.

"Meanwhile several boats which had been searching for mines discovered and exploded ten on the eastern side of the roadstead. An examination showed that the mines were probably laid during the night by two of the enemy's torpedo boats which had approached Port Arthur.

"At 2 p.m., the squadron, preceded by a flotilla of mine dredges, torpedo boats and the Novik, steamed in line ahead toward the open sea, having emerged from the roads without mishap. The squadron shaped its course southward, and the dredgers were sent back to Port Arthur, escorted by armed picket boats. Two Japanese scouts, with a detachment of torpedo boats, were keeping our squadron in sight all the while.

"Twenty miles from shore, a Japanese squadron was sighted, steaming in divisions, line ahead, which, on drawing closer, was found to be composed of one second-class and four first-class battleships, four armored first-class cruisers, seven second-class cruisers, five third-class cruisers, one scout boat, one steamer and thirty torpedo boats, in two divisions.

"As they approached, the Japanese were seen to be preparing to place a division of cruisers and torpedo boats between the shore and our squadron, in order that during the night they might force by persistent torpedo attacks some of our ships to break the formation, and in the morning engage us with all their ships.

"Taking into consideration the fact that the enemy's force was greatly superior to ours, and in view, also, of the large number of Japanese torpedo boats, I decided to return to Port Arthur in order to act according to circumstances, considering that this plan of action laid us open to less risk of loss.

"At 7 p.m., our squadron started on its return to Port Arthur, a proceeding which the enemy did not attempt to prevent, nor did he attempt to approach.

"At 10 o'clock, the squadron reached the roadstead, where it cast its anchor. At the same time, our rearmost ships successfully repulsed two Japanese torpedo attacks. Notwithstanding the bright moonlight, the enemy continued to make torpedo attacks in the roadstead until daybreak, but the attacks were always successfully repulsed.

"In the morning, there were found along the coast, near our warships, twelve Whitehead torpedoes, which had been launched by the enemy on long range, the torpedo boats not being allowed to approach nearer than twelve cable lengths. The torpedo boats attacked in groups, and at least two of them were sunk.

"In the morning, the bodies of a Japanese officer and two sailors were washed on the beach.

"The successful repulse of the torpedo boats' attacks, in which several batteries took part, was facilitated by the searchlights on shore. In the morning, all our vessels entered port at high tide."

APPECTED BY RAINY SEASON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2, 4:20 a.m.—It is believed that the commencement of the rainy season will materially affect the whole military situation. The authorities believe that the railway greatly lessens the probability of an immediate decisive engagement between Gen. Kouropatkin and Gen. Kuroki, and it is thought that the wet weather will close the campaign in the upper part of the Liao Tung Peninsula until good weather sets in. The Japanese will probably be forced to hold the positions where the rain finds them, the best they can.

The operations around Port Arthur doubtless will be seriously hampered. It is believed that Japanese will find it necessary to establish another base, probably on the west coast of the lower part of the Liao Tung peninsula, in order to bring in food supplies, especially if the 10,000 troops reported to have been landed on the Elliott Islands march toward Port Arthur.

The Japanese will probably be able to utilize the time in making preparations to push the siege on the resumption of fair weather.

WHITOEFT ON DECK.

The lengthy report to the Czar from Viceroy Alexieff detailing the rally of the Port Arthur squadron, June 23, and the repulse of the Japanese torpedo attack, indicates that Rear-Admiral Withoeft was in no wise caught off his guard. The explanation of the fact that the squadron remained in the outer roadstea dthroughout the night is that the twenty-four-foot tide at Port Arthur renders the channel impracticable for vessels of deep draft at low tide.

There is much speculation as to the exact position of the Port Arthur fleet, the later dispatches from Lieut.-Gen. Zilinsky, chief of staff to Viceroy Alexieff, bringing the reports from the fortress up to two days after the squadron was supposed to have gone into the harbor without mentioning the vessels. If the squadron has again gone out, as it is popularly rumored, the authorities have not disclosed the fact.

WITH CHESS PLAYERS' CAUTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LIAO YANG, July 1.—Gen. Kouropatkin and Gen. Kuroki are moving their troops like men on a chessboard. The Japanese are now twenty miles from Liao Yang. Rains are impeding their movements. Detachments totaling 1200 men have been detailed from Gen. Renenkampff's Cossacks to scout defiles and hills, harassing the Japanese, and not allowing them any rest, day or night. The Japanese artillery is said to be commanded by an American. His tall form is frequently seen with the batteries.

Kuroki's army is extremely active east of the Russian position, and the Russians are correspondingly vigilant. The Russian center is rapidly pushing northward to a point where Kouropatkin established his base after the battle of Vafangow. As far as the Russians know, Kuroki is steadily pushing onward through all the mountain passes, even toward Mukden. Preparations at all points are now practically complete. The demonstrations made during the last few days against the Russian left flank threaten completely to change the position of the two armies.

Notwithstanding four days rain, the troops are still moving. Some railroad trains with wounded passed north June 30. Newspaper correspondents have returned to Liao Yang from the South. A press bureau has been established at Liao Yang.

NO MEDIATION YET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—Dispatches from Washington saying that inquiries made by the government as to the possibility of mediation show that neither Russia nor Japan is in a humor to entertain overtures, but that the State Department is ready to offer its services in the interest of mediation, whenever they may be acceptable, are attracting considerable attention in government and diplomatic circles. The optimistic opinions attributed to official circles at Washington regarding the early opening of friendly offices are not shared in Russia.

On the contrary, wherever inquiries have been made, the opinion has been unanimous that there is nothing in the present situation, so far as Russia is concerned, on which to base an early termination of the war, and that the question of peace will be considered only when direct proposals have been made by Japan. Russia has announced her determination not to tolerate mediation, and this determination seems to be rather strengthened than shaken by the reverses to her arms.

"There can be no mediation," the Associated Press was emphatically informed, "and any proposals looking to peace must come from Japan. The United States government might become the medium through which proposals will be submitted for our consideration, and of course any such proposal would be considered, but Russia is not seeking good offices, and neither the United States nor any other power will be asked to act as mediator."

SOME FRENCH OPINIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, July 1.—The French authorities do not attach significance to the conference between King Edward and Emperor William, as bearing on the Russo-Japanese War. They regard it as a mere friendly exchange of views between the monarchs, which is not likely to have important effect.

Inquiries from the Washington government relative to the prospects of mediation in the war brought out a definite expression of belief from the French officials that neither party desires mediation. Information reaching the government here indicates that Russia clings to the idea of restoring her prestige by a decisive victory before entertaining mediation proposals. Japan appears to be more susceptible to mediation, but this has not assumed official form.

Foreign Minister Delcasse and Ambassador Porter have gone over the situation fully lately, leading them to the conviction that the present situation is more likely to bring forth a decisive battle than any time before.

DROWNED BY RAINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—In view of the reports of heavy rains at the theater of war, the General Staff thinks the Japanese advance on Haicheng has been suspended. One War Office report says that fifteen minutes of rain flooded the valley near Kaichou, and that several men and horses were drowned and considerable quantities of stores were lost.

Official confirmation has been received of the dispatches from Mukden, saying heavy fighting was reported to have taken place near Port Arthur June 26, resulting in the Russian withdrawal from Guinsanshan after a severe loss on both sides.

EVACUATION OF DALIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAICHENG, June 30.—[Delayed in Transmission.] The Japanese evacuation of Dalin Pass was made without any resistance. After the battle of June 27, when the Russians retired, the Japanese threw forward patrols within eight miles of Haicheng.

June 28, the Russians reinforced the Dalin position, but the Japanese promptly retired and took up a position on a hill to the right of Dalin Pass. It is believed that this movement was a feint for the purpose of misleading the Russians as to the real position of the Japanese force.

ONLY WANTED TO HEAR CURZON

LONDON, June 1.—Various sensational rumors were in circulation yesterday, following a hurriedly-summoned meeting of the Cabinet; and the report spread that the Cabinet was discussing the resignation of the government. The Associated Press learns, however, that the Cabinet was summoned for the purpose of meeting Lord Curzon of Kedleston, Viceroy of India, who had been invited to explain the situation in Thibet.

FOREST FIRE IN MOUNTAINS.

Bad Blaze Destroying Much Arizona Timber.

Buildings of Several Mining Companies Threatened.

The Korea Brings Japs' Gold—Murder at Yuma.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz., July 1.—A forest fire is raging in the Huachuca Mountains, destroying many thousands of acres of fine timber. The fire, which is started in Ash Cañon and is spreading westward, is threatening the property and buildings of several mining companies near and also the large plant and reservoir of the Huachuca Water Company, located in Miller Cañon, from which Tombstone receives its water supply.

A large force of men are at the scene fighting the fire but are unable to stay its progress. An urgent request has been wired the military commander at Fort Huachuca to send troops to check the flames, if possible, and it is thought several companies of fire-fighters will at once be dispatched to the scene.

BRUTAL MURDER AT YUMA.
WHICH WAS THE BETTER SHOT?

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A brutal murder occurred within two miles of this city today, Eugene Tourtellotte emptied the contents of a double-barreled shotgun into the body of Pat Devine after breaking a rifle over his head.

The trouble occurred during a discussion as to which was the better shot. Both had been drinking. They are well known all over the Territory. Devine had considerable money on his person, and it is now missing. The coroner's jury held Tourtellotte. Other arrests may follow.

TWO TRANSPORTS SAIL.
FOR MANILA AND ALASKA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Two army transports sailed today, the Sherman for Manila, via Honolulu and Guam, and the Bufford for Alaska.

The Sherman carries about 100 saloon passengers, 37 unassigned field artillery recruits, 33 unassigned recruits for the Coast Artillery at Honolulu, 4000 tons of army supplies and $5,800,000 in money. Of this amount, $2,800,000 is in the form of silver certificates and $3,000,000 in specie. Capt. Robert L. Hamilton is in charge of the recruits. Brig.-Gen. F. M. Coxe is a passenger for Manila.

On board the Bufford, bound for Alaska, are about 800 men of the Third Infantry, who are to be stationed for the coming year at the various military posts of the Far North. Two thousand tons of army supplies are in the Bufford's hold.

EPPINGER PRESENTS PETITION.
WANTS LAWYERS IN CONTEMPT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Jacob Eppinger presented a petition in the United States District Court today requesting Judge DeHaven to order Attorney J. C. Campbell and Thomas B. Gibson to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court.

He alleges that Campbell and Gibson, June 5, took books and papers from the possession of Henry Wadsworth, the trustee in custody of the papers, pending the bankruptcy proceedings. The motion was made by Attorney Ach, but was denied by Judge DeHaven on the ground that only the trustee could make any motion that the court would entertain.

In Judge Lawlor's court, Milton J. Green, referee in bankruptcy, demanded the immediate return of the books of Eppinger & Co. The judge stated that as legal questions were involved he would decide the matter next Tuesday.

BANK COMMISSIONERS MEET.
FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS SOUND

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The annual meeting of the State Bank Commissioners was held this afternoon. Reports were received from banks in all parts of the State, and the financial institutions were declared in sound condition.

The election of officers then took place, and Guy Barham was unanimously chosen head of the commission for the coming year. The old officers remain unchanged.

NOT DISCHARGED, AFTER ALL.
MINT EMPLOYES RETAIN JOBS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—An order has just been received from Washington that the twenty men slated for dismissal in the United States Mint at the end of the fiscal year, last night, were not to be discharged.

This sudden determination, after the officials had ordered the discharge of the employés, is accounted for by the fact that at the same time the superintendent received instructions to discharge the men he got a telegram to continue the coinage of Philippine money. In all probability this will take until the end of August.

TOTAL WHEAT PRODUCTION.
IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 1.—The total production of wheat in the States of Oregon and Washington for the cereal year which ended June 30, 1904, was 33,584,970 bushels, as compared with 41,679,435 bushels last year. The shipments (flour reduced to wheat measure, 4½ bushels to the barrel,) were distributed as follows:

Shipped foreign from Puget Sound, 11,888,168 bushels; from Portland, 8,400,865 bushels; east by rail from the Coast, 1,783,957 bushels; coastwise to California, 4,225,539 bushels. The balance, 7,736,261 bushels, was consumed at home, is still unsold, in the hands of the farmer or is retained for seeding.

OLD LAND CASE SETTLED.
SOBRANTE TRACT ALLOTTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—A land case which has been in litigation for many years was decided today by the Supreme Court. The suit was that of Edson F. Adams vs. Emily R. Hopkins and Sarah A. Wilson, and it was decided that the various parties occupying several parts of the tract of land in dispute are the owners thereof.

The plaintiff asked for the partition of the tract of land known as the Sobrante, granted to Juan José and Victor Castro by Mexico April 22, 1841, and patented August 11, 1882. It contains 19,982 acres. The appeals were from the interlocutory judgment and from orders denying a new trial.

It was found by the court that the cause of action was barred by the statue of limitation and the land in dispute was accordingly alloted to the parties in possession.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS MEET.
CONVENTION AT STOCKTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

STOCKTON, July 1.—The thirteenth annual convention of the California State Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, got down to musiness today, and sessions will be held daily and in the evening until Sunday night. There are nearly one hundred and fifty delegates present, from all parts of the State.

Today's session was opened with the consecration services led by Rev. M. Hodgson of this city. Rev. J. C. Wooten of Berkeley spoke on "The Law," as connected with bible study. Rev. W. A. Orr rendered a vocal solo. The morning session was concluded with the class meeting led by Rev. A. Odom of La Grande.

M. Knox White of Los Angeles opened the afternoon session by leading in the devotions. Rev. J. C. Wooten spoke on "The Prophets," and made a very interesting talk. W. Frank Greenleaf presided over the department of worship.

President C. M. Paine of the local chaper, interested the delegates with an address on "Unity of Sympathy in the Devotional Service," and Horace N. Caldwell of Oakdale spoke on "The Relation of Formality to Spirituality." Interesting remarks were made by William Kirkland, Jr., of Merced on "Harmony in the Devotional."

KEROSENE IN HEN'S NOSTRILS.
SUCCESSFUL IN CHICKEN ROUP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, July 1.—Roup, a disease that attacks chickens and brings immense annual losses to the poultry raisers of the State, is being thoroughly investigated by scientists of the University of California. A campaign has already been launched by Prof. Ward, professor of Veterinary Science and Bacteriology, who has just returned from the poultry farms of Petaluma.

It is proposed to treat all the affected chickens differently, following suggestions from experience and various sources. Prof. Ward administered to 250 chickens while at Petaluma, and found that the most successful was obtained by injecting kerosene into their nostrils. Roup is a contagious disease.

FLOW OF GOLD FROM JAPAN.
MILLIONS FOR WAR MUNITIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The trans-Pacific liner Korea, just arrived, brought a seven-thousand-ton cargo of great value. The principal item is opium, of which there are 538 boxes. The duty on this drug will add to the revenue of the country nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The flow of gold from Japan to this country still continues. Over $2,000,000 was brought over and the entire amount is for war munitions.

The tea on board aggregates 28,000 boxes, together with 500 bales of silk and an enormous amount of matting.

PERILOUS TRIP TO HAWAII.
PORTLAND BOYS' EXPEDITION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From Portland to Hawaii in a 25-foot single-sticker is the perilous voyage two Portland High School boys will attempt to make. The lads, Glenn D. Caylor and Harry Kinney, have set sail and will cross Columbia bar at the first opportunity. They will stop at San Francisco, then go direct to the islands. Caylor conceived the plan, and his chum, Harry Kinney, readily consented, Caylor providing the sinews of the game in the way of enough money to buy the boat, laying in the stock of bacon, coffee, pans, kettles, sea biscuits, blankets, ropes and sails.

To Caylor also fell the task of persuading his father to consent to the project, a consent which was given when his father, a prominent wholesale commission man of this city, decided his son would make the venture whether he got his permission or not.

MINERS MAKE RICH STRIKE.
OLD PERRIN MINE PANS OUT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GRASS VALLEY, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James Harrigan, Thomas O'Neil and four other miners struck it rich in the old Perrin mine near here, learning today of the value of the strike. The men were working "tribute pitch," that is, were working on percentage with the company instead of being on regular pay.

In twenty-three days they took out ore netting them $4000, as shown by the mill report today, after the rock had been crushed at the company's mill.

HIS DEATH MYSTERIOUS.
ARMY MAN POSSIBLY MURDERED

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—John J. Hill, a young man who came here a few days ago to proceed to Manila to an advanced position in the transport service, died today under circumstances that are causing a police investigation. Hill was found in an unconscious condition on the water front early this morning. He died at a hospital tonight. A post-mortem disclosed extensive cerebral hemorrhage and concussion of the brain, possibly due to violence.

Hill was last seen last night at his hotel, when he paid his bill and left with his grip, his trunk having been sent to the transport Sherman, which sailed today. Hill came here from Washington. The police say that it is possible he exhibited some of his money and was waylaid and robbed. Another theory is that he died from the effects of chloral given in "knock-out drops."

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Aged Widow Instantly Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Mrs. Phoebe J. Caseneau fell down a flight of stairs today and was instantly killed. She was a widow 80 years of age.

Radcliffe Charged With Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Harry Radcliffe, who shot and killed Andrew Reilly at an early hour last Sunday morning, was today charged with murder by a Coroner's jury.

Bark Sights Much Wreckage.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The bark W. H. Dimond, which arrived in port today from Honolulu, reports that June 30 she sighted a lot of wreckage and later in the day, when fifty-two miles west of the Farallones, passed the wreck of a vessel, bottom up.

Blankets Saved His Life.

SAN JOSE, July 1.—Charles Ehman, a laborer walking to this city from San Francisco, was hit by a train this afternoon near College Park and hurled fifty feet. A large bundle of blankets on his back broke the force of the blow, and he was not seriously hurt.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The unusual wind velocity for the month of June seems calculated to atone for the deficiency in temperature and rainfall. The total movement of the wind during the month was 10,533 miles. The highest velocity attained was 50 miles an hour and the prevailing direction was from the northeast. The weather today was clear and continued cool. Maximum, temperature 61 degs. minimum, 53 degs. Middle West temperatures: Alpena 62, Bismark 72, Cairo 78, Cheyenne 60, Cincinnati 60, Cleveland 62, Concordia 76, Davenport 68, Denver 68, Des Moines 74, Detroit 58, Dodge City 90, Dubuque 66, Duluth 68, Escanaba 66, Grand Rapids 64, Green Bay 68, Helena 66, Huron 72, Indianapolis 62, Kansas City 76, Marquette 62, Memphis 74, Milwaukee 60, Minnedosa 71, North Platte 76, Omaha 64, Rapid City 76, St. Louis 74, St. Paul 66, St. Marie 54, Springfield, Illinois, 70; Springfield, Missouri, 74; Wichita 76.

MUNROE DOESN'T KNOW CUPID.

"I don't know this Cupid and don't want to know him while I'm in the fighting game. There's the one fellow who got the best of Jeffries that I won't sign with under any conditions, although I guess his terms are winner take all." Thus Pugilist Jack Munroe settled a report from the Coast that he was to marry Miss Jessie Downing of Watsonville, Cal.

OPEN-AIR HORSE SHOW OPENS.

Despite the cool breeze from Lake Michigan, society attended the opening performance of the fourth annual Lake Forest open-air horse show on the grounds of the Onwentsia Club today in large numbers. More than one thousand persons were present.

LABOR THUGS' FAILURE.

Labor agitators and bosses tried to give "Black Jack" Gallagher, the alleged assailant of Attorney A. C. Allen, his freedom today and failed. As a result of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to gain the prisoner's release, Gallagher was placed in the County Jail and this effort failing, a sensational attempt of union leaders to rescue Gallagher from the police, who were taking him from Judge Dunne's courtroom, led to the arrest of Frank Touman, "business agent" of the Architectural Iron Workers' Union.

CONVICTS' JOBS GONE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JOLIET (Ill.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One thousand convicts in the Illinois State Penitentiary here who have been engaged in manufacturing goods under contract will tomorrow remain locked in their cells, their jobs gone because of the act of the Legislature prohibiting contract work after July 1.

UNIVERSITY CIRCLES TRAGEDY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While driving with his family this afternoon, Prof. Donald C. Jackson of Wisconsin University fainted and the team ran away. Prof. Jackson's aged mother was killed and the five others in the party more or less seriously injured.

CLEVELAND MARRIAGE TRUST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON.

NEW CHIEF OF THE NAVY.

Morton Takes the Oath and Begins His Labors.

Moody Sworn Into Office as Attorney-General.

Metcalf Becomes Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Paul Morton was today sworn in as Secretary of the Navy, and W. H. Moody, the retiring Secretary, took the oath as Attorney-General.

Mr. Morton was accompanied by Mr. Moody to the Navy Department, where, in the presence of the retiring Secretary and Assistant Secretary Darling, the oath was administered by Solicitor Hanna of the Judge-Advocate-General's office. In congratulating Mr. Morton, Mr. Moody said to him that in his contact with the officers of the United States navy he would meet some of the best men in the world. Mr. Darling extended his congratulations and good wishes, after which an informal reception was held in the big room adjoining the Secretary's office. The naval officers on duty there, headed by Rear-Admiral Taylor, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, were presented to Mr. Morton, each in turn being introduced by Mr. Moody. The chief civilian officers of the department then were presented to the new Secretary, after which Mr. Morton at once took up his new work, finding a batch of mail awaiting him. Later he accompanied Mr. Moody to the Cabinet meeting.

Mr. Moody was sworn into office as Attorney-General a short time before Mr. Morton became Secretary of the Navy. The oath of office, which was administered by Mr. Graves, the appointment clerk of the Department of Justice, was taken in the presence of Mr. Knox and the officials of the department.

METCALF SWORN IN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Victor B. Metcalf, former Representative from California, was today sworn in as Secretary of Commerce and Labor, to succeed George B. Cortelyou, who resigned to become chairman of the Republican National Committee. The ceremony occurred at the White House at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, the oath being administered by Executive Clerk Latta. The President, Secretary Cortelyou and Secretary to the President Loeb were present.

REAR ADMIRAL STEWART.

HIS GRAVE NEGLECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By the action of Secretary Moody, the body of Rear Admiral Charles Stewart, one of the most gallant naval commanders in the War of 1812, will be given a final resting-place suitable to the memory of the valiant officer. The Secretary was recently told that the grave of Rear-Admiral Stewart in Donaldson Cemetery, Philadelphia, was neglected. Its location was known to few, and it was in danger of being entirely forgotten. The lot is the property of a Philadelphian, formerly an undertaker. Secretary Moody directed the Bureau of Navigation to ascertain if this really is the grave of Rear-Admiral Stewart. If it is, the Bureau will make recommendation for the removal of the body to the naval cemetery in Annapolis, or to Arlington.

Rear Admiral Stewart was born in Philadelphia in 1778. He served in the war against Tripoli, and in the year of 1812 he took the American frigate Constitution out of Newport, passing the British fleet off that port. As commander of the Constitution, he captured the British ships Cyane and Levant. He retired as senior commodore in 1861, when 78 years old, in 1856, he was promoted to be rear-admiral and was retired list in 1862. He died in Germantown, N. J., after having been an officer of the navy for seventy-seven years and having served for seventy-one years. The torpedo boat destroyer Stewart is named in his honor.

BISCOE COURTMARTIAL.

WILL NOT BE REOPENED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The President has disposed of a long-pending troublesome courtmartial by refusing to reopen the case of Paymaster Frank E. Biscoe, United States navy, who had applied to the Secretary of the navy to reopen it, on the ground that Paymaster Evans, who ordered the court-martial in his case and reviewed the proceedings and sentence was personally prejudiced.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Report on Negroes.

The WASHINGTON, July 1.—The census bureau today issued the final bulletin on the negro population. The number of negroes in the United States, including the entire area covered by the recent census (continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Porto Rico) is 9,204,531, perhaps a larger number than is found in any other country on the face of Africa.

General Bingham Promoted.

The WASHINGTON, July 1.—The President today directed the appointment of Theodore A. Bingham as a brigadier general. The appointment is to take effect July 6, when Gen. Bingham will retire.

Indian Agent Smead.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The President today removed William H. Smead, agent in charge of the Flathead Indian Agency in Montana, and appointed Capt. Samuel Bellew of Helena, Mont., as his successor. Smead had been in the service seven years and the removal is because of certain administrative irregularities.

The Cuban Treaty.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Secretary Hay and Minister Quesada today exchanged ratifications of the permanent treaty between America and Cuba, embodying the Platt amendment.

POLITICAL.

Delegates instructed for Hearst say that he will not be able to control all his forces in case of a break, and the claim is made that many of them will go to Parker. Indeed, the friends of Judge Parker assert that the Cleveland talk which is now so plentiful will have the inevitable effect of aiding their candidate. The Parker men do not accept the theory that McLean and Gorman are sincere in their support of Cleveland, calling attention to past antagonism in support of their theory.

The seating of State delegations to the National Democratic Convention has been determined by Sergeant-at-Arms Martin, but announcement of the locations will not be made for several days. The drawings were made to prevent the possibility of misunderstanding when the different delegations reach the city. The system used in determining the seating of the different States consisted of cards bearing the names of the States. All of these were placed in a box, and were drawn by two small boys. As the cards were drawn they were numbered consecutively. The first State drawn will receive the assignment of seats nearest the platform to the right, while the State drawing the second will receive the space nearest the platform to the left, and so on until all the delegations are provided for.

TALK WITH J. K. JONES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Former Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, arrived in the city today and took apartments at the Jefferson Hotel. He said that no definite arrangements for the organization of the convention had yet been made, and predicted that none would be made until the meeting of the full National Committee, which will take place next Monday. However, he advocates the selection of John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, leader of the minority in the House, for the position of temporary chairman, and there is little or no doubt that the selection will fall upon Williams.

The permanent chairmanship will probably go to some northern delegate, and Thomas E. Barkworth of Michigan and Patrick A. Collins are mentioned in that connection. The Committee on Arrangements for the Convention will hold a meeting tomorrow, but it is not expected that it will make any recommendation with regard to convention officers.

The National Committee will also take up and dispose of the contests on the part of the rival delegates. The most prominent of these is the Illinois case, and Delegate Hopkins, who holds credentials as delegate-at-large, has been in the city all day, busily occupied in presenting his claims.

Longer in advance than usual, the platform question is receiving the serious consideration of delegates and others interested in the party's welfare, and it is already evident that there will be a persistent effort to secure an expression of party views which will meet the approval of all factions.

"We must get a pronouncement which will meet the demands of all Democrats," said Representative Clayton of Alabama, "and I believe it is going to be a comparatively easy matter to accomplish that result."

Other party leaders on the ground express themselves in like optimistic manner. But when they entered upon a comparison of views, it became evident that there are differences which will have to be smoothed down before the desired result can be secured.

Evidently the principal contention will be over the point as to whether there shall be a specific declaration favorable to affirmation of the principles enunciated in the platform of 1896 and 1900. There is today some strenuous contention as to whether there shall be any reference to those two declarations, and there are many shades of views as to how the subject should be covered.

Delegates who are close to Bryan want a reaffirmation in terms, but some of them are content to say that, while making the reassertion, they consider other and newer questions of leading importance, and are willing on that account to give more prominence to them. Others take the position that it would be invidious to mention the Chicago and Kansas City utterances, and urge that it will be sufficient to reaffirm the principles enunciated by all previous Democratic conventions and then pass to the consideration of newer questions. A third class would have all references to recent party declarations entirely omitted.

Some express the opinion that the preparation of the platform will be left almost entirely to Senator Gorman and Representative Williams, the Democratic leaders in the two houses of Congress. It is generally believed that the character of the platform will have a marked influence upon the Presidential nomination, and as only a majority vote is required for its adoption, its exact wording will be awaited with much interest.

DRIVING THEM TO PARKER.

THAT CLEVELAND "BOOM."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Practically the only feature of political interest associated with the approaching Democratic convention discussed in the hotel corridors today was the possibility of an attempt to stampede the convention to ex-President Cleveland. There was a decided effort on the part of some of the friends of other candidates to pooh-pooh the suggestion, but others of them, while expressing their confidence that it would come to naught, frankly admitted the existence of the "boom," and set themselves to work to counteract its effect.

The movement in the interest of Cleveland, so far as it took shape today, was directed against the candidacy of Judge Parker, and for the time being they were talked of as if they were the only possible candidates. No headquarters have been established in Cleveland's interest and no delegates who express a preference for him have arrived, but each train coming in from the States east of the Mississippi River seemed to bring passengers who regarded the ex-President as a formidable possibility. These circumstances lead to the conclusion that a systematic campaign had been organized in New York or Washington.

The friends of Judge Parker met the system boldly, and apparently were welcoming it. They freely expressed the opinion that the serious discussion of Cleveland's name in connection with the Presidency will have the effect of driving many delegates to their candidate, thus insuring a larger vote for him on the early ballot than they had otherwise counted on. They expect many such gains from the West and South, and notwithstanding he has only about a fourth of the total vote pledged, hope to make such a showing at the very beginning of the balloting as will convince his followers that he is a winner, and thus prevent a stampede to Cleveland or anyone else.

Some of the talk in Cleveland's behalf comes from the Southern States and the Parker advocates attribute it to the declarations of the Chicago platform on the race question which they say have inspired such fear among southern Democrats, and they are willing to accept Cleveland because of their confidence that he would stand with them on that point, regardless of his views on other questions.

The Parker men say, however, that Cleveland is no stauncher supporter of the policy of the rule of the white man in the South than other candidates, and they also argue that his chances of election are no better than those of other candidates. It is quite freely admitted, however, that if Judge Parker should fail early to secure the necessary vote his chances would be materially injured.

"If," said a prominent Senator, "he fails to get the two-thirds vote required, by the time the third or fourth ballot is reached, he will be compelled to retire. In that event," he added, "the nomination will go to a dark horse, and a very dark horse."

Among the "dark horses," most frequently spoken off are Senator Gorman and Mr. Folk. Folk is unknown by sight to a majority of the visitors, and as a consequence when he strolled through the hotel today he was unrecognized by the politicians. When, however, he was introduced by newspaper men, he was cordially greeted. In response to all suggestions connecting his name with the national ticket, he merely replied that his ambition was to be elected Governor of Missouri. But friends contend that, if nominated, he would accept.

An intimate friend of Senator Gorman, who arrived today set at rest the report that he is in the movement to promote Cleveland's candidacy.

"I know that Gorman is bitterly opposed to Cleveland," he said, "and he told me not more than two days ago that he would support Parker if necessary, to defeat Cleveland."

One noticeable fact, connected with the early arrivals is their desire to keep out of print. Most of them are willing to talk freely, but with rare exceptions they decline to permit themselves to be quoted.

A number of Hearst supporters held a conference tonight, which did not conclude until nearly midnight. They went over the situation thoroughly, and after the meeting it was stated that the outlook had been found very encouraging. Reports concerning the attitude of all the State delegations were received, and it was stated that there are enough votes of which Hearst is sure to prevent the nomination of any other candidate. Perry Belmont of the New York delegation arrived in the city tonight and took apartments at the Jefferson.

BRYAN'S "HOLLER" HIS CAPITAL.

OPPOSES TO MAKE PAPER PAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In an article published over his own signature, Dr. George L. Miller, a widely-known Democrat, and for twenty-five years editor of the Omaha Herald, charges William J. Bryan with attempting, through the construction of the platform, to make Democratic success impossible.

"Democratic success," says Miller, "is the last thing that Bryan's hundred-thousand-dollar-a-year Commoner can afford. It would mean early death to both Bryan and the Commoner."

MINNESOTA REPUBLICANS.

CHEERING IN CONVENTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) July 1.—The State Republican Convention was in session less than fifteen minutes this forenoon, when it took a recess until this afternoon, when the Credentials Committee will be ready to report.

When the convention reassembled this afternoon, the Credentials Committee, not being ready to report, the Resolutions Committee presented the platform. The first mention of the President's name brought forth a tremendous ovation, which was duplicated when the plank indorsing Gov. Van Sant's action in fighting the so-called railroad merger was read.

The indorsement of Senator Clapp for reelection brought out the greatest demonstration that has yet occurred in the convention. The report was unanimously adopted.

The platform, after reaffirming the national platform and commending the administrations of McKinley and Roosevelt, has to say on national issues:

"We believe that the large corporations commonly called 'trusts' should be regulated by law and supervised both in their organization and operation; that their tendencies may be checked and their evil practices prevented, and insist that they shall be so regulated and controlled as to prevent monopoly and promote competition, and in the fullest measure subserve and advance the public good.

"We believe in the doctrine of protection to American industry, as set forth in the national republican platform of 1904, and we believe in reciprocity as defined and advocated by William McKinley and James G. Blaine.

"The veterans of the Union armies deserve and should receive the best treatment and generous recognition, and they should be given the preference in the matter of employment, and they are entitled to the enactment of such laws as are best calculated to secure the fulfillment of the pledges made to them in the dark days of the country's peril.

"We urge legislation that will expedite the construction of the isthmian canal, in order that our commerce may be extended in peace and our country protected in time of war, and that our ships may come in competition with our railroads.

"We approve the enactment by Congress of legislation which will debar Chinese from gaining admission to this country to the injury of American labor, and we demand the enforcement of immigration laws which shall exclude all unworthy and undesirable emigrants whose presence menaces our citizenship or injures our wage workers.

"We demand equal taxation for all classes of our citizens. We advocate the extension of the postal rural free-delivery service, wherever its extension may be justified."

The platform commends the action of the President, of Gov. Van Sant, in "espousing the cause of the people against the railroad merger and trusts."

It indorses Senators Nelson and Clapp to succeed themselves, favors good roads, solicits a better understanding between capital and labor, and favors the use of the union label on State supplies wherever practicable.

Pending the report of the Credentials Committee, the convention took a temporary recess. There will be two reports, and they will precipitate the first test of strength between the two leading candidates for Governor. The majority report will favor seating the Collins delegates, and the minority the Dunn contestants.

THE STATE TICKET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PAUL, July 1.—The Republican State Convention tonight nominated the following State ticket:

Governor—ROBERT C. DUNN of Mille Lacs.

Lieutenant-Governor—R. W. JONES.

Secretary of State—F. E. HANSON.

State Treasurer—J. C. BLOCK.

Justices of the Supreme Court:

CALVIN L. BROWN.

CHARLES L. LEWIS.

C. B. ELLIOTT.

EDWARD A. JAGGARD.

Senator Moses E. Clapp, who presided, brought about the harmony by insisting that the contests be fought out in the Committee on Credentials. While contests were not settled by the committee, all talk of bolting was done away with, so that when a minority report was adopted unseating 113 delegates favorable to Justice Collins for Governor, the unseated delegates left the hall, pledging their support to whichever ticket might be named.

After the unseating was completed, it became evident that Dunn had a large majority. Congressman Eddy withdrew from the race, and the name of Collins was not presented. Dunn's nomination was not made by acclamation.

As the convention indorsed Senator Clapp for reelection, it seems probable that no one will seriously contest his return to the Senate.

HE'D DROP THE PLATTER.

CLEVELAND AGAINST SILVER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two prominent Princetonians, one a professor in the university and the other a trustee of the same, and both very close personal friends of ex-President Cleveland, called to bid him goodby the other evening. Cleveland was about to leave for New England for the summer.

"Will you take the Presidential nomination if it comes to you?" inquired one of his friends.

"I do not want it," was the reply, "and I can conceive of no such thing occurring.

"But suppose," remarked the other friend, "that the convention nominated you, then nominated a candidate for Vice-President, adopted a platform and adjourned. Then suppose the nomination was handed you on a silver platter. What would you do?"

"I would not accept the silver platter," replied the ex-President with a very perceptible smile.

NEW YORK CAMPAIGN OPENS.

REPUBLICANS ENTHUSIASTIC.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 1.—At a mass-meeting in Cooper Union, the Republican Club has formally opened the local campaign. The meeting was called to ratify the ticket nominated at Chicago.

Former Senator Thurston of Nebraska made the principal speech. He reviewed the Republican administrations of the last eight years in all the various departments of government, and summed up their achievements by declaring that the American people, in looking over the history of these years, must admit that the party has done tolerably well.

Demonstrations of approval occurred several times during the ex-Senator's speech. An allusion to the Perdicaris incident was loudly cheered.

JOSEPH RYAN DEAD.

NEVADA CHAIRMAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Joseph Ryan national committeeman from Nevada and head of the Nevada delegation to the Democratic National Convention, died today at the Jefferson Hotel of pneumonia.

Ryan and his wife came to St. Louis direct from their home at Virginia City, Nev., Monday. It was their intention to spend several days viewing the fair before the opening of the convention. Ryan, however, contracted a cold en route, and when he reached St. Louis was quite ill. He never left his rooms at the hotel. His physicians pronounced his case pneumonia, but a serious result was not anticipated.

During the night, however, Ryan grew worse, and it became evident that he could not recover. Mrs. Ryan remained by his bedside all night. With her was Mrs. William Sharon, wife of a member of the Nevada delegation.

PISTOL PERSUASION.

Mrs. Carrie A. Ward of Los Angeles Alleges that Her Husband Used Force to Get Her Farm.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MATTOON (Ill.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To recover a farm valued at $12,000, which she alleged her husband extorted from her at the point of a pistol, Mrs. Carrie A. Ward of Los Angeles today filed a suit in chancery against George B. Ward of Philadelphia, a broomcorn broker, from whom she secured a divorce three weeks ago in California. An injunction has been granted by Master in Chancery Walker of Tuscola, restraining Ward and his mother, Mrs. Lydia Ward, to whom the property was deeded from disposing of it or in any way encumbering it, pending trial of the suit.

Mrs. Ward, a handsome young woman, is the daughter of the late Mayor L. B. Chambers of Arcola, who left an estate valued at $100,000. In her bill she relates that she stopped in Chicago and her husband, with a pistol, compelled her to leave her apartment at the Grand Pacific Hotel and accompany him to one at the Great Northern Hotel. There, she declares, he kept her a prisoner three days until she signed the deed conveying to his mother the farm which she had purchased with money from her father's estate.

BLAMES THE PRESS.

Al Hulse, Bakersfield Murderer, Sentenced to Pass His Life in Prison at Folsom.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Al Hulse, who was recently convicted of murder in the second degree for being implicated in the battle with the outlaw, Jim McKinney, and as the slayer of Officer Will Tibbet, was sentenced today by Judge Mahon to life imprisonment in Folsom.

There was a dramatic scene in court when sentence was passed. Hulse stoutly declared his innocence and laid the blame for his conviction to the newspapers and the Sheriff's office. The case will be appealed.

OAKLAND PASTOR MISSING.

OAKLAND, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of Plymouth Avenue Congregational Church are wondering what has become of their pastor, Rev. Charles W. Hoag, who a fortnight ago was granted a vacation, and supposedly left for Santa Cruz Mountains for a rest, as he was in poor health. His wife knew nothing of the vacation trip, and does not know now where he is.

Suit for divorce was filed today by William Nelson Benedict against Hilda Clavenger Benedict. The Benedicts live only a short distance from the Plymouth-avenue church. Mrs. Benedict, who is young and pretty, has for more than a year sang in the choir of Plymouth Avenue Congregational church. Mrs. Benedict is not to be seen about Oakland, and gossips are connecting her going with that of Pastor Hoag. When she left Oakland, Mrs. Benedict was supposed to be going to her mother's home in Orland.

FRENCH EMBASSY AT VATICAN.

PARIS, July 1.—The Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies today voted for the suppression of the appropriation for the French embassy at the Vatican and passed a resolution, which will be incorporated in the committee report to the chamber, censuring Premier Combes for his refusal to express the views of the government upon the subject.

LABOR.

DISSENTING OPINION FILED.

Justice Steele of Colorado in Moyer Habeas Corpus.

Suspension of Writ by Governor is Criticised.

Moyer et al Held on Charges of Murder and Riot.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) July 1.—Justice Robert W. Steele of the Colorado State Supreme Court today filed his opinion dissenting from the decision of the majority in refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, when he was held as a military prisoner at Telluride by order of Gov. Peabody. The opinion, containing nearly 13,000 words, deals exhaustively with the situation created in this State by military rule, and cites a mass of authorities to show that only the Legislature can suspend the writ of habeas corpus. Justice Steele says, in part:

"No person who has the slightest claim to respectability should hesitate to approve the action of the Governor in enforcing the law, and I am willing to uphold him and to applaud him so long as he keeps within the lines of the Constitution, but I am not willing to uphold him, when, in my opinion, he breaks down the barriers erected by the people for their protection, nor am I willing to accord to the Constitution elastic properties for the purpose of sustaining him, nor to join in the establishment of a precedent which will not apply to other classes or other conditions when another Governor undertakes to exercise the same arbitrary power.

"I am not willing to concede the power claimed by the Governor and exercised by him, because, in my opinion, such power is not vested in him by the Constitution. The people could never have intended to erect such an engine of oppression.

"It follows, of course, that if the present executive is the sole judge of the conditions which can call into action the military power of the government, and can exercise all means necessary to effectually abate the conditions and the judicial department cannot inquire into the legality of his acts, that the next Governor may by his ukase exercise the same arbitrary power. If the military authority may deport the miners this year, it can deport the farmers next year.

"If a strike, which is not a rebellion, must be so regarded, because the Governor says it is, then a condition must be regarded as a rebellion which the Governor declares to be such, and if any condition must be regarded as a rebellion because the Governor says so, that any country in the State may be declared to be in rebellion whether rebellion exists or not, and every citizen subjected to arbitrary arrest and detention at the will and pleasure of the head of the executive department. We may, then, with each succeeding change in the executive branch of the government, have class arrayed against class, and interest against interest; and we shall depend for our liberty, not upon the Constitution, but upon the grace and favor of the Governor and his military subordinates.

IMPORTANT PRINCIPLES.

"In no other case presented to this court have principles so important and far-reaching been involved. It was elaborately and ably argued, and the position of counsel was clearly defined; yet the court has evaded the fundamental questions presented and has based its decision upon theories long ago determined by jurists and statesmen to be illogical and false. On the part of the petitioner it was urged that he was illegally restrained of his liberty, that a court of competent jurisdiction had ordered him released on habeas corpus, and that the military authorities had refused to release him, and had refused to permit the civil authorities to prove process upon them.

"On behalf of the military officers it was said that they had been ordered by the Governor not to release upon writ of habeas corpus, and on behalf of the Governor it was contended that he had declared the county of San Miguel to be in a state of insurrection and rebellion, and that under such conditions he had authority to enforce martial law and suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus.

"As these propositions strike at the very foundation of our government; as the court has evaded a consideration of them, and as I believe they present the only questions in the case, I shall discuss them and ignore for the present a consideration of the opinion, with the observation that it establishes a precedent that is so repugnant to my notions of civil liberty, so antagonistic to my ideas of a republican form of government, and so shocking to my sense of propriety and justice, that I cannot properly characterize it."

"It is so clear that the power to suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus is not lodged in the executive branch of the government that it seems like a waste of time to discuss the question. If there is any one question positively and finally settled, it is that the power to suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus is solely a legislative power."

In commenting on the decision of the court (Justices Gabbot and Campbell) Justice Steele says in the course of his opinion:

"I believe that the Constitution has been unnecessarily assailed and rudely violated by the head of the executive department, and I further believe this court has removed the landmarks which our fathers have set, and my duty requires me to withhold my approval.

"It is entirely probable that the act of the Governor in calling to his aid the military arm of the government cannot be questioned, but when it comes to superseding the civil power and exercising martial law, to disobeying the writ of habeas corpus or other process of the court, to detaining a citizen upon suspicion, then the question of whether an insurrection exists is not to be determined by the Governor's proclamation.

"The court has not construed the Constitution; it has ignored it; and the result is that it has made greater inroads on the Constitution than it intended, and that not one of the guarantees of personal liberty can now be enforced.

"When the court says that because the Governor is the head of the executive department of the State, that when he takes command of the military forces he is still at the head of the civil power, and the section of the Bill of Rights which declares 'That the military shall always be in strict subordination to the civil power,' has no other meaning than that the military shall always be under the command of the Governor, it is simply annulling that section of the bill of rights.

"Moyer may be guilty of the most heinous offenses. It may be that he deserves to linger in prison the remainder of his natural life, but he is entitled to his liberty unless someone in proper form and before a proper tribunal, charges him with violation of the law.

"If one may be restrained of his liberty without a charge being preferred against him, every other guarantee of the Constitution may be denied him."

WITH MURDER AND RIOT.

CHARGES FOUND AGAINST MOYER

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) July 1.—A special to the News from Cripple Creek says:

"As the result of the finding of the Coroner's jury which investigated the death of Roscoe McGee and John Davis, who came to their deaths during the riots in Victor on the afternoon of June 6, President Charles H. Moyer and W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, together with some thirty other men, are charged with murder and inciting riot. Judge Lewis Cunningham, sitting in the District Court, has fixed the bonds of Moyer and Haywood at $10,000 each. The bonds of the others will be fixed at a special session of the court later. The verdict accuses William Boyle of killing John Davis, and Andrew Bilbat of killing Roscoe McGee."

The jury found that on the day of the riot an armed body of men, about ninety members of the Western Federation of Miners, assembled at Victor pursuant to prearranged plans, from different parts of the county, and that they were appointed special policemen by Marshal O'Connell, but that they were in fact an unlawful assemblage or mob.

Before the riot O'Connell was removed from office by the Mayor and his deputies, and was ordered by the Sheriff to disperse. Notwithstanding this order about fifty of the mob started a riot, when Alfred Miller, one of their number, attempted to kill C. C. Hamlin, and during the shooting McGee and Davis were killed and others wounded.

Marshal O'Connell is charged with shooting J. J. Horner in the back during the riot. The verdict says:

"The officers of the Western Federation of Miners are primarily responsible for the crimes committed because of their seditious and unlawful language. Among those who encouraged the crimes are Charles H. Moyer, W. D. Haywood, John C. Williams and the members of the executive board as thus constituted."

After the verdict was read information was filed against the Western Federation officials and the Executive Committee. Capiases for their arrest were placed in the hands of the Sheriff. Bonds in the case of the members of the Executive Committee were placed at $5000. The cases will be heard at the September term of court.

MINE SUPERINTENDENT BEATEN

FIENDISH CRIME IN COLORADO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) July 1.—T. D. Mitchell, superintendent of the Francisco and La Belle coal mines, owned by the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company at Jerryville, three and one-half miles west of Trinidad, was today beaten over the head and cut with a knife by two men at Jerryville.

His unconscious form was placed on the electric railroad, and would have been killed by the incoming car had he not regained consciousness and crawled from the track before the car arrived. He says he would be able to recognize his assailants should they be captured.

Chandler Acquitted of Charges.

CENTRAL CITY (Colo.) July 1.—J. E. Chandler, former financial secretary of the Idaho Springs Miners' Union, a branch of the Western Federation of Miners, was today acquitted by a jury of the charge of arson and malicious mischief in connection with the dynamiting of the transformer house at the Sunand Moon mine in July, 1903.

Claim Non-union Men Are Assessed.

OURAY, (Colo.) July 1.—Most of the 229 men thrown out of work by the shut-down of the Smuggler-Union mines at Telluride departed from San Juan county today. One of the departing men claimed that the non-union men were assessed a dollar a month by the mine managers for the maintenance of the guards who were protecting them and that a vigorous protest had been made against the assessment.

Southern Miners Suspend Work.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) July 1.—Seven thousand five hundred union miners in the employ of the various furnace corporations in this district suspended work today pending the adoption of the wage scale.

FATALLY INJURED.

Prominent Minneapolis People Suffer from Explosion of Gasoline Launch on Tonka Bay.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MINNEAPOLIS, July 1.—Three prominent society and clubmen of Minneapolis received probably fatal injuries and five other persons were seriously injured in an explosion of a gasoline launch, the Eleanor, at Tonka Bay, Lake Minnetonka, today.

The injured:

[illegible]WELLYN CHRISTIAN, probably fatally.

GEORGE UPTON, probably fatally.

HARRY MERRIMAN, badly burned.

MRS. W. P. DEVEREAUX, leg broken and burned.

MRS. HARRY MERRIMAN, badly burned.

HARRY MERRIMAN, JR., slightly burned.

PRUDENCE MERRIMAN, slightly burned.

Christian was entertaining a party of six grown persons and two children and his boat was headed for the bay when the explosion occurred. It was caused by a leak in the gasoline tank and the boat was wrecked. It is due only to the fact that a number of sailboats and rowboats were in the bay that the party escaped death.

REAR-END COLLISION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) July 1.—In a rear-end collision between local and limited trains on the Jackson and Battle Creek Traction Railway today three men were seriously injured and a score of persons were badly shaken up and bruised.

A. L. Spitzer of Toledo, O., vice-president of the road, had both legs broken and was injured internally. Motorman G. I. Kelly, both legs broken; injured internally. E. E. Wilson, a clerk at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, legs broken.

Among the score of passengers, who, though slightly injured, were able to resume their journey, were Alexander Abray of Highland, Cal., and Wert McLane of Stockton, Cal.

Talking About Diamonds

Our sales of diamonds for the month of June have been more than satisfactory. We attribute it to our low prices.

Many reasons have been advanced for the continued rise in diamonds. We don't care what the reasons are but we do know that diamonds are going up.

We anticipated this fact long ago. We haven't bought diamonds for some time.

All over the country, from Maine to California, dealers are marking up their diamond stock

WE HAVE NOT

We are satisfied to turn $75,000 worth of diamonds into cash at the old prices.

DYNAMITE ONLY CHECK.

Disastrous Fire Sweeps Away Block After Block at Jefferson, Texas.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JEFFERSON (Tex.) July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A disastrous fire swept over the business district of the city tonight, inflicting damage estimated at half a million dollars. The flames were finally checked by the use of dynamite.

The fire started in the plant of the Torrans Manufacturing Company, and entirely burned that block. The flames spread to an adjoining building, and burned nearly all of that. The fire then attacked the Apheard Block, and after most of this block had been destroyed the firemen, being unable to check the spread of the flames, resorted to the use of dynamite. Several buildings were blown up, and the fire checked. At 11 o'clock the flames were under control.

The confusion borders on panic, and nothing like connected detail losses can be procured tonight. The estimates run to half a million dollars, and may exceed that sum.

POPE DEALS WITH FRANCE.

ROME, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite the opposition of Cardinal Merry del Val, papal Secretary of State, the Pope decided today to act personally in the dispute between the Vatican and France. His Holiness will send an autograph letter to President Loubet, and he may even go so far as to send a similar letter to Premier Combes, if such a step is necessary, to avoid renunciation of the concordat between France and the Vatican and the suppression of the French Embassy at the Vatican.

Semi-Annual $10 Suit Sale

Stylish Suits for Men and Young Men--Values up to $20.00.

Our Semi-Annual $10.00 Suit Sale is the biggest clothing sale of the year held by this, or any other store on the Pacific Coast. Our last $10.00 Suit Sale of six months ago moved more clothing than was ever cleaned out of any California store in so short a space of time. This event is broader in scope than any previous sale, not a happening but a well timed and perfectly planned mercantile achievement that places before the purchasing public the very cream of the largest and best selected stock of clothing in Southern California. In addition to our regular lines are hundreds of high class suits purchased by our clothing buyer on his recent eastern trip especially for this sale. Suits that had they come to us through the regular channels would have to be retailed as high as $20.00. The styles are of the most desirable; tailoring the best imaginable; cloths of the highest grade domestic and foreign manufacture. The maker's lines represented are from the leaders of the tailoring world, such houses as B. Kuppenheimer & Co., W. L. Peck & Co., Kohn Bros. & Co., and half a score more equally famous.

There is nothing reserved, the bars are let down and a free and unrestricted choice from our mammoth clothing stock is offered. In the past economical men have found it a paying investment to lay in a year's supply of clothing from our $10.00 Suit Sale, and you can profit by their experience and buy several suits now. There are single and double breasted sack suits in colors and blacks made from high grade all wool fancy cassimeres, cheviots, homespuns, tweeds, etc., as well as black clay worsteds and blue serges; three piece styles for semi-dress and business wear as well as two piece outing suits for vacation wear and for the hot summer days in town; also black cutaway frock suits, Prince Alberts and tuxedo coats and vests.

DIPLOMAS TO GREAT CLASS.

Successful Commencement of City High School.

Address by the President of Stanford University.

Handsome Audience Crowds the Big Pavilion.

If there is a really big "affair" to come off in Los Angeles, Hazard's Pavilion is chosen as the "coming-off place," because it has the largest seating capacity of any auditorium in the city. So when it is said that an event packed the pavilion to the doors—as it did the thirty-third annual commencement of the Los Angeles High School last night—it expresses appreciation in the fullest term.

The handsomer audience that was packed by the friends of the High School last night is seldom seen in any big building, and a lovlier stage setting—176 bright young graduates, the girls predominating—never been composed within those walls. The magnificent floral array, made up of tasteful bouquets contributed by the lives and admirers of individual graduates, held the eye entranced. The beautiful tokens were piled in pyramids from the floor to far above the level of the stage on either side, and were banked across the entire front of the long platform, awaiting the delivery sight of the distribution that marked the entertainment.

Despite the size of the crowd, everything moved in a well-oiled fashion. A detail of police added a brass-buttoned dignity to the approach to the entrances, and a fully-manned chemical engine from the Fire Department was stationed in front of the building throughout the evening. The ushers were High School boys, coatless, wearing orange-hued shirt waists, black trousers and black and orange bows of ribbon at the belt.

The following a selection by the High School Orchestra, the speaker of the evening, President David Starr Jordan of Stanford University, was introduced by Vice Principal Henry.

Dr. Jordan addressed the graduates on "The Twentieth Century," and ably portrayed the demands and opportunities of the modern life.

DR. JORDAN'S ADDRESS.

"There are three traits that are going to characterise the twentieth century," he said. "Above all the centuries that have been, this one is going to be strenuous, complex, democratic. The greatest discovery of the nineteenth century was the reality of natural things—the fact that God knows what He was about when He made them; that the laws of nature are unchangeable and therefore easy to use.

"Science has made the world small. In former days it was so far to the other side of the earth that we did not believe there was really any other side, and people would have to stand on their heads. Now we are all parts of a great whole; and so on the other hand, we have made the world small.

"We have increased our acquaintance by millions. Every morning your front yard you find messages from the countries of the earth and everywhere that somebody else may have had something to say to you or any one else. All the world has been united in a sense, one great nation.

"You can no longer can drift with the current of life, after setting our course; you must face increasing emergencies each day, and steer our craft with precision and watchfulness on the crowded stream.

"The century is to be democratic. If a man is wanted for a certain work, it is no longer a question of who his father was or what degrees he has, or where he learned what he must know to fill the requirement, so long as he does it. America means opportunity—democracy means the opportunity to rise and to fall on their merit or lack of it. Democracy is equality at the start, but after the finish rests with the man. The lower a man begins in his life, on starting out in the world or her will probably rise, for it is not so dangerous for a young man to begin by getting a job that is not too big for him."

The speaker advised his hearers that in whatever they should choose the same earnest endeavor there would still be room to spare in that profession for the best—that every ladder is crowded at the bottom, but ever roomy at the top. It is just as easy to do things as small ones, he said, if you only know how. He declared that every man is the man who is to rule the nation in the twentieth century; that the century will demand men of learning, men of character, and loyal men; and advised against the saloon, the card table and empty amusements.

"Above all," he concluded, "your duty is so to live that the man you ought to be becomes a reality."

MUSIC AND DIPLOMAS.

Then followed a cornet solo, "Polka Brillante," by Harold Menardi, summer '04, who was recalled for an encore.

Lynn Darrow, winter '04, delivered an oration on the theme, "The Panama Canal, and its Influence on the Future of the United States."

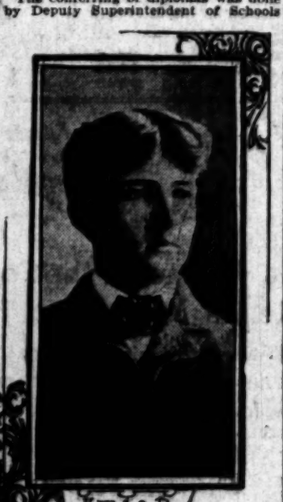
A vocal solo by August J. Martz, winter '04, a recitative and air from the opera, "Irene," resulted in a demand by the audience that he further exhibit his vocal talents. The accompanist was Agnes Barnwell.

An essay was spoken by Edith Walters, summer '04, entitled "The Glad Joy of Living and Working the While."

To the disappointment of the class and the audience Principal W. M. Housh was unable to be present, as the result of his recent prolonged illness, to make the presentation of the diplomas. This duty fell to Vice-Principal Henry, who briefly reviewed the work of the High School during the year. Much enthusiasm was occasioned by his announcement that $1500 has already been raised toward the erection of a High School gymnasium on property purchased by the Board of Education north of the school building, and that a sum more than equal to that already in hand has been pledged toward the completion of the gymnasium this summer.

The conferring of diplomas was done by Deputy Superintendent of Schools

Two Kentucky Sisters Graduating from the Los Angeles High School With Highest Honors.



J. B. Monlux, and after a selection by the orchestra the bouquets were distributed.

The High School Orchestra was under the leadership of A. J. Copp, Jr., of the High School faculty. This is the first orchestra of the school that was ever called upon to take such a prominent part as has been its lot during the celebrations of graduation week, and many appreciations of its good work have been extended to its leader and manager, Mr. Copp, who conveived the idea of suppiantmg the professional musicians usually engaged with the native element of the school. The members of the orchestra are: First violin, A. J. Copp Jr., Sue Hunter, David Blumberg; second violin, Oscar Raeder, Jack Beman; clarinet, Pearl Merrill; first cornet, Harry Pingree; second, Leonard Kingsbaker; flute, Helen Meade; piano, Miss Starr.

BIG EXCURSION.

Dr. J. E. Cowles, who resides at the corner of Adams and Hoover streets, returned yesterday from a visit to St. Louis. "My trip was the best in my history," he said to a Times reporter last night. "I went on the Santa Fé special to the biennial meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held in St. Louis May 15. There were twenty-two ladies on the train and only two men, J. S. Kanst being the other. On our way eastward we made a stop of two days at the Grand Cañon, where the ladies got their inspiration for the club meeting. At the exposition I was surprised to find that the California exhibit impressed me most. It was about the whole show while we were there, and I was very disappointed in the tardiness in the opening of many of the foreign, and especially the oriental exhibits." Dr. Cowles attended the meeting of the American Medical Association in Atlantic City.

WILL RECEIVE MANY MEMBERS.

Tomorrow will be a special day for the Boyle Heights Methodist Church. At the morning service the pastor will receive into the church thirty members and will administer the ordinance of baptism to several candidates. In the evening a patriotic service will be held, with a fine musical programme by a full orchestra and chorus choir. Dr. W. P. Ferguson will speak on "America as a World Power."

PHILIPPINE WEALTH.

Vast Mineral Riches in the Islands, but Not Yet Developed—The Archipelago.

Some interesting facts concerning the great mineral wealth of the Philippines are given in the Philippine Exposition folder issued by the World's Fair officials. On this subject the folder says:

"The mineral wealth of the Philippine Islands is very great, but as yet is in the preliminary stage of development. There are extensive lignite beds in Bataan, Cebu and Mindoro, and slight traces of petroleum are to be found in Cebu. Gold exists in paying quantities in Luzon and Mindanao, traces of the precious metal being found in most of the other islands. Iron is abundant, and there are copper prospects in the Benguet and Lepanto-Bontoc provinces that are being developed with every sign of becoming paying properties. For years the Igorrote has made his own jewelry from the auriferous deposits in the Benguet hills, and his brother, the Lepanto-Bontoc, has coined the big brass claguers that pass current with the Spanish 'dos centavos' throughout the island. It is hardly to be expected that the Philippines will have a Klondike boom, yet there is steady growth in the mining industries, stamp mills are now working in the gold districts, and three coal mines are supplying a part of the Manila market.

"A number of difficulties are in the way of the proper exploitation of the mining industries in the Philippines, the most serious one at present being the lack of adequate transportation.

"Under the American government there have been constructed more miles of good roads than during the entire Spanish regime, and the system is still progressing. This and the hope of favorable legislation, have kept the prospector and miner tied to the islands under the most adverse conditions.

"The gold exhibits are, with a few exceptions, low grade auriferous quartzes, very little placer mining being carried on in the islands. The specimens from Benguet and Lepanto-Bontoc are especially interesting, as shown with them are the crude bateas, or wooden pans, used by the natives for separating the placer gold from sand and gravel. Most of these are immense in size and one is shown with the concentrates fixed just as the batea was found by the collector in the hands of the native.

"There are three samples of manganese ore from three different localities of the islands. They were unrecognized until received at St. Louis, and seem to have been included by accident. Systematic prospecting will undoubtedly reveal this important ore in large quantities.

"All of the different metals and minerals are comprehensively grouped and classified, enabling the interested visitor to obtain a clear and concise idea of the vast mineral wealth of the Philippine Islands.

"The Philippine Archipelago forms the most northern group of islands in the Malayan or Eastern Archipelago. It lies wholly within the tropics. The land surface extends between latitudes 21 deg. 10 min. and 4 deg. 40 min. N., 1150 statute miles; and east and west limits are longitude 116 deg. 40 min. and 126 deg. 34 min. E., making about 650 miles. The most northern land in the Philippines is Y'Ami Island of the Batanes group; the most southern is Balut Island, of the Sarangani Islands, south of Mindanao; the most western is Balabac Island, north of Borneo; and the most eastern is Sanco Point, on the east coast of Mindanao. The archipelago is bounded on the north and west by the China Sea, on the East by the Pacific Ocean, and on the south by the Sea of Celebes and the coastal waters of Borneo. It is 50 miles distant from foreign territory on the north (Formosa;) 31 miles from Balambangan, an island near Borneo, on the south; 510 miles from the Pelew group (German) on the east, and 515 miles from Cochin-China (French) on the west.

"The archipelago numbers about 1600 islands, most of them very small and having altogether 11,500 miles of coast line. Two of them, Mindanao and Luzon, are, however, classed among the larger islands of the world, and eleven islands, Luzon, Mindanao, Samar, Panay, Negros Palawan (Paragua,) Mindora, Leyte, Cebu, Masbate and Bohol are of primary geographical importance. The others are mainly dependent islands or islets along the coast of the large islands or subordinate archipelagoes like the Sulu Islands. The area of the total land surface is computed at 127,853 square miles, or a little larger than the New England States, New York and New Jersey together. Mindanao (45,559 square miles) and Luzon (43,075 square miles) comprise about seven-tenths of the total land surface, the area of the other leading islands being: Samar, 5198 square miles; Negros, 4839; Panay, 4752 square miles; Palawan, 4368; Mindoro, 4050; Leyte, 3872; Cebu, 1668; Bohol, 1400, and Masbate, 1200.

RELIEF MAP OF ISLANDS.

Along the Chinese and Philippine coasts, during certain seasons of the year, terrific storms, known as typhoons, sweep over the Pacific Ocean and the China Sea, leaving in their path wreck and disaster. In order to give advance warning of these terrible hurricanes there have been established for years past meteorological observatories, whose scientists send to the world at large advance reports of impending storms. The most prominent of these is the Manila Observatory, which for years has been under the direction of Father Algue, a Jesuit priest, who is now at the exposition in charge of the Manila Observatory exhibit. This exhibit, which is situated just to the left front of the Walled City, consists of a large building, a map in relief of the Philippine Islands, and two galvanized steel towers.

I have been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth, he did it without any pain to me.

It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment.

MILO M. POTTER,
Prop. Van Nuys Hotel and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth, I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain.

D. K. TRASK,
Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he filled and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown, which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain.

Free Excursion, Monday, July 4th

Half Acre Villa Lots Only $300.00

Hundreds of people will take advantage of this offer and enjoy a free excursion to Firth Boulevard Tract. Light refreshments will be served under the trees, and everyone will be assured of a thoroughly good time.

These beautiful Villa Lots are reached in 15 minutes on the Long Beach car line. An ideal location for business and professional men, or the wage earner who is anxious to have a pretty home of his own.

If this tract were to be bought today the lots would cost twice what I am offering them for. The soil is rich, water is piped to every lot for irrigating or domestic use—the boulevard and avenue are being oiled—and the quick growth of the city in this direction assures that the property will constantly and rapidly increase in value.

I can state positively that this is the greatest value in real estate that has been offered in Los Angeles in the past five years and everyone who sees the property will agree with me.

Terms part cash and only $10.00 per month. The Title Insurance and Trust Co. will issue unlimited certificates of title.

Combine business with pleasure and take advantage of the free excursion on the Fourth of July. Call at office today for free tickets and maps.

MARIN'S BODY CUT IN TWAIN.

DISEMBOWLED BY FALLING OF BIG BOWLDER.

Sickening Sight in the Chatsworth Quarry—Men Refuse to Return to Their Work on Account of the Depressing Effects of What They Saw.

The quarries at Chatsworth Park have claimed another human victim, and the manner of his death was horrible.

A Mexican laborer, Florentino Maria by name, was caught under a falling stone which weighed five tons or more. When the other workmen, who had scattered to avoid a similar fate, returned they found the man's head, shoulders and arms lying on one side of the stone and the lower portion of his body and his legs ten feet away.

Marin and several other workmen were under a ledge of rock drilling into the face of the cliff preparatory to blasting. Above them was a huge rock which jutted out from the face of the almost perpendicular wall. It looked dangerous to be working under such a huge stone, and Marin was sent around the hill to the top of the bluff to investigate. He examined the rock carefully and returning told his fellow-workmen that it was solidly imbedded and that it could not fall. They then returned to work. Several hours later the falling of small fragments caused them to again investigate and again they were reassured.

While six of the workmen were under the huge stone it suddenly fell, but all except Marin succeeded in getting out of the way. Marin was stooping over a drill hole and failed to heed the warning shout of his fellows. The huge mass struck him fairly in the middle of the back and cut his body in two.

The sight of his dismembered body so sickened the other workmen that they refused to return, and work in the quarry was suspended for the day. The stone being quarried there by the California Construction Company is used in the construction of the big breakwater at San Pedro Harbor. Marin, the victim of the accident, was aged about 30 and unmarried. Coroner Trout went to Chatsworth yesterday and held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict of accidental death.

CITIZENS OBJECT.

Protest to Street Superintendent Against Accepting Work on East Vernon Avenue.

Citizens of East Vernon avenue are indignant over the manner in which the contractors have completed their job on the improvement of that street from Central avenue to Alameda street. They visited Street Superintendent Werdin yesterday and entered a strong protest against his accepting the street.

This work included a stretch of a full mile on one of the most traveled thoroughfares of the southeastern part of the city, and the permanency of its improvement is a matter of interest to a much larger circle than simply the residents of the street. Those who are raising the objection to the work say that apparently the grading and graveling is satisfactory, but that the specifications have not been fulfilled as to the application of oil.

They claim that the street has only received one harrowing and one application of oil, whereas the specifications call for two of each; and the claim is made that instead of using sharp sand for the final covering the contractors used only the surface earth that had been shoveled from the sidewalks. The complainants also insist that the street should have been thoroughly rolled as the last work of the contractors.

It is said there have been numerous controversies between citizens and contractors as the work progressed, because of the alleged nonfulfillment of the specifications, but that the contractors went ahead in their own way and finished up the work last Monday, and now they want it accepted.

Supt. Werdin yesterday promised the complainants that he would visit the street and personally inspect the work before any action toward accepting it was taken. The Vernonites are thoroughly aroused over what they claim is a direct violation of the street work specifications, and they stated yesterday that they never would submit to the street being accepted under its present condition.

PASSING OF BERRY FIELDS

Growth of City to Southwest Cuts up Famous Berry Ranches and Reduces Acreage.

In years gone by the Vernon country was one of the most prolific berry producers in the vicinity of Los Angeles. There were acres of blackberries, raspberries, Loganberries and strawberries. In some cases small ranches were given over entirely to berry culture, and at this season of the year there were to be seen many picturesque groups of pickers.

But the making of town lots has proved a more profitable industry than berry raising, and this has gone on so extensively that the once famous Vernon berry fields have dwindled to small proportions.

In many instances lots that were covered with luxuriant berry bushes have been sold to non-residents, or in other cases, as the lots were on the market for residence places the berry bushes have received no care and they have died. It is estimated that in the city limits practically half of the berry grounds have reverted to fallow land.

There are still several extensive berry ranches outside the city limits and down in the vicinity of Florence; but the business has not proved as profitable the past two seasons as formerly, and there are few new tracts, while even in this territory several fields have been turned into other crops. There is a disposition to enter potato culture more extensively in the outlying territory of the Vernon district.

The Cable to Blame.

A New York woman in Paris saw a beautiful diamond diadem she was very anxious to buy. She got an option on it, the price being $18,000, and cabled to hubby in New York asking permission to make the purchase. Hubby immediately wrote out and sent this dispatch:

"No, price too high."

The cable company dropped the comma, and wifey was overjoyed to learn that no price was too high, so she bought a necklace at $25,000.—[New York Press.

KERCKHOFF COMES BACK.

A Los Angeles Capitalist's European Trip.

Tips Seen While Abroad for Our Home City.

Electric Development Here Gets New Move.

William G. Kerckhoff is back from a visit of nine months in Europe and is staying at present with his wife's father, Gerard Eschman at 1943 South Figueroa street. Mr. Kerckhoff said of his trip, last night:

"It was simply a prolonged vacation, I went over there to have a good time and take a rest.

"I was in St. Petersburg two months before the outbreak of the war between Russia and Japan, and at that time there was neither thought nor preparation for trouble. We were on the road to Egypt when the war started.

"No; I didn't see Perdicaris. We kept as far away from Morocco as possible for I didn't care to go into partnership with Fraissouli or have him collect duty on my person.

"I saw more autos on the streets of Paris than on those of New York and London put together. The speed restriction seemed to be about fifty miles an hour and yet there were practically no accidents. Most of the touring cars are built long and low, with the machinery in front, but beside these there are cabs, coupés, broughams, and hacks; in fact they make every kind of vehicle go automatically.

"The Slocum horror happened four days before we arrived in New York and as we came in by way of Sandy Hook I saw the scene of that awful catastrophe.

"I received the Los Angeles papers and kept pretty close track of affairs. I noted with sorrow that the destruction of our shade trees was going on in this city. It is to bad; it is a shame! Why it is a fact that the strictest law in Paris is that protecting shade trees. Every large city in Europe is trying to grow trees along their streets. I bitterly oppose the idea of cutting down those beautiful trees in Sixth street Park to make room for the public library. Put the library somewhere else, for the park is worth more to the city with the trees in it than with the library."

Mr. Kerckhoff took up his business as soon as he arrived and held a long consultation yesterday with the other members of the Pacific Light & Power Company of which he is president. He said the litigation over the canal system of the Kern River Company in Kern county is soon to be compromised, and the work will then be completed.

"The Los Angeles Railway Company," said he, "may buy all the power we get from the Kern River, but the deal has not been closed; otherwise, part of it will go to the lighting company."

FALL KILLS OLDS.

Scaffold Breaks Under His Leap and He Tumbles Nearly Sixty Feet to Death.

By the breaking of a plank on a scaffold William Olds, a carpenter's helper, was hurled to death yesterday morning.

Olds was at work on the new Belasco theater at No. 321 South Main street. He fell nearly sixty feet and landed on his head. He died almost immediately.

The accident occurred about 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Olds was at work near the extreme top of the building over the stage, when he attempted to leap across to a plank leading to another scaffold. The distance was not great, but Olds alighted on the plank at a point where a knot ran through and the wood snapped under his weight. The man started on feet foremost, but he struck a projection not far below and turned over twice before striking the floor. The force when he struck was so great that one of the planks in the floor was broken.

Several fellow-workmen witnessed the accident, and ran to assist Olds, but he died before he could be removed to a hospital. The body was taken to Brosee Bros.', where an inquest will be held this morning.

Olds resided on East Twenty-fourth street near Newman. He leaves a family. He was about 40 years old and was regarded as a sober and reliable man.

DOBINSON SCHOOL.

Commencement exercises for the dramatic department of the Dobinson School of Expression were held last evening at the Dobinson Institute on South Hope street, when a diploma was presented to Mrs. Lucile Hall and a certificate for the junior year to Miss Edith Wylie. Gertrude Kellar, of stately presence, the first graduate of the institution, handed the certificates to the two students, accompanying the presentation with a happy speech couched in graceful phrases.

The only graduate, Lucile Hall, presented a variety of roles during the evening, from a gay little farce called "A Transaction in Oil," and a scene from Fanchon, to the high tragedy of the bereft Constance in King John and Lady Macbeth. The young lady appeared to greatest advantage in "The Rivals," where she represented Mrs. Malaprop, James Hanley giving Sir Anthony Absolute. In the heavier scenes she showed considerable emotional power, but scarcely rose to the mental grasp of the characters portrayed.

Following is the entire programme: Scene, "A Translation in Oil," Lucille Hall and Edith Wylie; selection by orchestra; scene from "King John," Lucile Hall, James Hanley, Edward Thompson; piano solo, Lucile Roberts; scene from "Macbeth," Lucile Hall, Gertrude Small, Charles A. Spaulding; selection by orchestra; scene from "Fanchon," Edith Wylie, Beryl Kishbaugh, Ward L. Heller, C. A. Spaulding; scene from "The Rivals," Lucile Hall, Gertrude Small, James Hanley.

Huntington Beach, Formerly Pacific Beach

It is the intention of the management of the Huntington Beach Co. to make this resort the most attractive and delightful of all places on the Pacific Coast, regardless of expense. By nature it is endowed with many advantages not possessed by other places and, assisted by the handiwork of man, will soon be one of the most talked-of places in Southern California.

The Pacific Electric Ry. is now finished to Huntington Beach, and cars will be running on regular schedule today, making the trip in about 60 minutes, and in less time when the cut-off is completed. Both the lumber companies are getting in large stocks of lumber and at the present time builders are erecting many cottages, stores and office buildings. The Huntington Beach Bank has let the contract for its fine bank building. A beautiful school building, costing in the neighborhood of $5000, is nearing completion. The Company's wharf is finished and the Pavilion and Bath House are being thoroughly overhauled and painted, so as to be in first-class order by the 1st and ready for patrons.

PURE WATER and plenty of it is piped to every house. This supply is secured from the Huntington Beach Company's own driven well and is sufficient in quantity to satisfy every need.

Now is the time to make your selections, as the more desirable lots are being snapped up by the knowing ones who can realize what the future has in store for this beautiful tract. You can secure a good lot NOW for $190 on the following terms: 1-3 cash, 1-3 six months, 1-3 twelve months.

Good Band Music at Huntington Beach Pavilion this afternoon, July 2, and all day July 4th, and orchestra music for dancing afternoon and evening July 4th. Cars leave 6th and Main hourly when the clock strikes. All are invited.

Burlington Route

When Your Stomach is Away from Home

You have to be a bit careful of it. When you are going East, for instance, it may trouble you after you climb down from the Rocky Mountains, if you do not treat it well. Changed conditions make it sensitive. The thing to do is to provide it with the best dining possible—and the best dining possible is, as nearly every traveler knows, provided by the Burlington Route, a la carte. Let me tell you more about it.

Many Are Treated for conditions that do not exist.

The unreasonable treatment of many conditions is the direct cause for chronic troubles due to improper measures rather than disease. In the treatment of chronic ailments I am safe in saying my method of treatment is the most effective, for it does away with all guesswork. I have cured hundreds of the most chronic cases by this direct method. I accomplish more in one week than can ever be accomplished by guessing through the mail.

NOT BY MAIL.
I accomplish more in one week's time than can ever be accomplished by guessing through the mail. You have tried it and failed; so have others. There is no certainty in guesswork.

VARICOCELE
I cure in four to six days. Many men have treated unsuccessfully for varicocele. My treatment is painless and the results are complete forever.

STRICTURE
I cure the right way, once and for all. I remove all urethral obstruction, inflammation and soreness, and restore the membrane to a healthy condition, usually ten to fifteen days.

CONTRACTED DISEASES.
Failure to quickly cure these conditions is due to harsh measures, which are the direct cause for chronic condition. My treatment is the most cleanly and perfect known.
I cure Rectal, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Piles, Fistula and Blood Diseases, Wasting, Nervous and Chronic Conditions, causing functional derangement, impairing strength and vitality.

SEESAW, teeter-tawter. That is the game Harry Leftwich and Lulu Briant are playing. One goes up and the other down and vice versa, with clocklike regularity. It was Miss Briant's turn to go up yesterday, and her name is again at the head of the column this morning. Leftwich has gone down to second place, but a few hundred points would again place him in the lead. It is his turn to go up today, if Miss Briant will let him.

Halsey Thompson, Elsie Bamesberger, Louis Bristol and Laura Seward remain in their old places, third, fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively. Leonora Campbell has swapped places with Frank Brooks and is now No. 7, while Brooks is eighth. Bel Skidmore remains in ninth place and Nat Browne has given way to Leigh Smith as No. 10.

SENSATIONAL ADVANCE.

The surprise of the day was furnished by Rosa Glasscock of Chatsworth, who has jumped from thirty-second to twelfth place at a single bound. This is the most sensational advance made by any contestant in any one day since the contest began. Miss Glasscock is an estimable young lady living on a ranch in the San Fernando Valley. She is teaching a small class in music and says: "I want to win a scholarship and take a course in music so I can teach my class better. I expect to win." If Miss Glasscock makes as good a finish as she has made a beginning, she will surely get what she wants as the result of her efforts to win a scholarship.

Pauline Scholz and Edgar Sutton have each moved back one number, being now thirteenth and fourteenth, respectively. Hubert O'Neil remains in fifteenth place. Laura Tupman has moved up one notch and is now No. 16.

HAPPY HARRY'S TREAT.

Harry Poole has jumped all the way from twenty-fourth to seventeenth place, while his friend Harry Bunnell has slipped back from fourteenth to twentieth place. "Happy Harry" is going to treat "Cheerful Bunnie" to soda today as a consolation for the latter on account of his misfortune. There was a mistake in "Bunnie's" score as published yesterday, so his loss is not really as bad as it seems to be. That glass of soda he has coming at "Happy Harry's" expense will restore his courage.

Hazel Burke has slipped back two rungs in the ladder, but she has irons in the fire which will help her to go up again.

Christy Walsh, a little hustler from St. Vincent's has made another upward leap, this time landing in nineteenth place. He looks like a sure winner.

Elizabeth Dehmlow, who made such a brilliant campaign last year, is starting slowly as she did then. She is No. 21 today, but there is no telling how soon she will take a bound upward.

BOYLE HEIGHTS GIANT.

Frank B. Dunwell, whose picture is presented today, went up a peg higher yesterday and is now in twenty-second place. Frank, although but 15 years of age, is a young giant in stature. He is a fine-looking, manly youth and has been making excellent progress in his studies. Having about finished the grammar grades he is eager to go to Throop or some other good school where he can further his education. In Frank Dunwell, Boyle Heights has a worthy representative in the contest, and he should receive liberal support.

Annie B. Lyon of Long Beach has moved up two numbers to twenty-third place.

PICKED FOR A WINNER.

Miss Beva Johnson of Pomona scored for the first time, and has a in twenty-fourth place as a Word comes from Pomona that Johnson will furnish some before the contest is over. It that she is picked for a winner that her many admirers will put herculean efforts to place her the head of the list before the closes. There is a host of John Southern California, and if they help Miss Beva, as has been she will certainly poll a great

There was a mistake in Stella lender's last printed score, the tion of which would make it that the little songstress is progress backward. This is not actly the case, but she has not gotten a good start. It is about for her temperance friends and who delight to hear her sing to her support. Miss Callender is twenty-fifth place today.

Among others who made substa gains yesterday were Charles thy, who moved from thirty-thi twenty-eighth place, and Bertha son, who went from thirtieth to ty-ninth place.

SOME NEWCOMERS.

Laura Pier of Ruth avenue, E. E. Drew of Riverside, George H. of South Hope street, Ora O. Brew South Main street, Susie Bantam South Hill street, Rose Reel of Pedro street, Rosalie Gentillon Santa Monica, Marie Pepi, Dou Montgomery, Chester B. Moore May MacKay, all score for the time. Some of these have but two coupons to their credit, but the enough for a start. "Great oaks little acorns grow."

There are now fifty names on score card, and the printed list not be expanded beyond that num Anyone expecting to be mentioned the daily score must get inside No. 50.

BAKERSFIELD.

LYNCHER CONVICTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, June 30.—James Cowan, the Mojave miner charged with the murder of James Cummings, the negro who was lynched at Mojave on March 19, was today convicted of manslaughter. The jury was out nearly twenty-four hours and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court. One juror stood out all night for murder in the first degree with the death penalty. The other members of the mob who went to the jail with the intention of tarring and feathering the negro will probably not be prosecuted.

SAN DIEGO.

TINGLEY CASE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The motion for a new trial made before Judge Torrance in the Superior Court this morning by Attorney Eugene Daney, representing the defendant in the action brought by Mrs. Katherine Tingley against The Times-Mirror Company of Los Angeles, was denied by the Judge. The motion asked the court to set aside and vacate the verdict previously rendered and to grant the defendant a new trial. Mrs. Tingley was represented in court by her attorney, W. R. Andrews. Judge Torrance later fixed the plaintiff's costs at $904.05, and taxed them against the defendant. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court of the State. Judge Torrance's ruling was expected.

PUBLISHER MYRICK.

Herbert Myrick, who is on the Coast again for the summer, having arrived yesterday, has just been made chairman of the Organization Committee of the International Federation of Advertising Interests. Its purpose is to improve the welfare of American advertisers at home and abroad, and to increase domestic and foreign trade in goods advertised by members of the federation.

Mr. Myrick is also president of Orange Judd Company and editor of Orange Judd Farmer of Chicago, but is still better known in California as president of the Phelps Publishing Company of Springfield, Mass., and San Francisco, and of its magazine, Good Housekeeping. Mr. Myrick will spend July and August with his family, who reside at Santa Barbara.

OFFICIAL SALES. 10 Merchants' Gas Company, (50 per cent. paid.)

EXCHANGE NOTES. Today a dividend of 50c per share will be handed to holders of Butte Lode stock. The first bricks came down from the new kiln on Thursday and were deposited in the State Bank & Trust Company.

THE WEEK'S REVIEW. Aside from the strike of garment workers, developments of the past week have tended to strengthen confidence. One special convention has ended, and, although its action was almost a foregone conclusion, the industrial atmosphere is slightly clearer. The fiscal year is drawing to a close with na- finances in sound condition, the shrinkage in Federal customs re- being no cause for uneasiness. most important trade influence now is the progress of the crops. the past week has brought no Seasonable weather has stim- distribution of merchandise, re- business improving very notice- at many cities, although it is customary to find sales increasing this time. A fair jobbing trade in lines of wearing apparel is noted Baltimore, where collections also are. While no definite change in volume of business is reported at this, the tone is stronger and more fidence is felt. Electrical houses, yards and locomotive works are busy at Philadelphia, but there such idle textile machinery and building operations are small. Pittsburgh reports a little increase in the volume of business and more confidence regarding the future, but payments are slow, and earnings thus far for June are seemingly satisfactory, an increase over last year of 4.7 per cent being noted. Foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a decrease of $2,514,753 in value of exports as compared with last year, and an increase of $1,579,895 in imports. Money rules in greater supply than demand on call loans averaging 1¼ per cent for the week. Securities have moved a little more attention, prices have moderately, but the volume of sales compares unfavorably with the same week last year. In view of the fact, the comparison of bank exchanges at New York is most encouraging, the loss amounting to only 6.7 per cent, while at other leading cities there is a average decrease was 3.9 per cent. Review.

COMMERCIAL.

SARDINE PACK. Increased demand for American sardines has caused holders to advance their prices from $2.35 to $2.75. Supplies are scarce and goods difficult to obtain.

ASPARAGUS. The pack of asparagus in California, aside from the Hickmott product, will be 150,000 cases. Hickmott will not pack a case this season, owing to the destruction of the entire crop by floods early in the season. Last year the total pack, outside of Hickmott, was 370,000 cases. It has proved impossible to drain Bouldin Island, on which the Hickmott plantations and canneries are situated, in time to produce a crop this year.

RAISINS. The stock of Sultana raisins in this market, at last reports, was 40,000 boxes, compared with 42,000 boxes the month previous. Sales have been active of late and probably 35,000 boxes would cover the entire supply at present. Distribution during May is given as 8500 boxes. The present stock of Valencia raisins is given as 4000 boxes, with a distribution of 1200 boxes reported for May.

MACKEREL SEASON ENDS. The Cape Shore mackerel season has ended with a catch of 8802 barrels. Letters from Gloucester, Mass., tell of a considerably stronger feeling among holders of all sorts of salt mackerel. Late sales were made at $12 per barrel for plain fish. Holders are quoting rimmed fish for shipment in a small way at $13.50 to $14 per barrel f. o. b. The total catch to date aggregates 9399 barrels, compared with 10,836 barrels last year.

VENTURA BEAN CROP. From a prominent grower and shipper of beans in Ventura county, it is learned that the crop will be very much cut down this year. There has been less moisture than usual and this fact will reduce the crop materially. The carry over has been extremely light, owing to a good call from the eastern markets. The growing crop of beans does not encourage the farmers. There will be but few acres sowed to black-eyed peas this season, owing to the large carry-over of this variety.

PEANUTS. Three hundred acres, approximately figured, were planted to peanuts in the Santa Ana district this year, and about twelve carloads will be the result of this acreage, as frost, droughts and insects do not avail when the sturdy peanut gets under way. The North Carolina and Virginia crop of peanuts will run about 6,000,000 bushels this year, which is estimated to bring to those States alone, over $14,000,000. This is a wonderful showing for a peanut crop.

The railroads have decided to reduce the freight rate on peanuts from seaboard to Pacific Coast, about $50 per carload, a great saving to the consumer out in this country. This reduction in freight will offset the advance in price of nuts which has amounted to about 2c per pound, in the last six months.

CITRUS MOVEMENT. On Thursday the railroads transported eastward, thirty-one carloads of oranges and twenty-one carloads of lemons, making the total to date, 25,595 carloads.

WINE GROWERS UNITED. As a result of the convention of the American Wine Growers' Association held two weeks ago in Buffalo the entire wine-growing trade of the country is now, united, or will be by the very near future. The association was organized early this year by the eastern growers, and did not take in the California growers, whose output in point of quality, but not of value, is almost equal to that of all the rest of the country.

The California interests were represented at the Buffalo convention by Percy G. Morgan, who declared himself to be thoroughly in accord with the plans of the association and announced that he would report to his constituents in favor of their allying themselves with it. The officers of the association expect that the union with the Californians will be perfected in a few weeks.

As soon as this union is perfected, President Emerson will appoint a committee to consider the subject of legislation required by the American wine trade. The trade is agreed that laws are needed against adulteration and misbranding, but the details have to be worked out very carefully, and there is no very clear agreement even among wine experts as to what constitutes adulteration or impurity in many cases. Another matter to be considered by a committee to be appointed by President Emerson is the establishment of a protective credit bureau. This committee will investigate all the existing systems and report to a meeting to be held in New York on the second Tuesday in December.—[New York Times.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The first consignment of Spanish olives arrived at Bowles Bros.' warehouse yesterday, in the original, and very primitive, packing. There were about two tons of olives in the two giant hogsheads, and no doubt they caused very much profanity among the crews who were compelled to handle these hulks. Spanish olives are worth some money this season, owing to a poor harvest. Olives are graded in Spain, by hand, insuring evenness in size and soundness of fruit.

These hogsheads left Carbobares, Spain, early in February, arriving by water only yesterday. The stock improves during a sea voyage.

The poultry situation seems unusual. In the first place there is an oversupply of both hens and broilers. Hens are off about 2c, bringing 11c alive. Broilers are selling from farmer to dealer at 15c. It is said the receipts of poultry are larger than ever before. Ducks bring 10c, live weight.

The result of the morning's transactions on the Produce Exchange was the making of local ranch eggs 22c flat. Case count quotable at 19c, and eastern fresh at 21c. It's easy to see why there is so little disparity between eastern and local ranch; the eastern egg is in splendid shape and just as eatable as the ranch—anyway, the consumer eats a good many eastern for ranch, at the same money.

First-class potato stock is higher, and is advancing. Early Rose is quoted at $1.75@2.00, white the same. Old stock brings $1.50@1.85, but the holdings are pretty well cleaned out. For the first time in the history of the city our potatoes are going into San Francisco and Sacramento in carloads. Local shippers are loading cars for many faraway points, and it is hoped the potato crop will bring both grower and shipper good returns.

Currants to the number of fifty boxes came in yesterday. They brought 60@65c per box.

Figs are somewhat higher. The price has changed to $1.50 per box.

There was the usual plenty of fish and crabs yesterday, but the heavy demand cleaned them out fast enough.

Blackberries are so common that the price is down lower than ever known before, and local canners are refusing to put them up. There is a perfect sea of blackberries around Pomona. The Canners' Association made the opening so low on all berries that the local canners concluded to stay out of this fruit altogether.

The receipts of cantaloupes and watermelons are astounding. Since the opening of the watermelon season eleven carloads have been eaten in this city. To date four straight carloads of cantaloupes have been consumed by the voracious Angeleans.

Two cars of peaches to date, and none in town, was the bulletin for yesterday. Another car or two will arrive today.

Cantaloupes are selling at $1.40@1.65. Watermelons at 1c per pound.

Apricots come in about a car every other day, supplemented by the local supply, which is quite heavy. Every judge of fruit has no hesitancy in pronouncing the local 'cot superior in appearance and flavor to any northern stock yet offered on this market. Be sure you specify local 'cots in ordering.

Tomatoes are cleaning up very fast. Jobbers are asking $1.25 per crate for fancy stock.

Three carloads of bananas were received up to a late hour last night. The price is still the same. Fourth of July will consume these three cars and call for more.

There were 1,022,000 ponuds of butter, all grades, on cold storage up to the morning of June 30.

The output of cheese runs about as usual, with the supply keeping step. There were 263,000 pounds of cheese in cold storage up to July 1.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, July 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say that although the new fiscal year opens with an extended holiday, there is much encouragement in the evidences of returning confidence, and statistics for the last six months indicate that there is no little reason for anticipating better things in the last half of the year. Half-yearly returns of insolvencies show that liabilities have steadily decreased. Railway earnings, that in earlier months showed losses of 5 per cent, or more in comparison with last year, exhibit an increase of 1½ per cent. for June. Reports from leading branches of trade for the last week testify to a quiet condition, but scarcely more so than is customary at this time of the year, while inquiries in many quarters unfold promise of better distribution in the near future. Prospects are still favorable for large returns, despite some loss from storms during the last week. Confidence grows in the iron and steel industry, although as yet there is little support in the shape of increased orders. Hides are fairly firm, because of smaller stocks than a year ago, and decreasing receipts of cattle, but foreign dry hides are weaker. Failures this week in the United States were 349, against 227 last week; 257 the preceding week and 215 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 11, against 32 last week, and 7 last year.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Mid-summer dullness in mercantile trade and industry, but good crop prospects make for hope of a much more satisfactory half year than has just closed. As yet, the improvement is still largely a matter of tone and better feeling, and is apparently content to move slowly until pending crop prospects become certainties. Bank clearings for six months will fall at least 14 per cent. behind a year ago, most of the decline being at New York. Increases outside of the Metropolis decrease will not much exceed 4 per cent. Railway earnings in June took a turn for the better, and gross receipts will probably show a gain of 1 per cent. for the six months, though decreasing 3 per cent. for six months. The fiscal year, as a whole, owing to gains last year, will show an increase of 1 per cent. in gross. Net earnings, however, will probably show a slight increase from the preceding fiscal year. Wheat, including flour exports for the week ending June 30, aggregates 1,175,895 bushels, against 1,271,437 last week.

Bank Clearings.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, July 1.—Some excited speculation in the Metropolitan Traction stocks was the feature of today's market, and saved it from the lethargic condition expected on the eve of a three-days' holiday. Other New York stocks showed some sympathy, as they always do with one another. Prices ruled generally above last night, but the fluctuations in some of the market leaders were not above ¼. The time money market was called slightly firmer, but this was largely a sentimental effect on a slightly-increased demand for money in connection with July disbursements. Call money failed to get above 1½ per cent. during the day. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific scarcely stirred on reports of May net earnings, which were regarded as favorable. The reaction in the New York stocks in the last hour affected the general tone, and the closing was easy. Total sales of bonds, par value, $1,729,000. A combination of circumstances had made this week one of the dullest in the stock market for many years past. The most obvious cause for this was the decision of the Stock Exchange authorities to close the exchange Saturday, as well as Monday, July 4. Another special factor in the current small dealings is the crusade by the exchange authorities to prevent arbitrage operations between the board room and outside markets. This is an operation for making the profit of a difference in simultaneous prices in two markets by selling in one and buying in the other. Only the most direct communication between the two markets makes it feasible, and such communication infringes laws of the Stock Exchange. The summary removal of telephone communication of a number of firms from the floor of the Stock Exchange is viewed as an admonition to the whole membership to refrain from this kind of trading. Stress has been laid also on the political outlook in an undeterminate condition, the government's report of crop conditions and the extreme conservatism existing in all business and enterprises and which is accurately reflected in the stock market. There have been no really important developments during the week toward solving the uncertainties, and efforts to stimulate efforts in stocks have been futile. The week's advices on the crops were mixed, and baffled the efforts of operators in stocks to make any consistent interpretation of them. A general sense of contentment over conditions may be inferred from the absence of pressure to liquidate in the market. Showings of railroad earnings are mixed, but the average of gross earnings for June is somewhat better than last year, and traffic officials have expressed hopes for future business with rather greater confidence. The reports of net earnings for May, however, have made poor comparisons with the previous year, and retrenchment in operating expenses is counted a vital necessity for improvement. Such retrenchment has continued at various points, reports pointing especially to a cutting-down of working forces on the Pennsylvania system. The broad demand for bonds has moved many long-dormant issues, but these usually inactive bonds have been only moderately active, and the more dividend irregular movements. United States 3s have declined ½, and the 4s, registered, have advanced ¼ per cent. on call during the week.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Anniversary High Mass.

A solemn anniversary high mass for the repose of the soul of the late John F. Francis will be celebrated at St. Vibiana's Cathedral at 9 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

Afro-American League.

The Executive Council of the Afro-American League met last night at the Enterprise office, and arrangements were made for the meeting of the State League, which will be held in Los Angeles, beginning August 23.

Sisters' School Closed.

The Sisters' School on Boyle Heights, the oldest Catholic school in the city, closed yesterday without public exercises. There were no graduates this year. There has been an attendance of 325 at the school during the past year.

Lost Two Fingers.

Adolph Demuth, an employé of the Los Angeles Planing Mill Company, Fifth and San Pedro streets, was working at a buzz-saw yesterday when the stick of timber slipped and his right hand came in contact with the saw. Two of his fingers were amputated.

Run Down by Van.

H. E. DePolt, who lives at No. 455 East Twenty-ninth street, is at the Emergency Hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg. He was run down by a van belonging to the Bekins Van and Storage Company, the heavy wheels passing over his leg.

Riddell's Successor.

James Montgomery arrived here from New York yesterday to join the Ulrich Stock Company, now playing at the Grand Operahouse. Mr. Montgomery will take the place vacated by Frank Riddell whose sudden and untimely death was noted in last week's papers.

Payment Refused.

Johana Meyer has brought suit in the Federal courts against the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, and the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company for the recovery of a $10,000 life insurance policy held by her late husband, Samuel Meyer, in the defendant concerns.

Cudahy Picnic.

Employés of the Cudahy Packing Co. and their friends will have a picnic today at Southern Pacific Park, Santa Monica. Field sports, a barbecue, and a ball game between the Cudahys and the Retail Butchers will be the programme. The train will leave Arcade station at 9 o'clock.

Federated Catholic Societies.

The new officers of the Los Angeles Federation of Catholic Societies will be installed tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at St. Joseph's Hall, Pico and Santee streets. There will be a general attendance of all the Catholic societies of the city and they will be addressed by Bishop Conaty.

Zinkand in Town.

Charles A. Zinkand of San Francisco was in the city yesterday, and left last night for the north. It is said he has cashed out all his interests here. A meeting of the Imperial Cafe was held, and H. H. Milling was appointed president and manager of the company which has bought out Zinkand.

"Liberty, Not License."

Francis Murphy's subject in Blanchard Hall Sunday evening will be "Liberty in All Things, but not License." The singing will be under the supervision of Charles Lamb, with solos by Miss Rooson and J. W. Eccleson and a duet by Hugh Collander and daughter. Carlyle Wynn, Esq., will give an address on the "Evils of Intemperance."

Will be Ordained Priest.

This morning at St. Vibiana's Cathedral Bishop Conaty will ordain to the holy priesthood Rev. J. M. Wilfred Beaudry of this city, who was promoted to the dignity of a deacon by Archbishop Montgomery in St. Dominic's Church, San Francisco, last Wednesday. This young priest will celebrate his first mass at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow at the cathedral.

Succumbs to Injuries.

C. B. Wright, who was struck by a Traction Company car on West Third street Wednesday afternoon, died early yesterday morning at the Emergency and General Hospital. His skull was fractured and he never regained consciousness after the accident. Mr. Wright was a pioneer of Los Angeles and was known to all of the "old timers." He was . years old.

Presbyterian Church Extension.

The city board of church extension of the Presbyterian Church met last night at the Central Church on Hill street. It was decided to put a committee into the field to secure subscriptions for the establishment of a Presbyterian Church in the vicinity of Adams street and Central avenue. The committee also has under consideration the institution of churches at Vernon, in the Westlake district and in the Eighth Ward.

Big Pow-wow.

The Improved Order of Red Men will adopt nearly one hundred paleface brothers into the tribe tomorrow night at Garfield Park, Pasadena. This outdoor initiation will be given in the presence of a large assemblage of members of the order, and after the ceremonies a general jollification will be held for the rest of the night, and a barbecue will be served. A carload of bucks from this city is scheduled to attend.

Exciting Runaway.

A runaway horse attached to a light buggy created excitement on North Spring street yesterday and smashed several bicycles and buggies before being caught. The animal broke away from a hitching post at the corner of Temple and Spring streets and ran wildly in the direction of First street, scattering people right and left. After wrecking the buggy the horse broke away, but was caught before further harm was done. Many narrow escapes occurred, but no one was injured.

Postmaster's Warning.

If your name and present address are not in the latest city directory, and you have not filed the same with the postmaster, it is useless for you to consider the postoffice under obligation to deliver your mail. The postoffice refers to the 1904 city directory for street addresses that are not supplied on incoming mail, and the postoffice department holds that persons who fail to have their names and addresses inserted in the city directory are alone responsible for the non-delivery of mail without street addresses.

Fete for Charity.

Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow is arranging for an extensive garden fete to be given on September 22-23 at No. 2217 South Figueroa street for the benefit of the Barlow Sanatorium for Consumptives. The lawns of his residence and the two adjoining homes are to be covered with canvas, and the place made a bower of beauty with many Japanese lanterns and floral festoons. Booths of all descriptions, presided over by charming young ladies, will offer wares for sale, and the affair will be the largest and best of the kind ever given in this city.

Japan Was Their Theme.

One hundred and ten members and guests of the University Club partook of a banquet at Levy's Café last night. Dr. David Starr Jordan was the guest of honor and he spoke on Japan and its characteristics as a nation. Dr. Jordan gave many incidents of the love and respect Japan bears for America, and aroused the enthusiasm of his hearers by detailing the visit of Gen. Grant to Japan and his refusal to cross the "Scarlet Bridge," when, as Grant expressed it, "other common men could not pass there." "Japan had been used to English lords, who took everything in sight," said Dr. Jordan, "and they knew they were lords because they loved a cheerful giver; but Gen. Grant was a nobleman of another stripe, such as they had never met before." Dr. Jordan has great faith in Japan's winning the victory in the present war. He closed his address with a toast to "Japan, a Great Nation," which was drunk standing by the company present. I. Mori, a local Japanese, spoke on "The Japanese War from a Japanese Standpoint." The names of Ralph Bennett, Andrew S. Lobenger, John Houser and C. H. McNary were added to the membership roll.

113 SOUTH SPRING STREET

KERN RIVER HITCHED UP TO LOS ANGELES.

Cables Hundred and Twenty-five Miles Long Bringing Ten Thousand Horse Power Connected Yesterday. Biggest Electric Scheme West of Niagara Falls.

KERN RIVER was harnessed to Los Angeles yesterday.

The biggest single installment of power ever hooked onto the electric system of the city was connected by the completion of the cables of the Kern River Light and Power Company, which fetch the energy of 10,000 horses from a source over a hundred miles away.

The current will enter the city by way of the substation that has just been built on the Mission road east of Eastlake Park.

The line just finished between here and Borel is owned and was built by the above-named company, a Huntington enterprise. It is 125 miles long. A somewhat roundabout way was taken, owing to the fact that part of the country which a straight line between here and the Kern River would cross is inaccessible to a wagon.

There are two power lines over the whole distance, in order to avoid interruption of the current, in other words, so that if one line gets out of order the other may be put in use immediately.

FOREST OF POLES.

Eight thousand poles are used to hold up the wires. It has taken nearly a year to set them. Those north of Tropico are forty feet in height, while those on this side are fifty or sixty feet.

Three wires are run on each line of poles. There are 750 miles of wire, which weighs half a pound to the foot, making its entire weight about 1000 tons.

The wires are held to the poles by 24,000 insulators, which weigh fourteen pounds each. These insulators are made of porcelain, in four pieces, and were shipped in bulk, being cemented together at various places along the line. They are the largest insulators ever used in California, and are composed of what looks like two cups and two saucers. The first cup sets next the wooden cross-bar and is 4½ inches across; the next is 7 inches; then comes the smallest saucer, which is 11 inches across; while topping all is one that is 14 inches across. The entire insulator stands 15 inches high.

The current will be generated at Borel by water pressure coming from an intake twelve miles above, on the Kern River. Owing to some incompleted cement work it will be impossible for the company to start the dynamos in their new power-house for about two months yet.

Ten thousand horse-power will be delivered to Los Angeles consumers. The voltage or pressure of the current will be 45,000, to start with, and then, after experimenting carefully it will be raised to 65,000.

The water-power machinery that has been installed at Borel is capable of generating 17,500 horse-power.

Every possible precaution has been taken along the line to prevent accidents, or the grounding of the current. The wires are strung slack, and set in the form of a triangle, each one six feet from the other two.

A separate telephone line is hung on the same poles, about twelve feet below the big wires, so that communication may be carried on with the home office anywhere along the lines.

The Pacific Electric obtained a temporary lease of the line between this city and Burbank, and is at present operating its Glendale line with power sent over these wires.

E. A. Beck, the general superintendent, said yesterday that the hardest part of the entire work was to obtain the right of way. "Everybody," said he, "thought they would wake up some fine morning and find an electric car running through their pasture. They mistook the double line of poles for the poles of an electric road, and raised the price of their land accordingly.

"You don't know how sharp people are till you try to buy a 10-foot right of way through their land, which the day before was worth about 50 cents an acre, actual value, but now that you want it it has increased in their mind to $50 per front foot."

A CAVE OF DEATH.

The substation out on Mission road is a two-story brick structure of the Mission style of architecture, and is just about completed. It will be a veritable house of death, as there will be about 500 different wires and about 200 different switches, to touch which will cause instant death.

Here there are being installed fifteen 750-kilowat transformers, with a capacity of 1000 horse-power each. These transformers are eight feet long, three feet through, and stand about fourteen feet high. They are composed of copper and iron, and are used to reduce the voltage of the current from 45,000 or 65,000 to 15,000.

Each transformer is filled with oil to make its insulation absolutely perfect, and water is circulated around them to reduce the heat generated in transforming the current.

The lower floor of the building is divided into seven rooms by concrete partitions. Each of these rooms will eventually contain a set of transformers. The top floor is divided into a similar number of rooms, which will contain the switch boards for the control of both the outgoing and incoming currents.

LARGEST POWER BUYERS.

The largest purchasers of power from the new plant will be the Los Angeles Railway Company, the Pacific Electric Railway Company and the Pacific Light and Power Company.

G. O. Newman, the hydraulic engineer, returned from Borel yesterday to hold consultation with the other members of the company. He said:

"The work at the other end is progressing rapidly. We have about 100 men to work along the canal and at the power-house."

The president of the company is Gen. Charles Forman, who has the plant personally in charge. He is assisted by H. C. Balsch, the general manager, and E. A. Beck, the general superintendent, who is in charge of all the construction, excepting the hydraulic work under the control of G. O. Newman.

STILL ANOTHER.

The Kern River Company has another large project in view, about which the managers do not care to make any statement at present other than that it includes the construction of another immense power plant on the Kern River. This plant will be built several miles above the intake of the present canal leading to Borel, and will enable the company to supply more power than any other concern west of Niagara.

Entrance of Kern River voltage into the city—At the top, Supt. A. E. Beck and one of the fourteen-pound insulators. At the bottom, linemen rigging the last pole and running the wires into the sub-station on Mission Road.

BOYS AND GIRLS NOT SO NAUGHTY.

GRATIFYING ROUND-UP OF THE DETENTION HOME.

Improvement Shown in the Habits and Ideas of the Young Delinquents — Success of the New Method of Dealing With Incorrigibles—More Candidates.

Expectation stood on tiptoe yesterday afternoon at the opening of the Juvenile Court by Judge Wilbur, for eighty children, delinquents in the eyes of the law, fully three-fourths of whom were started on the road to the Reform School, but whom a fatherly government dubbed delinquent instead of criminal, and took under a strict but kindly supervision—these eighty waited to know what would be the decision in each case of the serious-looking judge with the twinkle in his eye.

The children were not the only ones interested, as there was a goodly showing of parents and guardians in the chairs allotted to them, and the courtroom was filled to its capacity, this being the day for the half-yearly clearing up of all cases on the roll of the detention home for the past six months. Every boy or girl (but the girls are few) who has been brought to the notice of the Juvenile Court has not been allowed to slip out of the mind of the probation officer, but has reported to him from time to time and at longer intervals to the judge of the court, and the round-up of yesterday was not only a study in sociology, but a practical proof of the wisdom that provided such an institution, with a goodly showing of its first fruits in Los Angeles.

As one glanced over the faces of the children there was a notable absence of that open defiance and sullen indifference which marks them as a usual thing when first brought into the court. Their countenances in the main were pleasant to see and plainly showed what sort of influence has been at work among them. Mrs. Pratt, the matron of the home; Miss Frank, and Dr. Bennett, the teachers of the detention school; as well as the probation officer, Mr. Dodds, and the ladies of the Juvenile Court Board, beamed with pleasure as one after another was shown to have improved. A number of the boys were given vacations from the Detention Home School, and some were allowed to depart in peace with the parents, but in each case there was a specified arrangement for the future, of some kind of employment to engage the active energies.

HOW MANY CIGARETTES?

Some of them promised to abstain from the use of tobacco. One small boy, who in the ordinary course of events would not be supposed to have become acquainted with it in any form, but who had in reality been the means of introducing it into the school, took such a pledge. Another youth was questioned as to the number of cigarettes he was in the habit of smoking, and, replying that he did not smoke much, was required to define just what that much meant in plain figures. He promised to quit them altogether on pain of being returned to the detention home, and deprived of his liberty.

About half of the boys reporting to the judge were in their homes on probation, and of these encouraging stories were told as to their improvement. In one case the mother was not able to speak in the language of the court, and no interpreter being at hand, the delinquent son was obliged to interpret and tell the story of his own betterment.

Only four girls were brought before the judge, and accounts of these were so favorable that the probation officer was constrained to remark: "Judge, we are doing well with our girls." One of these was a pretty and well-dressed girl chewing gum very industriously, who went away with her father in a happy frame of mind.

There were boys of all varieties, a few as black as the ace of spades, but one of the blackest bore the finest of records. There were dark-eyed Mexican boys and the palest of washed-out Anglo-Saxons, while a handsome Italian had serious explanations to make on account of his conduct in general and his mischief in procuring a revolver in particular, and only one boy was threatened with the fate of the Whittier Reform School if he did not improve in a week's time.

There were boys who stayed out nights and boys who had sworn at their mothers, and boys who had played truant at school, but they were nearly all just boys, such as one meets every day, and not the criminals that they would have been regarded a few years ago.

In spite of the good work done, there were twenty-nine returned to the detention home, where they will attend school during the summer, and the heads of the home know of a certainty that the Glorious Fourth will bring in many more. As there are only thirty-three seats in the schoolroom, this makes a problem which the teachers have been facing for some time, and which they hoped would be relieved by the cleaning up of yesterday. For the past two months there have been from ten to fourteen more pupils in the school than there have been seats.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES.

On Thursday patriotic exercises were held in the schoolroom where the teachers are trying to teach loyalty to God and to the government on the very spot where the cells of the old jail stood.

The exercises were neither elaborate nor studied, but the virtue of the simple performance lay in the hearty goodwill with which the children entered into them. The most interesting part of all was the drill in civil government, where the pupils asked and answered questions relative to the government; and the teacher who has been instilling these principles into these youthful minds remarked that she did not think one of these boys would ever sell his vote when he grew to be a man.

The patriotic programme was entered into with a vim and a go, being opened by the reciting of the Lord's prayer and of the twenty-third Psalm in unison. This was followed by a salute to the flag and several recitations and a number of patriotic hymns were sung.

Some industrial work has been accomplished in this school in rug making and basket weaving, that is highly creditable to the children and furnishes occupation for the time when the busy teacher who conducts at least four different classes cannot give her attention to all. The materials for this work were furnished by some people interested in the school, and a perfect treasure trove was sent in a few weeks since by the Board of Education in the shape of seventy volumes of interesting supplementary reading. One of these books, the story of "Reynard the Fox," has accomplished its mission of reform in three cases already.

PUT WHERE HE BELONGS.

A well-dressed young man, who gave the name of Ed Murray, is in the City Jail charged with disturbing the peace. He was arrested yesterday afternoon on West Seventh street by Special Officer Charles Foster. The man had followed a number of ladies in the Bonnie Brae district, accosting them whenever he had an opportunity. He said nothing which could be objected to, but his actions were more than suggestive. He followed two young ladies several blocks, insisting on talking to them. They finally eluded him and went to Officer Foster's home and told him what had occurred. At Foster's suggestion they again went to the street, and when they next saw the man he was a block from them. He hurried toward them and blocked the way, with an insulting remark. Foster had followed them, and seizing the man he sent for a policeman and had the fellow taken to jail.

THE SMALL MAN HAS TAKEN DUE NOTICE.

THIS patriot has just been told the Council's decree, that no fireworks may be discharged in the business district without a special permit, and—what is of vastly more consequence to him—that celebrations in the small hours are utterly prohibited anywhere.

Alas for the enthusiasm of him and many of his kind! Early rising is not given a boost in the writ that proscribed explosives until after 6 o'clock a.m.

It will doubtless be a welcome feature to the hundreds of older ones, and most of their stocks, for July 3 sees almost all of the buying done.

The firecracker appetite is not abating. Instead, it seems to grow a little from year to year, especially as new noise-making rackets are devised now with startling rapidity.

The small boy does not take as kindly to the big bomb and the elephantine cannon cracker as does the older man. He of tender years and little money wishes his nerve-killing strung out in small parcels, and the big chunks of noise are torn off by parties above the years of accountability.

Said a Spring-street dealer yesterday afternoon: "On the night of the Fourth bunches of young fellows have usually bought most of the fireworks in dealers' stocks hereabouts, and have had grand celebrations in the middle of the street. My largest single orders have come in at the last minute, and at 9 o'clock on the night of the last Fourth an old graybeard bought half my remaining supply at a single purchase. The outfit lasted him ten minutes."

Today almost all the purchases for pyrotechnical display will be made. Fireworks intended for beautifying the landscape are sold mainly in small quantities, to staid fathers who wish to educate and amuse their offspring, with the same expenditure, to boys escaping the reign of complete "kidhood" and to girls.

A Victim of the Anti-firecracker Ordinance.

however—many of whom have been too often torn from sweet slumber by the frantic race to discharge the first firecracker.

The ordinance covering the business section is bringing many a sigh of relief from anxious property holders and weary men whose occupations have previously immersed them in pandemonium from dawn until dark.

Fireworks dealers will be out bright and early this morning, shaping their wares and conspicuously displaying the "No Smoking!" sign at all vantage points. This is the big day for the merchants whose chief stock is bottled noise. They do not like a Fourth that follows a Sunday, they say, for it unsettles business and runs it through three days' time. Ordinarily one day's rattling trade finishes up the work

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

An expenditure of $50,000 within the next four months for oiling streets is contemplated in the recommendation of a special committee appointed by the Council to look after improved streets.

Acting on a recommendation from the Legislative Committee City Attorney Matheys is drafting an ordinance intended to close up fake detective agencies.

The Board of Public Works yesterday recommended the opening and widening of Sixteenth street from Pacific avenue to the western city limits.

The chain of proof is being drawn tightly around "Bull" White. A new and important witness appeared yesterday and identified the defendant as being close to the scene at the time of the assault.

A curiously mixed-up divorce proceeding was before Judge Conrey yesterday in the Swisher case.

An episode of the notorious Adobe saloon was before Justice Young yesterday with the result that the defendant was discharged.

OIL BETTER THAN WATER.

COMMITTEE DECIDES SPRINKLERS MUST GO.

Council Will Expend Fifty Thousand Dollars Within Next Four Months for Oiled Streets—Railways Will Care for Their Rights-of-Way—Central Avenue First.

Within the next four months $50,000 will be expended by the city in oiling streets. Commencing with Central avenue and Sunset boulevard, all the main arteries of travel that are not surfaced with asphalt will be treated to a generous coating of oil and sand.

Recommendation for the purchase of four portable oil tanks, together with the necessary paraphernalia for applying the oil, will be made to the Council Tuesday by the special committee appointed to have charge of oiling streets.

All the details of the plan have been worked out by the oiling committee, Messrs. Nofsiger, McAleer and Kern, who comprise the committee, refused to serve until their confreres in the Council promised that they should have practically free rein, so their recommendations are almost equivalent to contracts.

At an executive meeting these committeemen agreed upon what they consider to be a feasible plan for discarding the ancient sprinkling carts, and replacing them with oil wagons and gangs of men armed with plows, harrows and other necessary utensils for resurfacing the streets.

Rough on dust will be the combination of sand and hot oil, one coating of which will lay the dust on a street for a season.

Four hundred dollars a mile per year is the cost of laying the dust on a city street with water. Six hundred dollars for the first year, $300 for the next, and $50 for each succeeding year is the estimated cost of oiling.

The expense of oiling streets on which there are railway tracks will be reduced one-third, in some cases one-half, by the cooperation of the street railway companies. All the local companies have promised to oil their rights of way when the city oils the remaining portion of a street. The City Attorney's office holds that in case the railway companies should balk on the oiling proposition they could be forced to oil under penalty of forfeiture of their ra[illegible]. It appears, therefore, to be [illegible]y certain that the railway com[illegible]es will do their share.

In order to get the best results, the committee has decided to close one side of a street to travel, to tear up the surface for a depth of at least three inches, and to thoroughly mix together the oil and gravel in the top coat. If this method is followed out a single oiling a year will keep the surface in fine condition.

The committee will probably recommend that the Council advertise for bids for supplying oil. The city oiling department will have its own outfit for dumping the oil from the tanks of the producer into the oiling wagons.

Sharp competition has already sprung up between the big dealers, and the owners of but one or two oil wells for the privilege of selling oil to the city. The dealers urge that the city should order oil in 10,000-barrel lots, while the small producers who have oil wells in their back yards ask that the city fix price and specifications for oil and then buy it direct from the producers.

FAKE DETECTIVES.

CHIEF AFTER BLACKMAILERS.

Chief of Police Hammel and Captain of Detectives Bradish yesterday went before the Council Finance Committee to ask that an ordinance be passed licensing detective agencies and private information bureaus. This ordinance is asked for in order that the police shall be able more effectually to break up the system of blackmail worked by certain private detective agencies.

Chief Hammel told the members of the Police Commission committee that agencies of a doubtful character were advertising in the eastern press for help, and that what the dupes who answered the advertisement got was a [illegible] star for which they were required to give up $7.50. Many of these stars have been issued here, and the wearers make advantage of them to levy blackmail. Sometimes they carry their extortion to the extent of impersonating police officers or detectives.

Assistant City Attorney Goudge was appealed to for an opinion as to the proper form for the proposed ordinance. He said that the Council could pass an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any one except a peace officer to wear a star containing the words detective or special police. He said that by licensing the legitimate agencies, the detectives could secure appointments as special policemen, that the agencies could be placed under the jurisdiction of the police department, and that fakers and blackmailers could then be refused licenses.

These suggestions met the approval of the Legislative Committee, and the City Attorney was requested to draw up an ordinance along these lines for presentation to the Council.

SIXTEENTH STREET.

RECOMMEND OPENING.

The recommendation was yesterday afternoon made by the Board of Public Works for the opening and widening of West Sixteenth street from Pacific avenue to the city limits. The route selected is that now traversed by the Sixteenth-street line of the Los Angeles and Pacific Railway Company.

Desiring to make Sixteenth street a rival to Washington street as a west-end thoroughfare a half hundred property owners petitioned to have it made a uniform width of eighty feet. Property owners living east of Rosedale Cemetery protested against the street being widened to eighty feet, claiming that it would mean additional expense and that it was not necessary. They called attention to the fact that from Alameda street to Pacific avenue, a distance of four miles, Sixteenth street is of a uniform width of sixty feet and they failed to see why it should be wider in the suburbs than in the heart of the city.

Property owners on the west end of the street insisted on an eighty-foot thoroughfare and the board finally compromised by recommending that from Pacific avenue to the eastern end of Rosedale Cemetery the street be opened to a width of sixty feet and that for the remainder of the way to the western city limits it should be widened to eighty feet.

This compromise appeared to meet with the approval of both petitioners and protestants. Unless further opposition is made the final ordinance of intention will pass the Council next Tuesday.

Granting a petition from the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company the board voted to recommend the sale of a franchise for laying and maintaining for thirty years a triple pipe line to carry and transmit refrigerating material under streets in a district comprising practically the downtown business section. This privilege is similar to one granted to the same petitioners three years ago.

FAVOR LOW BID.

OUTFALL SEWER CONTRACT.

Owing to the absence from the city of Theodore Summerland, there will be no meeting today of the Sewer Committee and the recommendation of the outfall sewer bids received last Monday will go over until Tuesday morning.

During the last few days considerable discussion has taken place as to whether the city could save money by rejecting all bids and building its own sewer.

Opposition to this plan has been made on account of a provision that to the lay mind looks like the saving clause in municipal contracting—the civil service. Men who were most active in having the civil service amendment placed in the city charter now say that because of this same civil service restriction the city cannot afford to build its own sewer.

Here is the way one Councilman sized up the situation: "It will require at least two years to build the sewer. If the inspectors are civil service men, before the two years is half up they will be intrenched in their position so that it will be necessary to file formal charges before they can be let out. That will mean delays and the men would take advantage of it. The only way the city could save money on the sewer would be to turn it over to one man and hold him responsible for the force under him. If any plan can be proposed whereby the work can be done without placing the men under civil service I will consider a plan. Otherwise I am for the low bid."

The matter has been referred to committees of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Municipal League. Unless these committees make a recommendation Tuesday in favor of the city building its own sewer, it is likely that the contract will go to A. J. Edwards, the Pasadena contractor, who has offered to build the sewer for $565,000.

City Tax Collector Johnson yesterday sold municipal property having an assessed value of $106,547 for non-payment of taxes. City Clerk Lalande, representing the city, paid the delinquent taxes and the municipality is now the nominal owner of all land and improvements on which the taxes for 1903-4 have not been paid.

Delinquent property owners are protected from confiscation of their property by a provision in the State law that requires the property to be held for five years for redemption.

The actual amount of taxes for which the property was sold was $14,972.70. But what with fines and cost of advertisement the delinquent owners will be required to pay $17,550 to get their property back.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

SECRETS FROM TELEPHONE LINE.

THE SWISHER FAMILY SEEMS TO BE IN A MUDDLE.

Old Man Doesn't Know Whether He is Married or Not, but Does Know that a Free and Easy Woman is After His Money—She Gets Alimony.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Swisher is an Englishwoman who has traveled widely, and has had a wide and varied experience within certain lines; and it is her opinion that telephones are a public nuisance instead of a public blessing. And she knows whereof she speaks.

Mrs. Swisher was living as a widow with two children when George C. Swisher married her. He is a farmer and workingman—so he calls himself, but he has accumulated a good deal of money and property by the closest economy. In the neighborhood of his home at No. 229 Wall street he owns a good deal of real estate that has increased, and is increasing in value, and he also owns a ranch at Chatsworth, besides other property. But after his hard life as a bachelor he pined for the companionship of a wife, and when he met Mrs. Swisher she made him think he had met his affinity. He hadn't, but he had to find that out.

She told the old man that she had been married and divorced, and that as the year prescribed by law had not elapsed they would have to go out of the State to marry. They went to Yuma, Ariz., and there were made man and wife. Returning to Los Angeles, Mrs. Swisher discovered that her husband was not inclined to let go his grip upon his dollars, and his reputation for niggardliness being maintained, she had to run a boarding-house to meet expenses. That led up to the quarreling that has ended in an application for a divorce by the wife.

Before beginning her divorce suit Mrs. Swisher was worldly wise, and filed a homestead upon the Wall-street property, though she had been married less than eighteen months.

After the suit had been filed the attorneys in the case appreciated that there were some faults on both sides, and joined in the attempt to have the husband and wife come together again, or, at least, agree amicably to disagree and come to an understanding. This was pretty hard work, but after prolonged negotiation everything was arranged to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned.

But fate ordained that there was to be a mussing-up of the family's linen, and the telephone was the means by which the agreement between the husband and wife was knocked higher than a kite. Over a party line was heard a tryst made by Mrs. Swisher with her star boarder—a young fellow named Morgan, and spotters were at the trysting place to watch developments. At the time appointed the coy Mrs. Swisher is alleged to have put in an appearance at Santa Monica, where she joined Morgan. What happened later sufficed to raise the fighting blood of old man Swisher.

It was all exploited in Judge Conrey's court yesterday, when Mrs. Swisher was trying to make her husband grant her support during the pendency of her suit. He wanted to know why he should grant her support when he was by no means sure that the woman bearing his name was his wife at all, or ever had been.

The deposition of Mrs. Swisher was taken a short time ago, and at that time she was compelled to make a number of very damaging admissions. She said that she had been born in England, and after coming to this country was married to a man named Hallett, by whom she had six children. Some of these are old enough to have married and get divorced. She herself was divorced in October, 1893, in Ohio, and then packed her traps and went to Kansas. From there the present Mrs. Swisher wandered around and somewhere or other joined forces with one W. C. Hamlin, by whom she had two children.

When asked if she was married to Hamlin, Mrs. Swisher refused to answer. If she conceded the fact it would be all up with her marriage to Swisher, for no divorce record could be produced, and she would be confessing herself guilty of bigamy. She tried to maintain silence, but was compelled to answer the question. Then Mrs. Swisher accepted the smaller horn of the dilemma, and said that she had not been married to Hamlin.

That answer made her claim on Swisher's bank account solid, even if it left her reputation rather shaky.

She said that she did not live with Hamlin continuously, because he was traveling around a good deal, but she acknowledged that she had two children by him. This liason, Mrs. Swisher said, ceased about six months before her marriage to Swisher.

The most prominent co-respondent in the case, too, Morgan, is made to appear as playing a little lone hand of his own, for he engaged Attorney Holcomb, a specialist in certain lines, and his purposes and motives when revealed are liable to add to the gayety of the case.

Under the peculiar circumstances it will require a trial to establish just what the status of Mrs. Swisher was at the time of her marriage, and counsel for the husband argued that for that reason the alimony should be as small as possible. Judge Conrey thereupon ordered that Swisher pay his wife $15 a month as alimony, $50 for costs and $200 for attorneys' fees.

LINKS OF MATRIMONY.

DIVORCE DECREES GRANTED.

Mrs. Margaret H. Hawkins, quite a young woman, was granted a decree by Judge Allen on the ground of her husband's cruelty.

Horace D. Hawkins lived with his wife on Ellendale Place, but, as he was given to over-indulgence in strong waters, he always was in a state of half jag, and was ingenious in finding ways to scare and terrorize his wife. On one occasion he went into the kitchen and seized a carving knife and then cheerfully threatened to "rip her up." She didn't want to be operated upon and fled.

On Easter Sunday of last year Hawkins was at his best—or worst. His wife was seeking to let the house furnished. A gentleman came to make inquiries. After making arrangements to take the place, he turned to go. Just then Hawkins appeared upon the scene in very scanty attire and wanted to know who his wife was talking to. He wanted to go outside, the front door yet remaining open, and his wife was just as eager that he shouldn't make an exhibition of himself.

He whistled to the man going down the driveway [illegible] gentleman turned just in time to see Hawkins strike his wife, and to hear him rip out a string of blasphemies that, from what Mrs. Hawkins said, must have been models of unique expression.

"He was not like most men in drinking," the wife remarked, "for he would come home at night and sit by the bedside and talk, talk, talk, for hours, and always on the subject of what a bad woman I was."

Alexander C. Nelson was an engineer, but preferred making his living as a bartender in a saloon. He married Mrs. Nettie E. Nelson in Nevada in 1900 and after coming to Los Angeles went to live at Long Beach close to his wife's family. But somehow they couldn't get along. There was incompatability of temper, and one day in March of last year, Nelson put on his hat to go out—and never came back. He is now in Reno, he says. He wrote one letter in which he said that he was away for "keeps." Judge Allen granted the decree.

Mrs. Lottie I. Lince, a dark-eyed and stately-looking girl, told a horrible story to Judge Conrey, and got her decree of divorce at once. She married Anson I. Lince on February 3, of the current year, and by the fifteenth all hope of marital happiness had fled. The husband, who is a confectioner, boasted to his wife of his escapades with other women. Dr. J. K. Carson gave the necessary corroborating proof, and Mrs. Lince was again free.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Weaver wanted a divorce from Ernest A. Weaver, and upon the showing made got it. Her husband was a detective in the employ of the Anti-Saloon League, but she found that he was sending his earnings to another woman. That settled it. The proof was made and the decree granted.

WOULD LIFT INJUNCTION.

BRESEE CASE IN COURT.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Elma Bresee against E. H. Bresee, came up before Judge York yesterday on a motion to dissolve the injunction, and to strike out certain of the allegations of the complaint.

Incidentally it came out that the wife was reduced to $10 a week by her husband instead of the handsome amount previously enjoyed by her, and that he had threatened to even deprive her of this sum. He also had told all the trades-people not to supply his wife with anything on credit. Her husband's counsel wanted to make out that these allegations should be struck out, and that for purposes of a divorce a man need not supply his wife with money or allow her credit at the stores, so long as he did provide her with the necessaries of life.

The other side ventured to remark that the usual way for a man to provide his wife with the necessaries of life is to give her money with which to provide all things necessary.

Mrs. Bresee charged that on March 11, 1903, her husband became angry and caught her by the neck and choked her until her mother came to her assistance. The wife said that she feared a repetition, and this it was desired to have obliterated from the complaint.

P. W. Bresee, a brother to the defendant, had been made a party to the suit and had been enjoined from disposing of any of the partnership or other properties. Affidavits from both brothers were presented which tended to show that E. H. Bresee sold his interest in the undertaking firm to his brother at the time of the incorporation for $7000, paid partly in cash and partly by assuming certain indebtedness. It was denied also that E. H. Bresee owned any share whatever in the Mehegan Carriage Company, as alleged, and an absolute denial was made of any transference of interests to his brother.

The whole matter of expurgating the wife's complaint, and lifting the injunction was taken under consideration by Judge York.

ADDED IDENTIFICATION.

COILS AROUND "BULL" WHITE.

The testimony in the trial of "Bull" White, for a savage assault upon aged Mrs. Kate Dripps, is proving to be much the same as on the first trial with a few notable exceptions.

The pivotal point in the case, now as when the case was first tried, is the identification of the defendant as the man who assaulted Mrs. Dripps. The complaining witness testified explicitly and forcefully, and was not to be shaken in her belief and certainty that "Bull" White was the man who nearly murdered her. But an altogether new witness came to her support yesterday in the person of C. J. Carvell, the motorman of the Downey-avenue car that brought "Bull" White back to town immediately after the assault had been committed.

Carvel said that he was motorman on the car that crossed the bridge on the night of the assault, and carried his car over sometime between 10 and 10:30 o'clock.

A man jumped on the car just at the approach to the bridge, and asked the witness for a match. Incidentally he made the remark: "I've got even with one old——." He remained on the car until it reached the Plaza and then jumped off.

Carvel positively identified "Bull" White as being the man who jumped on the car.

The same off-color crowd filled the courtroom yesterday, and it is probable that before the case closes that it may be treated to testimony a trifle more sensational than any that has gone before. Indeed, today one or two interesting witnesses are expected to testify.

KICKED HIM OUT.

ROW IN A JOINT.

Ettore Paggi had Francisco Hernandes arrested for assaulting him with a deadly weapon and he showed a cut under the left arm to prove his words. Yesterday the matter was inquired into by Justice Young.

Paggi is not himself to be numbered among the saints for he runs the notorious Adobe saloon, where fighting and rowing is almost the normal state of affairs. The facts elicited showed that Paggi and Hernandes got into a quarrel, and the former threshed Hernandes pretty well and then ran him out into the street.

Paggi says that after the brawl Hernandez returned and asked for some beer, but someone shouted to him to look out as Hernandez had a knife. He then jumped on the defendant again and went through his pockets and found an open knife. He said that thereupon he cuffed Hernandes freely and again threw him out.

After all of this the landlord thought that his dignity had not been sufficiently sustained, and so he had the man arrested for assault with a deadly weapon. Taking all the facts of the case into consideration, Justice Young thought the ends of justice would be best subserved by dismissing the case.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WHIST CLUB. The Overland Whist Club has incorporated without any capital stock. The directors are H. Burdett, L. Dickeson, J. B. King, T. J. Hancock and E. R. Hancock.

INSURANCE FIRM. The Cornish-Braly Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, of which $10 has been subscribed. The directors are H. L. Cornish, H. H. Braly, F. A. Hines, W. W. Hitchcock and A. H. Braly, all of this city.

MANUFACTURING COMPANY. The American-Mexican Manufacturing Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000,000, of which $700 has been subscribed. The directors are J. H. Gurman, J. R. Taylor, H. Merrill, C. S. Benton, M. McCarthy, Los Angeles; and M. E. Wood, and T. M. Farrand, Pasadena.

TOO MUCH MARRY. George Simpson was a widower and took unto himself a second wife. Mrs. Mary also had been married before but had got a divorce, and changed her name to Simpson in January, 1902, and yesterday the husband was before Judge Conrey getting his divorce. He said that his wife was too fond of wandering. The last time she left home it was in November, 1902. Her father came along with her to know if he was going to turn his wife away without a cent, and Simpson said surely not; that he had never done that to any woman, and thereupon he gave her the choice of $50 or a cow. Mrs. Simpson took the cow, and with the cow disappeared from the life of husband number two.

SPARE THE TREES. Lawrence Needman has brought an injunction suit against J. McCoy to prevent his carrying into execution his threat to cut down a row of cypress trees in front of the plaintiff's premises at Gordon Terrace and Waverly Drive, Pasadena. Needman avers that he values the row of trees at $5000.

WANTS DAMAGES. Adelia S. Young and A. B. Young, have begun suit against the Los Angeles Traction Company to recover $2356 as damages. Mrs. Young avers that owing to the high rate of speed at which the car upon which she was traveling was going, she was thrown to the ground upon turning the curve at Third and Hill streets. She alleges that her arm was broken, and that she suffered other injuries. At that time Mrs. Young was earning $25 a month and her meals, and $282.51 figures in the bill of particulars for meals that she did not consume, and $425 lost to her in wages.

BUGGY WAS SMASHED. John T. Allen is claiming $15,000 from the Los Angeles Railway Company for damages alleged to have been sustained by the carelessness of the defendant. Allen was driving along West Ninth street and at the corner of Alvarado street collided with a car. He was thrown to the ground and broke his left collar bone, had three ribs fractured, and met with other injuries. Now he wants compensation from the company.

REALTY COMPANY. The Realty Trust Company of Los Angeles has incorporated with a capital stock of $250,000, of which $180,000 has been subscribed. The directors are I. W. Phelps, W. M. H. Kiler, L. R. Garrett, C. A. Elder, C. Lloyd, H. L. Martin, J. Cook, W. Rose, E. T. Hickox, A. O. Martin and A. C. Freeman.

PUT UP BOND. Ben Courtright, who was arrested for violation of the liquor ordinance at the Four Mile House on the San Fernando road, was before Justice Young yesterday, and was held in $200 bail to appear on July 6, for pleading.

VERNON MAN HEAVILY FINED IN POLICE COURT.

Unique Method of Handling "Dog Meat" is Brought Out—Man Who "Butted In" and Accused Policeman of Tippling is Also Fined and Sent Home.

A neighborhood row and charges of tippling against an officer were aired in Justice Chambers's court yesterday and during the process a blind pig of goodly proportions was flushed and run to earth in a short time.

The investigation netted the city the sum of $185, which was paid after all of the interested parties had promised to be good in future.

William M. Thayer, an old man who conducts a bicycle repair shop at No. 4425 Central avenue, was arrested Wednesday last by Officer Dales, and when arraigned in court he preferred charges of tippling in the meat market of Jacob Brosch, against the policeman. Trial of the case was suspended, but when it was resumed yesterday the existence of a blind pig in Brosch's place was clearly brought out by a plea of guilty and the payment of a fine of $150 by Brosch.

Officer Dales was in Brosch's place last Wednesday, when a Mrs. Crerar entered to make some purchases. She exhibited a bottle bearing a wine label, but containing coal oil, and Dales and others jokingly asked for a drink. She passed the bottle over and some of the men, including Dales, went through the motion of taking a drink. Their actions were seen by Thayer from the outside, and as the bicycle man "had it in" for his neighbor, the former immediately started a rough house and accused everybody of tippling. Thayer's language was said to have been fierce, and when Dales attempted to quiet him a fight ensued, which was only ended when Dales placed his handcuffs on Thayer and took him to the Police Station.

Dales had been watching Brosch's place for two months and had secured evidence that the latter was in the habit of selling "dog meat," which, when opened, was found to be genuine lager beer. He was arrested yesterday morning and when the cases were called Thayer pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbance, and Brosch acknowledged that he had been supplying his neighbors with liquid refreshments in violation of the liquor ordinance. He stated that he had only done so as an accommodation, however, and that he had made no profit on the goods. As it was Brosch's second offense the heavy fine was imposed.

During the trial it was clearly brought out that Officer Dales was innocent of the charge made by Thayer.

Held to Answer.

J. T. Stewart, the laborer who owned a mint, was examined by Justice Chambers yesterday and held to answer to the Superior Court in the sum of $1500. Stewart is the man who successfully worked a number of saloon men with bogus checks. Dressed in the garb of a laborer, the man had a habit of presenting a check drawn on the Citizens' National Bank for either $15 or $18, and securing a small amount of cash. The checks were signed by A. Edwards or Guy Weddington, but they proved worthless.

Heavily Fined.

F. F. Wilson, a youth who claims to be the son of a wealthy merch at in Kansas City, was fined $120 for petty larceny in Justice Chambers' court yesterday, and in default of payment was sent to jail for 120 days.

Wilson and a young bartender by the name of Nieman, started to Seattle, and in order to catch an early train they took a room together down town. The following morning Nieman missed a watch and $4 in money, which he accused his roommate of taking. Wilson was arrested and acknowledged the theft.

MORGANSTERN SETS THE PACE.

FORMS THE WORLD'S LARGEST VAUDERVILLE CIRCUIT.

Local Manager Returns from the East, Having Forty-two Theaters to His String and an Unparalleled Record of United States Amusement Syndicating.

Alfred J. Morganstern returned yesterday from a month's trip East, during which he organized and perfected the business system of the largest single vaudeville circuit in the world.

The idea of consolidation was Morganstern's own, and he carried it through until, with his own theaters and the merged houses of his associates, his concern has forty-two theaters in actual operation, with a prospect of twenty-one more joining the list in a few weeks.

The new Morganstern syndicate is known as "The United Vaudeville Association," and, besides the local manager, the directorate includes D. J. Graumann of San Francisco, G. L. Adams of Denver, W. R. Gourley of Salt Lake City and A. J. Mory.

The houses of this formidable group of men lie in the principal cities of Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and California. Over twenty more theaters are being negotiated for by Morganstern's agents in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Just before he started on his return Morganstern visited the St. Louis exposition and booked for his houses every novelty act at the fair.

The players will start from Milwaukee and work westward, and by the time they have finished playing all the theaters, making only week stands and missing no time whatsoever, fourteen months will have elapsed. Since they cannot make perfect railway connections and will naturally lose some time on other counts, their actual engagement will extend over a longer space.

The first of the new shows will enter Los Angeles, at the Broadway Theater, July 11, and from that time on no holdovers will be carried on any week's bill.

The looming magnate said yesterday that he had just taken forty acts from one of the greatest circuits in America—a higher-priced syndicate that has always held itself invincible. The acts were attracted by a sixty-two week engagement—which was better, they said, than working for only twelve weeks at much higher prices.

Morganstern has placed agents in New York, Vienna and Paris, whose only business is to look for innovations and book acts which they believe will "draw."

One week from Monday he will open his large new theater in San Bernardino.

YALE WINS THE 'VARSITY.

Loses the Four-oar Race When Almost Won.

Fish Caught Two Crabs and Broke Outrigger.

Forty-two Indictments—Miss Sutton Still Wins.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW LONDON (Ct.) July 1.—Yale won the annual 'Varsity eight-oared race from Harvard today, and crowned the year that has been replete with brilliant athletic achievements. She proved, as she has done many times before, her superiority in everything that goes to make a perfect crew, skill with the oars, seamanship and endurance.

Her victory in the 'varsity race, considered with her grand battle in the four-oared race, which she lost through an accident, when it looked like a walk-over, and the winning of her freshmen eight yesterday in a magnificent struggle, makes it fair to say that Yale outclassed Harvard. The official times of the finish of the three events which now constitute the annual competition, including the freshman race of yesterday, were as follows:

'Varsity eights, four miles: Yale, 20m. 40⅘s.; Harvard, 22m. 10s.; winning distance seven lengths.

NEW LONDON (Ct.) July 1.—The Harvard-Yale regatta was concluded today, and again Yale took the premier event. In the big 'varsity race, the Yale men crossed the line winners by seven lengths. The time was: Yale, 20m. 40⅘s.; Harvard, 22h. 10s.

Throughout the race, the Eli's were never headed, and from the crack of the pistol the result was never in doubt. It was a case of superiority in rowing strength and rowing fundamentals. Within a quarter of a mile from the start, Yale had established herself in a comfortable position, a length ahead. This had been accomplished in spite of the fact that Harvard was rowing fully two more strokes to the minute than Yale. The new Haven oarsmen increased their lead steadily, until 2¼ miles had been traveled. Then their shell suffered from the eel-grass section of the course. Harvard pulled up one length, but when the Yale shell reached clear water again, the superiority of the Blue became more than evident. Gradually the contest became a procession, and Yale's victory was as decisive as the most ardent of her supporters could wish.

Just before the big race, Harvard had snatched an eleventh-hour victory in the four-oared race. In this event, which was rowed up stream from the navy yard to Gale's Ferry, Yale had led throughout, and within a quarter of a mile from the finish was rowing well and was six lengths ahead. At this point, the Yale men seemed to go to pieces. It was not a collapse of oarsmen, however. There was an unfortunate weakness in Yale's rigging, and the outrigger cash was pulling, broke. This precluded all possibility of a Yale victory. Harvard, astern, saw her chance, spurted, and won a victory which was confessedly hollow.

With the results of today's events, Yale carried off the palm of the regatta, having also won the freshman eight-oared race yesterday.

Aside from the races themselves, the feature of the day was a regrettable one. It had to do with the mismanagement in the matter of official arrangements.

WORST WHIPPING IN YEARS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW LONDON, July 1.—For the fourth consecutive year, Yale today won the 'varsity boat race from Harvard. Leading from start to finish, the New Haven crew crossed the line 29⅘s. ahead of Harvard, which, in boating terms, means seven lengths of an eight-oared shell. It was the worst whipping that Yale has given her old rival in recent years.

In 'varsity four-oared race, Sturtevant Fish, Jr., by a mishap which might have happened to any oarsman, just prevented the Eli's from winning all three races of the annual regatta. Six other horses are in the list of entries, the most prominent being the stout three-year-old, Ort Wells, which ran Irish Lad to a head in a sensational finish and record-breaking race for the Advance Stakes, a week ago, and which has also to his credit the Tidal Stakes, in which he beat the fast Delhi.

From the make-up of the field the contest promises to be another such splendid trial of speed and stamina as the big handicaps and the great weight-for-age races have produced with such regularity this season, and with such an attraction a crowd approximating the huge attendance of Suburban day should gather at Sheepshead Bay track, if the weather be at all favorable for a race. The horses should finish: Ort Wells, Irish Lad, Proper.

WATERBOY NOT AMISS.

DISPLAYING ALL HIS VIGOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The suspicion that the great California horse, Waterboy, had gone amiss, engendered by the fact that the champion of 1903 and top weight for the $25,000 Brighton Handicap, to be run July 9, passed his regular work day Thursday without galloping, was dispelled yesterday morning by the appearance of the brown five-year-old in one of Trainer A. J. Joyner's sets, and he did the mile-and-a-quarter gallop in 2:14. The horse showed all the vigor of his best form last season, and was under restraint at every part of the move, which was as even as clockwork.

It lent interest to the gallop that the horsemen who saw the work recalled that Waterboy won the Brighton Handicap and set the world's record for a mile and a quarter, after trial for the race in 2:12. He has a week to round out his preparation, and from all indications now, it is a certainty that he will go to the post for the last of the series of the big spring and early summer handicaps.

Another notable race horse under Joyner's care that attracted a lot of attention was the fleet filly Hamburg Belle, winner of the Futurity of last season, but who has not raced since she struck herself, nearly two months ago. Hamburg Belle was timed for three-quarters of a mile in 1:14.

ST. LOUIS DERBY.

ENGLISH LAD FAVORITE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) July 1.—English Lad, winner of the Chicago Derby, and owned by Fred Cook of St. Louis, will go to the post tomorrow an odds-on favorite in the St. Louis Derby. The track will be fast. Probable odds and jockeys follow:

Moharib, 5 to 2, 125 pounds, Fischer.
Elwood, 15 to 1, 127 pounds, Henry.
Rinaldo, 25 to 1, 115 pounds, C. Gray.
Prince Silver Wings is a doubtful starter.

JEFF GOES HOME.

LATER MAY VISIT CATALINA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With his sturdy shoulders propped up by a pair of crutches Jeffries hobbled out of the Hotel Metropole in Oakland this evening and was helped into a waiting carriage, which took him to the station in time to catch the train for Los Angeles. Jeffries goes to the southern city to visit his father and mother, and there, in their home, he expects his injured knee to grow well and strong again.

A feature of the champion's visit to his parents will be the fact that it will be his first opportunity to introduce Mrs. Jeffries to them. She was the champion's only traveling companion on the journey tonight. His friend and trainer went to his own home in Oakland, relieved for the first time in many months of the responsibility of looking after the big fellow.

Jeffries has made few plans for his Southern visit. He intends to remain with his parents for nearly two weeks, and will then spend a short while at Catalina Island. He expects then to return to Oakland for a few days, before going back to Harbin Springs to begin active work.

WELTERWEIGHT DRAW.

M'CLURE AND FIELDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the end of twenty rounds of fast fighting the contest tonight between Frank Fields of Oxnard and Mike McClure of San Francisco was declared a draw by Referee Charles Brumitt. The contest was for the welterweight championship of the Pacific Coast, and was by far the best ever witnessed in this city. In the early stages of the bout Fields had the best of the milling but could not land effectively. In only one round was McClure in any danger. The right swings to the jaw dazed him, but at this time the gong rang.

In the last six rounds Fields missed many leads, and his blows lacked steam. He tired perceptibly, although he fought strong in the twentieth and last round. McClure finished almost as strong as when he started, and seemed fit to battle for another twenty rounds. Throughout the battle McClure was mostly on the aggressive, but to offset this Fields landed nearly three blows to his one.

The Oxnard boy used a left jab, followed by a right swing almost continuously, and it was some time before McClure could guard these effectively. McClure had Fields in a bad way several times toward the close of the fight, but the latter quickly recuperated. Neither man scored a knock-down and no blood was drawn. The decision of the referee was well received by the fair crowd present.

Billy Decoursey and Billy Brown sparred a four-round preliminary, the decision being a draw.

FORTY-TWO INDICTMENTS.

BUSY TIME AT HAWTHORNE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, July 1.—The grand jury today voted indictments against forty-two persons alleged to have been taking wagers at the Hawthorne race track. As a result of this action, Sheriff Barrett, who has refused to proceed against the bookmakers unless warrants were issued for their arrest, will be compelled to serve capiases and to take the accused persons in custody, or compel them to furnish bonds for their appearance in the criminal court.

The bills voted against the bookmakers are under a section of the law which has hitherto been ignored in the prosecution of race-track gambling in Chicago. In the past, indictements have always alleged that the accused persons were inmates of a gambling-house. Convictions under that section have been impossible, so today's indictments charge the bookmakers with keeping gambling apparatus.

Among those who were indicted are such well-known bookmakers as Fred Cook, Sam Summerfield, Steve L'Hommedieu, Marcus A. Cartwright, William Applegate and John Cella.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

VICTORIES FOR ANDERSON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) July 1.—Willie Anderson, the golf expert of Apawamis, N. Y., holds both national and western open championship titles, because, in an exciting finish of the western event at the Kent County Club links, this afternoon, Anderson gained the western title from the holder. Alexander Smith of Nassau totaled 304 for the 72-hole competition, and reduced the course record to 72. Smith had to be satisfied with 308 and runner-up honors.

Twenty-eight professionals and four amateurs began the tournament, and twenty remained to finish the two days' journey.

The amateurs remained to the end in the contest for the gold and silver medals.

B. P. McKinney of St. Louis carried off the former, with a total of 348, while George F. Clingman, Jr., of Homewood, won the other silver medal, with a score of 370.

WOMEN'S TENNIS SINGLES.

WON BY MISS SUTTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ORANGE (N. J.) July 1.—Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, Cal., won the final match and the women's singles today, defeating Miss H. Homans by a love score, 6-0, 6-0. Miss Sutton will meet Miss C. B. Neely of Chicago tomorrow in the challenge match for the championship, which Miss Neely won last year.

THREE-CUSHION MATCH.

Sallady beat Milsap last night at Morley's rooms in a game of the three-cushion amateur tournament, the score being 35 to 30, Sallady's average being 41-100. Each man had a high run of three, and the game was close and exciting all the way through. The result ties Sallady and Milsap for first money, and next Tuesday night they will play off the tie to decide first money and the amateur championship.

Merrill and Miller are tied for third money, and they will play their deciding game on Tuesday night.

PRIZE FIGHT IN TWO WEEKS.

DAVE BARRY AND HARRY FOLEY FOR FIRST BATTLE.

Both Men Have Shown Their Class in Numerous Scraps, Barry Having Won Twelve Mills in Honolulu. Two Good Preliminaries Will Precede the Main Event.

Dave Barry and Harry Foley will furnish the first fight for the Century Athletic Club of this city after its vacation of a year. They will meet on Tuesday, July 19, two weeks from next Tuesday, in Hazard's Pavilion.

Manager McCarey has been trying to get this match for some days, and in fact, ever since he realized that Hanlon and McGovern thought they were worth more than a guaranteed purse of $5000. Sol Levison, who is Barry's manager, was in this city yesterday and before he left for Catalina assured McCarey that the match was as good as made, and that the fighters could be secured.

This will be interesting news to the sports who have been anxious for a fight for months. Both men are well-known middleweights. Both have won from Billy Woods on fouls and both have beaten all kinds of good fighters during the past three years. Barry has just returned from Honolulu, where he won a dozen fights, and although Foley has beaten him twice, he proposes to reverse all those decisions this time. Foley came back from the East this week and made a fairly good showing there, although he was not in the best of health. While he was gone he fought George Cole of Boston a draw, and that is going some itself, for Cole is a hard nut to crack.

Barry and Foley will probably fight here at catch weights, or at least at 160 pounds, although either of them can make the middleweight limit. It is more than likely that as the Glorious Fourth intervenes and the fight is so close at hand, both men will do their training around San Francisco and come here to taper off.

McCarey has not arranged any preliminaries as yet, but promises the best he can get.

LACROSSE.

LAST PRACTICE TONIGHT.

The members of the Los Angeles La Crosse Team will have their final practice this evening for the big game on Monday with the San Mateo team for the State championship, as the players will rest tomorrow. No risks will be taken, for the northern team is composed of the best players in San Francisco and vicinity.

Joe Brennan had a painful accident during the scrimmage last evening, someone jumping on one of his fingers and tearing the nail off, but he says he will play in Monday's game. Pierce and Mackenzie went into the air after the ball at the same time yesterday and both landed on their backs and received various bruises. Aside from these minor accidents the local men are in good shape and even money is bet now that they will win, a $100 wager having been laid yesterday by a local real estate man. No odds on San Mateo are offered, as the local players have taken all even bets so far and will do so.

CITY LEAGUE BALL.

TWO DOUBLE-HEAD GAMES.

The City League teams will spread-eagle themselves the next few days owing to the prevalence of firecrackers, resounding orations and strenuosity generally by furnishing hydra-headed semi-professional baseball for two days in succession at Chutes Park. A glance at the line-up will show a number of new faces, there being two in the Hamburger team alone.

In the double-header tomorrow, the first game, which will begin at 1:30 o'clock, will be between the Hamburgers and the Woodmen, and in the second game the Owls and the Tufts-Lyon teams will meet. Harry Lelande will be the umpire. In the Monday games the Tufts-Lyon and Woodmen teams will play, and the Hamburgers and the Owls. Ladies will be admitted free on both days to grounds and grand stand.

BICYCLING.

SANTA MONICA ROAD RACE.

The Cycle Board of Trade of this city has finally decided to have the Santa Monica road race on Sunday, July 31. The usual big entry list is assured, for this is the only event of the year where the wheelmen have a chance to show what they can do. Many of them have been in practice several weeks, and there will be enough valuable prizes to make any of them do their best to win. A number of new racing wheels have been ordered to be used in the race.

WAR BULLETINS FROM MANY POINTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] There was considerable rejoicing in the Russian capital today at today's reports from the theater of war. From the headquarters at Mukden came the positive statement, made apparently on direct news from Port Arthur, and probably brought by the torpedo boat Lieut. Burukoff to Newchwang, that none of the big Russian warships sustained any damage during the Japanese torpedo boat attack of June 23 and June 24. Also came the report that the Japanese have lost a thousand men in a land fight before Port Arthur.

From Liao Yang came two separate reports that Maj.-Gen. Mistchenko had dealt the Japanese advance from Siu Yen a severe blow by recapturing Dalin Pass, which was lost June 27. One of the reports, dated yesterday, says Gen. Mistchenko has been inflicting loss upon the Japanese for several days, capturing three guns and an ammunition train. Not any of these reports are official.

The statement of a war correspondent that a Russian official told him he would rather fall a victim to Japanese bullets than to Jew surgeons had created considerable indignation here, the Novosti denouncing it as a vile and gratuitous calumny, citing the exploits of two Jew surgeons, Drs. Bouseff and Behraman, who, according to official reports, bandaged 600 wounded men on the field of battle, and the case of Dr. Banyash, who refused to leave the field, although under a hail of bullets.

Testimony from all sources at the front shows that the rainy season has set in in Southern Manchuria, which may bring the military operations to an abrupt close with a general engagement.

FEELING LYDDITE SHELLS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, Thursday, June 30.—[Delayed in Transmission.] A Japanese army is reported to be within thirty-five miles of Liao Yang, Southeast of Haicheng on the Siu Yen road, the Japanese have withdrawn from the positions from which they recently drove the Russians after five days' continuous fighting. Gen. Mistchenko reports that his cavalry has been experiencing the effects of lyddite shells from the Japanese naval guns, which the latter are now employing in the field.

REAL RAINY SEASON BEGINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, July 1.—The Chinese say the real rainy season has begun. The roads in some places are absolutely impassable. During the march of one division, a man was drowned and many others barely escaped a like fate. A number of horses were lost in the swollen streams. Frequent railroad washouts have increased the difficulty of transportation. However, a decisive battle is still regarded as possible within the next few days in the northeast region, between Haicheng and Kai Chou, where the armies of Gens. Kuroki and Oku have concentrated.

The Japanese have retired from Dalin Pass, and are moving in a northeasterly direction on the Liao Yang road. They have appeared in great force at Fen Shui and Motien passes outflanking the Russian positions. The Russian eastern divisions continue to retire before superior numbers, but are keeping in close touch with the enemy. It is considered probable that the combined armies of Kuroki and Oku will concentrate at Haicheng or Kaichou and await the end of the rainy season. It soon will be impossible to send troops through the passes from the mountains into the valleys.

MILITARY CRITIC'S VIEWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1, 8:30 a.m.—The military critic of the Russ, who is usually well informed, strongly opposes the idea of a big battle before the end of the rainy season. He expresses the opinion that the Japanese only wish now to assure possession of the Liao Tung Peninsula, and that the present objective is to capture Kaichou, which would compel the evacuation of Newchwang and permit landings on the west coast.

The critic considers the movements of the Japanese northward across the Feng Shui range as being simply a diversion to facilitate the taking of Kaichou, and he declares that Kaichou will not be surrendered without a fight. But, he adds, it will not have a decisive character. The critic further predicts that Gen. Kouropatkin will adhere to his plan to withdraw northward to his main position at Liao Yang, and await the end of the rainy season. He seems to assume the success of the Japanese plan of a combination of the First and Third Japanese armies and the isolation of the peninsula.

VLADIVOSTOK SQUADRON SAFE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, July 1. 9:08 p.m.—Admiral Skrydloff, according to a dispatch from St. Petersburg to a news agency here, reports that the Vladivostok squadron has returned to Vladivostok undamaged. The admiral confirms the bombardment of Gensan.

AS LIAO YANG HEARS IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LIAO YANG, Thursday, June 30.—[Delayed in Transmission.] Russian advices from Port Arthur say that the Russian Port Arthur squadron, consisting of eleven ships, attacked the Japanese squadron of eighteen ships, June 23, sinking four of the Japanese torpedo boats and inflicting damage on the other vessels. The Russian ships returned to Port Arthur. Not a single large vessel, it is added, was damaged.

In the evening of June 26, fifteen miles from Port Arthur, two Japanese regiments, the advices further say, were ambushed by a company of Russian infantry, who allowed the Japanese to approach within 300 yards. The Japanese attacked three times, getting to within 60 yards of the Russians, but each time they were repulsed. Later, being reinforced by two other regiments, the Japanese compelled the Russians to fall back to their fortifications. The total Japanese loss was a thousand men. The Russian loss at Dalin Pass June 27 was eighty men killed. The Japanese losses were heavier.

EXPLOSION ON THE DELFIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—After the submarine boat Delfin, which sank at her moorings in the Neva, off the Baltic ship-building yard, Wednesday morning, causing a loss of an officer and twenty men, had been raised, an officer and three sailors approached the manhole, and while they were pumping for the purpose of ascertaining if all the water had been removed, another explosion occurred. The officer and sailors were injured but are now out of danger. The explosion, while somewhat a mystery is generally attributed to the generation of gas and as the result of the flooding of the accumulators.

FRAGMENTS ABOUT FIGHTING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 1.—The sum total of the special dispatches from the Far East appearing in this morning's newspapers is a number of fragmentary accounts of the fighting at Dalin which do not contain any further information than did the official dispatch already given out.

It is stated that 36,000 Japanese were engaged in the first day's fighting. The attacking force is said to consist of detachments from both Gen. Kuroki's and Gen. Oku's armies.

CHINESE FURNISH NEWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEFOO, July 1, 7 p.m.—A party of Russians and Chinese arrived here today by junk, direct from Port Arthur, having left there yesterday. They report that for several days shells from both land and sea have been falling in the town, but doing little damage.

The Russians, who resisted the advance of the Japanese, suffered severely. Many dead and wounded men have been brought to Port Arthur. The hospital there is overcrowded. It is difficult to obtain correct information in regard to the condition of the fleet. The Russians maintain that it is intact, with the exception of the battleship Sevastopol which is being repaired.

A Chinaman who left Port Arthur last night, and who has arrived here, says there are only four Russian warships, cruisers and battleships in the harbor, and none outside. The opinion prevails that the faster ships succeeded in eluding the five Japanese warships maintaining the blockade. The Chinese confirm the previous reports that a large ship is ashore southeast of the Liao Ti Shan promontory.

SMALL COLLEGE BEST.

President Gates of Pomona Tells Why the University is Not the Place to Get Culture.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—The National Educational Association ended its convention today. The final general session was opened with prayer by Rabbi Leon Harrison of St. Louis. Cardinal Satolli soon after entered the hall and the audience arose en masse when he was introduced and he was given an ovation. Cardinal Satolli made a brief speech, in which he expressed his pleasure at being present. The Cardinal remained with the convention only a few minutes.

George A. Gates, president of Pomona College, Claremont, Cal., made an address on "The Place of the Small College." President Gates spoke in part as follows:

"In these present years a counter-reaction is setting in in the minds of American educators toward the small colleges. There is reason for it. The great universities will grow more and more. The detached college is not being outgrown or being supplanted. On the contrary, the best of these are growing at a rapid rate.

"The distinguishing features of a college, as contrasted with the university, are too valuable to lose from American life. The college at its best is far less exposed to the tendency to foster a narrowly specialized efficiency at the expense of broad and liberalized culture. American education will not ultimately yield to that subtly-fatal temptation. It is just at this point that the American college has found and will retain its own great place.

"The single 'small college' must not be so small and poor as to be mean. It must be large enough for the 'college spirit' and yet small enough that this spirit be not impossible through the fact that the men cannot know each other. The touch between institution and student of intimate personal relation is a never-to-be-forgotten chief factor. Personality is the ultimate fact of education, as of all philosophy and life. Some sort of initiative and leadership, escapable amid larger numbers, is forced upon most students in college. These activities are an invaluable training for the wider world.

"The statistics abundantly show a far larger proportion of graduates of smaller colleges 'doing well' than of larger institutions. A Harvard man has recently shown that this is strikingly true of his own college, comparing Harvard, the 'small college' before 1860, with Harvard 'university' since that time. In the cities of the Pacific Coast effort has several times been made to organize the considerable number of graduates of one strong Eastern university into an alumni association. The effort has as often failed. Loyalty and college spirit is wanting. The men never knew each other or of each other."

The concluding address was delivered by Aaron Gove, superintendent of schools of Denver, on "The Limitations of the Superintendent's Authority and of the Teacher's Independence."

The convention then took a recess until late in the day, when the final session, designated as vesper meeting, concluded the forty-third annual assembly.

MAKING THE FAIR PAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—The Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company today paid into the United States subtreasury here the sum of $212,092.15 as the second installment in repayment of $4,000,000 loaned by the government. This payment represents 40 per cent. of the total admission royalties covering the period from June 15 to and including June 30, as required under the act of Congress authorizing the loan.

Cardinal Satolli made an official call at the different pavilions at the fair grounds today. He was accompanied by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis and both wore their brilliant state regalia. They were escorted by a committee of which Adelbert Stribral, Austrian Commissioner General of the fair was chairman. At all the State buildings they were received in state and remained about 20 minutes at each place.

It is learned that an attempt has been made to wreck the great organ, the largest in the world, in Festival Hall, by cutting the secondary bellows. This will not affect the working of the organ, which can be operated with the primary bellows. As a result of this attempt of vandalism, the company building the organ, which is only partially finished, will hereafter exclude from the stage all except those employed in the construction of the instrument.

BUSINESS.

Shorts were good buyers late in the day, at Chicago, and a moderately firm tone prevailed at the close. Final figures on September option were 81½@81¼, a net loss of 1½ for the day. The week just closing has been one of the dullest in the stock market in many years. Outside of some excited speculation in Metropolitan Traction the market yesterday continued lethargic. Time money was Slightly firmer.

DEMOCRATS ALL AT SEA.

With the Democratic National Convention only a few days away, the leaders of the party are all at sea as to the nominations, and no one can predict with anything approximating certainty what will be the outcome of the convention. About the only thing that appears at all certain is that there will be a big scrimmage in the convention, with the probability that a great deal of bad blood will be engendered—and heaven knows that there is bad blood enough flowing around "promiscuous-like" in the party already.

Our esteemed opponents are referring with a badly-simulated pretense of disdain to the harmony that characterized the work of the Republican convention which placed Roosevelt and Fairbanks in nomination. With feigned contemptuousness they declare that everything was "cut and dried" before the convention met, that the delegates had nothing to do but to go through the "empty formality" of voting for candidates named beforehand, that there was no enthusiasm, etc., etc. But just the same, our Democratic friends would give a great deal if the work of their own national convention was "cut and dried" to the same extent as was that of the Republican convention. They would make any sacrifice, in reason, to secure the same degree of harmony in their ranks as prevails in the ranks of the Republican party, if such a consummation were possible—which it certainly is not at the present juncture.

One of the numerous recent surprises is the coming out of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, for Grover Cleveland. There is nothing half-hearted about Mr. Murphy's indorsement of the ex-President. He expresses the opinion freely, and even enthusiastically, that Mr. Cleveland is the only candidate who can lead the Democratic hosts to victory in the coming campaign, and declares that "Judge Parker is a good man, a worthy man, but we cannot win with Judge Parker." This is an opinion in which all Republicans can freely concur, so far as the inability of Judge Parker to win is concerned, although they will hardly be able to share Mr. Murphy's enthusiasm in regard to Mr. Cleveland. However, if it be true, as Mr. Murphy declares, that the Tammany delegation is going to St. Louis to boom Mr. Cleveland from start to finish, notwithstanding the instruction of the entire New York delegation for Judge Parker, the nomination of the ex-President is certainly not to be regarded as an impossible contingency.

The New York Press goes on record with the prediction that Judge Parker will be the nominee of the St. Louis convention. W. T. Manning, the personal representative of Judge Parker, confidently makes the same prediction. He declares that on the first ballot Judge Parker will have 480 votes, and that enough States will ask for a recall of the roll to give him the necessary two-thirds, thus nominating him on the first ballot. In all probability Mr. Manning is much more sanguine than the facts of the case warrant. It is clear, as matters stand, that Judge Parker will lead all other candidates on the first ballot, but it is not so clear that his lead will be so great as to swing a two-thirds vote to his standard in the early stages of the convention. It is often to a candidate's disadvantage to have too strong a lead in the convention, unless he have sufficient lead to insure the nomination. "The field" is quite likely to line up against the leader, and to stay lined up until the situation becomes a deadlock, to be broken only by the entrance of some dark equine into the running. It must be confessed, however, that Judge Parker's chances of securing the nomination, all things considered, seem very much better than those of any other candidate whose name has been prominently mentioned.

Hearst has practically given up the fight, having become convinced that he has not the ghost of a chance of being nominated. He has announced that he will support Cleveland if the latter should be nominated, but it is not apparent that this announcement will operate as a very strong inducement for the convention to place the standard in the hands of the Lone Fisherman of Buzzard's Bay. As to Hearst, there has never been a time since his impossible candidacy was first announced when he had the slightest chance of securing the Democratic nomination; and of course, if he had had such a chance, he could not have been elected under any conceivable circumstances.

There is more or less speculation as to what Bryan will or will not do in case the Democratic convention refuses to bow down to his dictation. Some people seem to regard it as a matter of considerable consequence whether Bryan bolts the convention or abides by its action. The latest view (not authoritative, however,) is that he will abide by the convention's action except in the one contingency that his old friend Grover receives the nomination, but that he positively draws the line at Grover. Possibly this is one of the reasons for Mr. Murphy's enthusiastic support of the ex-President.

GAME BIRD IMPORTATION.

Under the Act of May 25, 1900, commonly known as the Lacey Act, the Department of Agriculture was authorized to issue permits for the importation of foreign birds; and by the Act of June 3, 1902, the prohibition of the entry of eggs, which had existed since August, 1894, was modified so that eggs of game birds for propagation could be imported under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture. One of the latest bulletins of the Department of Agriculture gives the most important of the data accumulated during the years since the Lacey Act went into effect, and is of interest and service to importers, sportsmen, farmers and others.

Imported game birds belong to comparatively few groups, which may be described in general terms as pheasants, quail, partridges, waterfowl and miscellaneous birds. Since the passage of the Lacey Act there have been imported into the United States, as shown by the record of permits, a total of 23,178 foreign game birds, of which 3866 were pheasants, 16,609 quail, 753 partridges, 1473 ducks and geese, and 477 miscellaneous birds.

Pheasants come chiefly from Canada and Belgium, some from England, China and Japan; quail from China almost exclusively; partridges from Germany, and some from England; ducks and geese from Belgium and Germany, a few from China and Japan.

It is interesting to note what becomes of these imported game birds. The 16,609 quail were shipped from Hongkong to San Francisco, and probably few of them ever left the California metropolis, but were used for restaurant purposes. Nearly a third of the 7000 other birds were brought in for sale by wholesale dealers or by pheasantries, and their ultimate destination is unknown. Many were imported for exhibition at sportsmen's shows, and the partridges were brought in mainly for liberation in different States, principally in Oregon, Mississippi and North Carolina. Waterfowl are usually kept in private grounds or public parks, and few are liberated. About three-fourths of all the pheasants imported are consigned to points east of the Mississippi and north of Tennessee and North Carolina. Only about 500 were consigned to points west of the Mississippi or in the South, and these were largely confined to California, Missouri, North Carolina and Texas.

Although game birds have been introduced under State auspices in nine States and at least one Province of Canada, and protected by law, the transplanting experiments have not been an unqualified success. Experiments in propagation and in the importation of eggs have also been made by several States, but with meager success. As a result several of the States interested in the work have discontinued the experiments. Three important factors—migratory habits, cost and inadequate protection—enter in to make the acclimatization of foreign game birds a difficult matter. Practically no success has been met with in the case of migratory species, and the problem of proper food and cover has restricted the success of the attempts with resident species. It is expensive business, also, particularly in the light of the small returns on the investment. It has been almost impossible to secure proper protective legislation, it being difficult to make the necessary closed season for certain imported species without making the same closed season for all species and thus unnecessarily restricting the killing of all that kind of game for the sake of protecting a very few birds. It is obvious that such legislation would meet with strenuous and successful opposition.

In only one instance has there been any degree of success in the propagation of foreign game birds in America. In the case of pheasants, their introduction has progressed so far that the prospects for success in a given locality can be predicted with reasonable accuracy; but in the case of all other birds, the matter is still in an experimental stage. It is not likely that there will be any extensive State support for this sort of enterprise in the future, and it will probably be compelled to depend upon private endeavor. While the results thus far achieved are not entirely satisfactory, enough has been learned to demonstrate that with coöperation, with more attention paid to the requirements of food and cover, and with proper legislative protection the importation of foreign game birds may in time be made a success.

WHAT THE DIRECTORY SHOWS

The Los Angeles City Directory for 1904, published by the Los Angeles City Directory Company, has just made its appearance. It is a bulky volume. A pile of old city directories is a good index to the growth of a city. Look at those of Los Angeles, arranged on a shelf. During the past twenty years they have increased in size from a little volume less than an inch in thickness to the present, which measures four and a half inches in depth, although the thinnest possible paper has been used. In one way, a directory fails to show how rapidly a city is growing, because, as it increases in bulk, smaller type is used. For instance, this year, although the directory contains only about a hundred pages more than last year—2174 pages altogether—the type being considerably smaller, there is much more matter in the volume than there was a year ago.

One feature of the modern city directory is that it furnishes an unofficial census of the population. This census, though unofficial, is in some respects more reliable than the census taken by the Federal government, and for this reason: The government pays canvassers so much a name. Now, it is evident that a man can earn much more in a thickly settled section that he can in one where it is a "long time between drinks," just as a person can make much more money picking berries in a heavily loaded patch than where they are few and far between. On the other hand, the directory company pays its canvassers by the day, so that there is no temptation for them to shirk their work. It also has a system of going over the ground again, for the purpose of checking. The census taken by the Directory Company this year shows Los Angeles to contain a population of 152,435. This is somewhat less than the estimate recently based on the school census, but then a calculation based on the number of school children in a city is more or less guess work. Therefore, the directory census may be regarded as the most reliable before the public. It should be added, for the benefit of carping critics, in Northern California and elsewhere, that in this census transient visitors have not been included. As it is several months since it was taken, it is conservative to estimate that the population of Los Angeles, on the 30th day of June, was at least 155,000. The estimate of the Directory Company shows an increase in the four years since the Federal census was taken of almost exactly 50,000—from 102,479 to 152,435. Truly, a most wonderful growth. During the past four years Los Angeles has added to its population as many people as the city contained in 1890, only fourteen years ago, and nearly five times as many as the total population of the city in 1880. Should the rate of growth of the past four years be maintained for the next six years—and there is every reason to believe that it will be, for the growth is solid, as shown by the building operations and many other signs—the population of Los Angeles, when the next census is taken, in 1910, will be in the neighborhood of 285,000.

Attorneys, 434; barbers, 300; brokers, 135; carpenters, 220; cigars and tobacco, 210; contractors, 959; dentists, 165; dressmakers, 280; furnished rooms, 770; grocers, 560; insurance agents, 363; meat markets, 165; mines, mining, etc., 330; nurses, 280; painters, 363; physicians, 434; real estate agents, 396; restaurants, 219; saloons, 200; shoes, 184; tailors, 186; music teachers, 248.

In regard to the frequency of common names, there are twenty-six pages of Smiths, eight pages of Browns and five pages of Joneses.

A most surprising showing, giving evidence of the great activity in building and other improvements, is the great number of contractors, of whom there are almost a thousand, engaged in putting up buildings, grading streets, laying sidewalks and doing other things that go to make a modern city. It will be noticed that, by a curious coincidence, there are just the same number of lawyers and doctors—plenty, it would seem, to care for the body and the worldly possessions of 150,000 people.

A city directory, which is scattered all over the country, and to some extent in foreign lands, serves as a first-class advertisement for a place, if it makes a good showing. In this respect, the Los Angeles directory is at the head of the class, like so many other Los Angeles things. Remarkable to say, this directory contains far more advertising than any other city directory in the world—from three to ten times as much as the directories of other American cities, including New York and Chicago, Boston probably coming next. So in this, as in automobiles and churches, and billiard tables and telephones, and many other things, Los Angeles leads the world. Truly, a wonderful city is this.

The New York Press declares that "hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of Democrats would like to vote with their party if their consciences would permit." The only logical deduction is that this vast number of persons must leave conscience at home when they go to the polls if the great Democratic party is to continue in existence.

It is hereby officially announced that [Parker, Cleveland, Gray, McClellan, Gorman, Harmon, Bryan, Folk] will be nominated for President by the Democrats at the St. Louis convention. This information is given in order that all good Democrats may climb into the band wagon before it passes inside the tent and the show begins.

An unhappy woman in Judge Conrey's court asks: "Why did I marry him?" Madam, that question has been asked thousands of times in the past, and will probably continue to vex the human mind until the crack of doom. It is, however, varied at times by the substitution of "her" for "him."

It is proverbial, however, that the southerners prefer to name their own Swallow; and heretofore it hasn't been diluted. Consequently the Prohibitionists need not expect to poll any amazingly large vote in the Sunny South.

"Hearst looks older and sadder," the dispatches tell us. Doubtless he also appreciates the truth of the familiar saying to the effect that a fool and his money do not jog along together for any great length of time.

Tammany's continuous-vaudeville "unmasking" stunt continues to occupy the center of the stage; but the quick ear will detect above the noise of the orchestra the familiar sound as of sharpening of knives.

When Dowie returned to Zion City the entire population "spent two minutes in silent devotion." This is believed to establish a new record for the duration of Zionist silence.

In returning home just when events in the Far East are most important, Jack London has merely answered the "call of the wild," as sounded in divers and sundry paragraphs of Mrs. London's divorce petition.

Jack London, war correspondent, has returned from the exciting scenes in the Far East. It is understood there are some little domestic matters which require his personal attention at this time.

Under the circumstances, it is not difficult to understand why Mr. Cleveland is running a private wire to his summer residence. Moreover, it will be in working order by July 6.

Leader Murphy of Tammany Hall says that organization is for Cleveland. This is rather discouraging for the Lone Fisherman's friends.

Dispatches from New York say that Hearst "looks as if something had happened to him." In this case appearances are not deceitful.

Although the ladies in the rival Second-street barber shops are cutting each other right and left, there is no need for police interference.

"Opinion of Russky Invalid," the headlines say. Which, being translated, means that if you see it in the Russky it isn't so.

Los Angeles depends upon the Looloos to see to it that the northerners do not Tacoma pennant at the end of the season.

It now seems morally certain that there will be a large number of "also rans" when the St. Louis convention adjourns.

Hearst is at last convinced that Hearst is whipped. But the fact is now ancient history to the public at large.

Be brave, good people. All this bewildering political guessing will be over a week from today, probably.

The Vladivostok squadron appears to be about as elusive as the proverbial sea serpent.

Just to make sure that you do not forget it Monday, suppose you hoist the Stars and Stripes today.

However, the Prohibitionists want it distinctly understood that it is a pure-water Swallow.

The approaching marriage of Pugilist Munroe is announced, but with a qualification. He is waiting until after his fight with Jeffries, as he expects to be in better financial circumstances at that time. However, the prospective bride is advised to postpone the purchasing of the trousseau until after the Munroe-Jeffries fight.

It is obvious that Mr. Murphy did not consult Mr. Bryan.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

[Answers to legitimate questions in mineralogy, metallurgy, chemistry or mining will be given here, but only when of interest to the mining or commercial world. Personal questions, ores, minerals, earths or metals of non-commercial value, and assays for metal, will not be answered, but should be referred direct to analysts and assayers. Address The Times.]

Value of Manganite.

PALOMAS (Ariz.) June 1, '04.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have a body of "manganite" in the mine here, it carries gold values. Would you please inform me if it has a commercial calue, an dalso, where I could dispose of same? Resp'y yours,
P. F.

ANSWER. Manganite is a dioxide of mangnese with hydrogen. Density 4.3; color dark steel gray or iron black. The streak is brown red. Hardness 4.25. Brittle. Ortho-rhombic crystal with massive structure. Perfect cleavage. Infusible before the blowpipe. In closed tube yields water. With borax or microcosmic salt an amethysine bead. Acted upon with hydrochloric acid chlorine is generated, which is easily detected by the sense of smell. It should be free from phosphous or other deletereous admixture. Manganese ore is found chiefly as dioxide and is widely disseminated, it is used with potassium chlorate in the manufacture of oxygen, also in the decomposition of hydrochloric acid in chlorine establishments, immense quantities of it are used in the Bessemer steel works in the production of spiegeleisen. For producing colorless glass from materials that contain iron, in the formation of maganates and son on. In 1902 California produced 870 tons of manganese ores which brought in the open market $7140 or at the rate of about $8.20 per ton ore. The gold in your manganite is not considered. Your ore has a commercial value provided it averages over 45 per cent. manganese, the facts of haul to the railroad, freight charges, mining, etc., must be taken into consideration when figuring as to profits on a basis of $15 per ton, f.o.b Chicago, New York, or at steel works for about 50 per cent manganese. It is doubtful whether or not you can, at a profit, dispose of your ore for reasons cited. Address Messrs. Jones & Laughlin, Pittsburgh, Pa., on the subject. Your letter was delayed in transmission.

Not a Promoter.

LOS ANGELES, June 26, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We are directly interested in some "Wolframite" claims in the Dragoon Mountains, Cochise county, Ariz., and if you will put us in direct correspondence with your enquirer "A. L. K.," San Francisco, will remember that we got the information from you, if a sale should be made. Yours truly,

ANSWER. The Times will not act as agena for anyone in the sale of ores or mines.

Parkes Process.

MILFORD (Utah) June 15, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you give that part of lead metallurgy known as "Parkes process."
Yours truly, A. C. J.

ANSWER. The crude lead from smelters is called base bullion and must be treated for separation of the different metals in it, this can be only briefly described. The bullion is heated on the hearth of a reverberatory furnace and stirred thoroughly to bring every part in contact with air. This suffices to oxydize several metals which may be present in small amount and separate them as a dross which may be removed by skimming. Antimony, copper and arsenic are so separated by the Parkes process. The metal is melted in large iron pots and a small amount of zinc, 1 to 2 per cent., by weight, is added and thoroughly incorporated by stirring. Zinc combines readily with gold and silver, but only in limited prooportion with lead. The zinc therefore separates, comes to the surface, carrying with it the precious metals. Then the whole mass is allowed to cool slowly and the zinc alloy on the surface begins to solidify first. It is skimmed off with a perforated ladle and transferred to a separate vessel. To the residue of lead more zinc may be added, a second and third time if necessary, which is determined by the richness in silver of the original bullion, the main portion of which is lead, of course. A very little of the zinc remains with the lead, while the other metals are practically all removed by heating to a high temperature, as sink volatizes readily. It remains to separate the precious metals. To this end the zinc alloy is heated in graphite crucibles or retorts to such a temperature that the zinc distils out almost completely and is condensed for use again. The residue contains lead with the precious metals and the former is eliminated by oxidation in a current of hot air, the lead being converted into litharge, a little which is absorbed by the hearth of the cupel furnace in which the oxidation is conducted, the most being floated off as a molten slag from the top of the heavier metal. This litharge is later reduced to lead. The metal now remaining consists of silver mainly, with a little gold, and possibly traces of other metals. It has been recently discovered that a minute amount of aluminum added with the zinc in this process aids materially in the separation in the silpver and gold from the lead."

Bishop Potter's Story.

A. C. Whelock, of New York, who is at the Galt House, told a story last night which he says Bishop Potter tells on himself. Before the prelate became Episcopal Bishop of New York he had a commnuciant from the country who used to come in every two or three weeks to attend services. He always especially enjoyed the sermons and often waited for the minister after church to tell him about it. One day he met Bishop (then Dr.) Potter, and his face was fairly beaming.

"Every time I come to town and listen to one o' your fine sermons I learn somethin' I never knew before," he said. "For instance, I never knew till I heard you preach about it this morning that Sodom and Gomorrah wasn't a man and his wife."—[Louisville Herald.

IS THERE OIL IN DAMSITE?

PETROLEUM INDICATIONS AT THE TONTO WORK.

Strong Smell of the Stuff Where Excavation Has Been Done in the Sluicing Tunnel — Hot Weather Won't Stop Celebration of the Fourth.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 29.—Locally, there is considerable curiosity to learn more about oil indications at the Tonto storage basin. For a month or so reports have been current that all the rocks in the vicinity of the proposed dam smell of crude petroleum when opened up to any appreciable depth. One company has been organized for exploration purposes though nothing much has been accomplished yet. A man came from the dam site a day or two ago who reports that oil indications are very marked in the sluicing tunnel, which is a tunnel being cut through the solid rock at one end of the dam site, designed to carry the river flow during the construction of the dam and also to be used after the completion of the work as the outlet for the stored waters. This tunnel is in considerably over a hundred feet and it is said the smell of oil within it is almost nauseating. A few days ago a workman secured a tomato can half full of oil very similar to that used for fuel. So far as known the government engineers have made no investigations, but if these indications continue it is reasonable to suppose they will do so. The freighting in of fuel oil for the running of machinery to be used in the making of cement and in dam construction is one of the big items of expense in building the dam and if oil can be developed there it is not unreasonable to presume that the cost of dam building would be materially lessened.

WILL CELEBRATE.

Owing to the extreme hot weather prevalent in Arizona in July, the celebration of the Fourth in the central and southern parts has until late years been less generally observed than most other holidays, though there has been no lack of patriotism. This year nearly every town in the territory of consequence is arranging some sort of a celebration. Phoenix is preparing for a proper recognition by fireworks, a tournament of cowboy and athletic sports, etc. Special excursion rates to this city will prevail over all railroads.

Phoenix has a very good baseball team that has proved invincible to the assaults of all teams in Central Arizona and recently defeated the Prescott team. But it has more than found its match in the Iron King team, which on Sunday last for the second time administered a decided defeat. Iron King is a mining camp not far from Prescott. The superintendent is a baseball enthusiast and keeps in touch with league players. Whenever one is located who needs a job he gets it at Iron King, providing he is a good ball player and willing to learn how to be a miner. And it may be said that the kind of ball played at Iron Springs commands the respect of the enemy. Incidentally the mine is being successfully managed.

BANDITS MISSED HIM.

W. E. Pomeroy, superintendent of the Yaqui Copper Company, operating extensively on the Yaqui River in Sonora, is in the city. He and a companion narrowly escaped death at the hands of the bandits who murdered the Maxwell brothers and Woodworth and a man named Carr and two Mexicans, within the last three weeks. The bandits traveled up the river, killing all the people they met, or trying to. Mr. Pomeroy and a friend were camped only a mile or so up the river from the Maxwells, though neither party at the time knew of the other. It chanced though that the bandits crossed the river before getting as far up as the Pomeroy camp, to which Pomeroy attributes his escape.

The existence of this outlaw gang has been known for a long time and Col. Kosterlitzky has been on their trail. Till recently, though, their operations have been confined to robbery and in a less organized manner. A white man has been with them frequently of late, and they have been operating more extensively, adding murder to their crimes. It is believed and with good reason that the white man is the notorious Billy Stiles, a fugitive from justice in Arizona, and that he has organized the bandits into a very formidable fighting force of perhaps twenty men.

CAPITALIZATION FOR JUNE.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Charters issued during the month of June show a total capitalization for companies in eastern States with $1,000,000 or more authorized stock of about $103,000,000. This is considerably behind the total for May, but with the exception of that month is the largest in any year. In June, 1903, the total was about $136,000,000. In February of this year the total fell below $54,000,000. Since that time, there has been an irregular recovery.

Small Towns Best.

"Small towns for circuses," said Dowling, the press agent of a traction which was in Louisville yesterday, "are more profitable than the size of Louisville. The reason it is that the country for miles upsends in its inhabitants when a circus is in a small town, and expenses are very much lighter. Practically no tickets are given away and licenses are low and the rent of grounds is light. In a town the size of Louisville even the water for the stock drinks costs you, and the rent also cost money. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

On the south side of the plaza is the Commerce Building, which contains the exhibit of the Department of Commerce of the Philippine Islands. Manila, the principal seaport of the Philippine Islands, is due to become in time the trade center of the Orient, rivalling Hongkong, which now has the largest tonnage in the world. The exhibit of the Department of Commerce will be of special interest, as there are shown a great number of samples of the imports in the islands, and of the various articles of native produce and manufacture, which constitute the internal commerce of the archipelago, as well as the principal articles of export.

The work of getting this exhibit together was a considerable one, and especially difficult from the fact that but few of the American merchants in the islands import goods in any quantity from Europe, whence all the samples of imported goods came, none of American manufacture being exhibited.

The export business also is almost entirely in the hands of the English, German and Spanish merchants, the Americans not having had time to perfect an organization such as would enable them to compete successfully for this business. The American merchants and manufacturers will, doubtless, be greatly interested in seeing the class of goods which are consumed in this far-away possession, as it will enable them to judge as to their ability to enter this field.

The Manila Building is an exact representation of the style of dwelling used by the upper classes in the larger towns and cities of the islands. In it are installed the textile fabrics of native manufacture, cobwebby laces, beautiful jusi and shimmering pina, and embroideries so fair and delicate that one wonders how they stood transportation. In the building the ladies will entertain their American sisters, and by true Spanish courtesy, endeavor to convince them that "La Belle Sauvage" is a misnomer when applied to our island beauties.

LUMBERMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

THE SCHOOLS OF THE PHILIPPINES.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS MADE IN THE ISLANDS.

English Learned by Filipino People in Past Three Years is Greater in Amount Than Spanish Acquired by Them in Four Hundred Years of Spanish Rule.

The wonderful educational progress made by the Filipino people since American teachers began their work in the islands is set forth in the folder issued by the Philippine Exposition Board at the World's Fair. The following in part:

On the twenty-third of August, 1901, three years after the first landings of American troops, the transport "Thomas" dropped anchor in Manila Bay with a small band of American teachers on board. With the arrival of this large teaching corps of trained teachers, the actual work of the Philippine Bureau of Education was begun.

Only one who knows what the condition of the schools was at that time can appreciate what has been accomplished during the past three years. A comparative summing up of the work done is given in the statement that the English learned by the Filipino people in the past three years is greater in amount than the Spanish they acquired in the four hundred years of Spanish rule.

The main effort of the government schools was directed toward the building of an educational foundation in the schools of this character. They are taught by about three thousand Filipino teachers, and all teaching is in the English language. The work of the seven hundred American teachers now in the islands is to a large extent supervisory. The archipelago is divided into thirty-six school divisions, each under the division superintendent, all directly under the general superintendent of education at Manila.

The education exhibit will show the work of these elementary schools, as well as that of the secondary or high schools, thirty-six of which have recently been established. Among the exhibits will be shown written work of the various classes, photographs, manual training models, relief maps, drawings, paintings, etc., all the work of pupils of various grades. The kindergartens established during the past year, will show work, with the various gifts. In the Insular Normal School, four hundred Filipinos and Filipinas are receiving pedagogic training and preparing to become teachers in the government schools. This school has now graduated two classes. All of the teachers are American with the exception of Miss Herrera, a Filipino teacher, who will teach during the Exposition in the model Filipino school. Exhibits have been received from the nautical and trade schools. The nautical school prepares Filipino boys for positions as navigating officers on the inter-island boats. There are a number of exhibits from private and church schools, which play an important part in the school problem in the islands. The largest of these are sent by the Liceo, a private secondary school, and the University of Santo Tomas, a church institution.

The government school system does not, at present include a university, though its organization will be the next step. Students will be received into the university from the secondary schools, which are now organized in nearly all the school divisions.

MOST INTERESTING FEATURE.

Probably the most interesting single feature of the exhibit will be a Philippine school in active operation. This will be held in a schoolhouse of bamboo and nipa palm, an exact duplicate of a country school building in the islands. Filipino pupils will be here taught by a Filipino teacher exactly as at home, and the building will be so arranged that school work can be easily observed by visiting students and teachers.

Special effort is at present being directed to industrial work in the Philippine secondary schools, and agriculture is being introduced into all of them. A demand for more American teachers comes from all the provinces, particularly for those with special training along industrial lines. The work of the American teachers in the Philippines has done more than anything else to convince the Filipinos of the sincerity of our government, and in the pacification of the islands "one teacher has been worth a regiment of soldiers."

Directly across the plaza from the Cathedral is the Government Building, in which is installed a myriad of general exhibits, including a part of the art treasures of the Philippine Islands. This building is a replica of the Ayuntamiento, the capitol of the Philippines.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

On the south side of the plaza is the Commerce building, which contains the exhibit of the Department of Commerce of the Philippine Islands. Manila, the principal seaport of the Philippine Islands, is due to become in time the trade center of the Orient, rivalling Hongkong, which now has the largest tonnage in the world. The exhibit of the Department of Commerce will be of special interest, as there are shown a great number of samples of the imports in the islands, and of the various articles of native produce and manufacture, which constitute the internal commerce of the archipelago, as well as the principal articles of export.

The work of getting this exhibit together was a considerable one, and especially difficult from the fact that but few of the American merchants in the islands import goods in any quantity from Europe, whence all the samples of imported goods came, none of American manufacture being exhibited.

The export business also is almost entirely in the hands of the English, German and Spanish merchants, the Americans not having had time to perfect an organization such as would enable them to compete successfully for this business. The American merchants and manufacturers will, doubtless, be greatly interested in seeing the class of goods which are consumed in this far-away possession, as it will enable them to judge as to their ability to enter this field.

The American Chamber of Commerce of Manila is the only American commercial organization in the Orient, and is a small but vigorous body of men.

The Manila Building is an exact representation of the style of dwelling used by the upper classes in the larger towns and cities of the islands. In it are installed the textile fabrics of native manufacture, cobwebby laces, beautiful jusi and shimmering pina, and embroideries so fair and delibate that one wonders how they stood transportation. In this building the ladies will entertain their American sisters, and by true Spanish courtesy, endeavor to convince them that "La Belle Sauvage" is a misnomer when applied to our island beauties.

LUMBERMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

Facing diagonally across the rear entrances of the plaza are the Forestry and Ethnological Buildings.

The Forestry Building is a large structure of hardwood framing and flooring, and nipa sides and roofs. In the construction of this building there have been used some one hundred different kinds of wood indigeneous to the islands.

The forests of the Philippines are of great extent, and form one of the most valuable assets of the government. So far there has been no systematic method of handling, and the regulations and restrictions imposed by Congress have been such as to prohibit the influx of the capital necessary to their proper exploitation.

All of the tropical hardwoods, like ebony, mahogany and rosewood, are found in abundance, and in the second and third groups are found timbers most suitable for shipbuilding and construction purposes. In the lower groups are found soft woods that compare favorably with our pines and hemlocks, and in the mountain regions are sufficient cedar forests to supply the tobacco trade with the necessary materials for the construction of boxes for an unlimited time.

Rubber and gutta-percha trees abound in the different districts, and only require cultivation and attention that their product may compete with that of Brazil in the world's markets.

Commercial and medicinal gums and resins are extracted from the many plants and shrubs listed in the pharmacopeia, and numerous other medicinal plants peculiar to these islands have been discovered.

Several companies are now negotiating to secure tracts of forest lands large enough to pay them for the installation of a modern plant. There is no field that offers more possibilities to the investor than do the forests of the Philippines.

THE ETHNOLOGY EXHIBIT.

The Museum Exhibit of Philippine Ethnology specimens will consist of exhaustive collections of all the materials made and used by the pagan and Mohammedan peoples of the archipelago. The articles of the Christianized peoples make up the remainder of the Philippine exhibit so far as the native products of the islands are concerned.

The most striking fact about the culture of the wild peoples of the islands is its shallowness. Two small pieces of bamboo with which to rub fire into being, a sharp stick with which to dig the earth, a narrow strip of frayed bark for the woman to wrap about her hips, with perhaps another strip for the man's breech clout, and a dense growth of cogon grass, or an impassable forest jungle for the startled savages to flee into, and you have the essence of all that is characteristic of the culture of the wild people of the Philippines.

The Ethnological Museum, however, has brought together from various characteristic peoples of the islands the articles which tell the story of the culture of each group. The beautiful bead work of the Bagobos, the gaudy colored clothing of the Moros, the exquisite steel work of the people, all truly show that in spite of the uniform shallowness of the Philippine culture, here and there something has impelled a group of savages to develop to a high degree an industrial activity which elsewhere in the archipelago may yet be in its crudest development.

THE FISHERIES EXHIBIT.

In the Fisheries Building, which is on the shore of the Arrowhead Lake, is installed one of the largest collections of seashells in the world. This collection belongs to Mr. José Quadras, an ardent devotee of conchology, who has kindly loaned these valuable specimens to the Board during the time of the Exposition. There are also a thousand mounted specimens of the different fish of the islands. In this building will be shown all the paraphernalia used in the capture of the finny denizens of the deep. In the shallow waters along the shores of the lake will be placed the different bamboo fish-traps and corrals, and the many styles of fishing boats will be shown in actual operation.

MUST OBEY LAW

Automobile Club Will Assist Police in Enforcement of City's New Speed Ordinance.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has just sent out letters to every automobile owner in the city, calling attention to the new speed ordinance recently passed by the City Council, and urging the coöperation of all owners of these machines to sustain the new law.

The letter says: "The City Council in a spirit of fairness has passed the inclosed ordinance, which you ought to preserve, read carefully and obey, and see that others obey this ordinance. Every owner of an automobile and every dealer owes it to the city authorities to see that this ordinance is enforced. We are in earnest about this matter, and we mean to assist the police department in observing this ordinance in every detail."

Inclosed with this letter are the resolutions to the above effect, passed by the board of governors of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The forests of the Philippines are of great extent, and form one of the most valuable assets of the government. So far there has been no systematic method of handling, and the regulations and restrictions imposed by Congress have been such as to prohibit the influx of the capital necessary to their proper exploitation.

All of the tropical hardwoods, like ebony, mahogany and rosewood, are found in abundance, and in the second and third groups are found timbers most suitable for shipbuilding and construction purposes. In the lower groups are found soft woods that compare favorably with our pines and hemlocks, and in the mountain regions are sufficient cedar forests to supply the tobacco trade with the necessary materials for the construction of boxes for an unlimited time.

Rubber and gutta-percha trees abound in the different districts, and only require cultivation and attention that their product may compete with that of Brazil in the world's markets.

Commercial and medicinal gums and resins are extracted from the many plants and shrubs listed in the pharmacopeia, and numerous other medicinal plants peculiar to these islands have been discovered.

Several companies are now negotiating to secure tracts of forest lands large enough to pay them for the installation of a modern plant. There is no field that offers more possibilities to the investor than do the forests of the Philippines.

THE ETHNOLOGY EXHIBIT.

The Museum Exhibit of Philippine Ethnology specimens will consist of exhaustive collections of all the materials made and used by the pagan and Mohammedan peoples of the archipelago. The articles of the Christianized peoples make up the remainder of the Philippine exhibit so far as the native products of the islands are concerned.

The most striking fact about the culture of the wild peoples of the islands is its shallowness. Two small pieces of bamboo with which to rub fire into being, a sharp stick with which to dig the earth, a narrow strip of flayed bark for the woman to wrap about her hips, with perhaps another strip for the man's breech clout, and a dense growth of cogon grass, or an impassable forest jungle for the startled savages to flee into, and you have the essence of all that is characteristic of the culture of the wild people of the Philippines.

The Ethnological Museum, however, has brought together from various characteristic peoples of the islands the articles which tell the story of the culture of each group. The beautiful bead work of the Bagobos, the gaudy colored clothing of the Moros, the exquisite steel work of the people, all truly show that in spite of the uniform shallowness of the Philippine culture, here and there something has impelled a group of savages to develop to a high degree an industrial activity which elsewhere in the archipelago may yet be in its crudest development.

THE FISHERIES EXHIBIT.

In the Fisheries Building, which is on the shore of the Arrowhead Lake, is installed one of the largest collections of seashells in the world. This collection belongs to Mr. José Quadras, an ardent devotee of conchology, who has kindly loaned these valuable specimens to the Board during the time of the Exposition. There are also a thousand mounted specimens of the different fish of the islands. In this building will be shown all the paraphernalia used in the capture of the finny denizens of the deep. In the shallow waters along the shores of the lake will be placed the different bamboo fish-traps and corrals, and the many styles of fishing boats will be shown in actual operation.

MUST OBEY LAW

Automobile Club Will Assist Police in Enforcement of City's New Speed Ordinance.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has just sent out letters to every automobile owner in the city, calling attention to the new speed ordinance recently passed by the City Council, and urging the cooperation of all owners of these machines to sustain the new law.

The letter says: "The City Council in a spirit of fairness has passed the inclosed ordinance, which you ought to preserve, read carefully and obey, and see that others obey this ordinance. Every owner of an automobile and every dealer owes it to the city authorities to see that this ordinance is enforced. We are in earnest about this matter, and we mean to assist the police department in observing this ordinance in every detail."

Inclosed with this letter are the resolutions to the above effect, passed by the board of governors of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Notice of Award of Contract.

Pursuant to Statutes and to the Resolution of Award of the City Council of the City of Los Angeles, adopted June 27, 1904, directing this notice, notice is hereby given that said City Council, in open session, on the 30th day of June, 1904, opened, examined, and publicly declared all sealed proposals or bids offered for the following work, to wit:

That a public sewer be constructed in said city along the center line of

from the public sewer manhole constructed in the intersection of Bellevue avenue and Boylston street to a point distant 20 feet westerly from the westerly line of Pleasant avenue, and across all intersections of streets, together with one (1) flushtank, all to be connected with said sewer.

Said sewer is to be constructed of vitrified, salt-glazed pipe eight (8) inches in internal diameter.

Each of said manholes is to be constructed of brick and mortar and is to have a concrete bottom and an iron cover and is to be circular in horizontal section with an internal diameter of four (4) feet.

One of said manholes is to have an internal height of twelve (12) feet and one of said manholes is to have an internal height of ten (10) feet. One of said manholes is to have an internal height of eight and one-half (8½) feet.

Said flushtank is to be constructed of brick and mortar and is to have a concrete bottom and an iron cover and is to be circular in horizontal section with an internal diameter of five (5) feet and is to have a capacity of three hundred (300) gallons.

All of which improvement is to be constructed in accordance with the plans and profile thereof on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles and specifications therefor on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles, said specifications being No. 1 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 9672 (New Series.)

That a cement sidewalk five (5) feet in width be constructed along the west side of said Burlington avenue from the north curb line of Temple street to a point 240 feet northerly therefrom and from a point 240 feet north of the north line of Temple street to the north line of Bellevue avenue (excepting such portions of said street between said points along which a cement or asphalt sidewalk five (5) feet in width has been constructed to the official line and grade,) said sidewalk to be constructed in accordance with specifications for cement sidewalks on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, said specifications being No. 1 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 9672 (New Series.)

That a cement sidewalk five (5) feet in width be constructed along the east side of said Burlington avenue from the south curb line of Temple street to a point 240 feet northerly therefrom and from a point 240 feet north of the north line of Temple street to the north line of Bellevue avenue (excepting such portions of said street between said points along which a cement or asphalt sidewalk five (5) feet in width has been constructed to the official line and grade,) said sidewalk to be constructed in accordance with specifications for cement sidewalks on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, said specifications being No. 1 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 9672 (New Series.)

That a cement curb be constructed along each line of the roadway of said Burlington avenue from the north curb line of Temple street to the south line of Bellevue avenue (excepting such portions of the line of said roadway upon which a cement or granite curb has already been constructed to the official line and grade,) in accordance with specifications for constructing cement curbs, on file in the office of the City Clerk, said specifications being No. 1 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 9672 (New Series.)

That a cement sidewalk five (5) feet in width be constructed along each side of said Burlington avenue from the north curb line of Temple street to the south line of Bellevue avenue (excepting such portions of said street and intersections as are required by law to be kept in order or repair by any person or company having railroad tracks thereon, and also excepting such portions of said street and intersections as have already been graded and graveled and accepted,) be graded and graveled in accordance with the plans and profile thereof on file in the office of the City Engineer and specifications for the construction of graveled streets in the City of Los Angeles on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, said specifications being No. 5 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 9672 (New Series.)

All of which improvement is to be constructed in accordance with the plans and profile thereof on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles and specifications therefor on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles, said specifications being entitled "Specifications for the construction of a sewer along Burlington avenue between First street and Second street in the City of Los Angeles."

That said contemplated work of improvement is, in the opinion of said Council, of more than local and ordinary public benefit, and they hereby declare that the exterior boundaries of the district to be benefited by said improvement and to be assessed to pay the cost and expense of said improvement shall be as follows:

Beginning at the most northerly corner of lot 9 of the Meyers tract, as per map of said tract recorded in Book 13, page 25, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County; thence southwesterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of said lot 9; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 1 of said Meyers tract; thence southeasterly along the southerly line of said lot 1 to the most southerly corner of said lot 1; thence southeasterly in a direct line to a point in the westerly line of Utah street; thence southeasterly in a direct line to a point in the easterly line of Utah street, said point being midway between the northeast corner and the southeast corner of said Utah street; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most northerly corner of lot 19 of said Leonis tract; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most northerly corner of lot 21, block X of the Mount Pleasant tract, as per map of said tract recorded in Book 3, page 24, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 17 of said block X; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 5 of said block X; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 3 of said block X; thence southeasterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 1 of said block X; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the most easterly corner of lot 1 of said block X; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 21 of said block X of said Mount Pleasant tract; thence southwesterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 1 of said block X; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 9 of the Perry Villa tract, as per map of said tract recorded in Book 7, page 34, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County; thence northwesterly along the southerly line of lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of said Perry Villa tract to the most northwesterly corner of said lot 8; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 24 of said block B; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the most northerly corner of said lot 24; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 1, block 1 of Allen's subdivision of Summit avenue; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the point of beginning.

Excepting therefrom any portion of any public street or alley which may be included within the above described district.

And thereafter, to wit: On the 27th day of June, 1904, said City Council awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, to wit:

To C. Ukropina at the price named for said work in his proposal, on file, to wit:

BIBLE LESSONS.

FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS AND OTHER BIBLE STUDENTS.

Prepared for the Times by J. S. Kirtley.

SUNDAY, JULY 3, 1904.

THE CONNECTION.

We are back in the Old Testament for six months of study and begin where we left off, six months ago. Our last lesson was on the visit of the Queen of Sheba, to Solomon. That was in the height of his wisdom, fame and prosperity. But his sun soon hastened to set in gloom. Absolute power enabled him to grind the people, gag prophets and terrorize priests. Wealth made him vain and sensual. Polygamy led to sensuality and idolatry. His fall dragged the nation down with him and he soon left that nation a tangled legacy to his son.

Rehoboam, seemingly his only son, was his successor. He had not been dead six months before his kingdom was divided, the ten northern tribes, of which Ephraim was the strongest, breaking off and electing Jeroboam king. The cause of this disruption were far back in the history. Ephraim had always been jealous of Judah, because the latter tribe furnished the line of kings and the capital of the country. They were angry because Solomon had oppressed them. As Kent says:

"Israelitish interests were made subservient to those of the king and of Judah. It was gall and bitterness to the northerners to see the wealth and power of the empire constantly being concentrated in the southern capital. Furthermore, the temple and all the splendid palaces and strong fortifications, with which the city was beautified, were built by the fruits of their increase and by their wearisome toil. Thus, to override the rights of individual subjects and to reduce to serfdom a people who, a generation before, had been free and independent, inevitably meant rebellion whenever opportunity offered."

And then it was "of the Lord," who must punish them for their sins and preserve Judah from complete contamination. He had told Solomon so. The prophet Ahijah had told Jeroboam that there would be a division and that he would be king of the larger section. Rehoboam's outrageous conduct, as Solomon's successor, completed the alienation between the two sections and brought on the disruption. Our lesson tells of his decision and the subsequent division.

THE LESSON.

"Rehoboam's Decision." (Verses 12-15.)

"So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the King bade, saying, Come to me again the third day. And the King answered the people roughly, and forsook the counsel of the old men which they had given him, and spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions. So the king hearkened not unto the people, for it was a thing brought about of Jehovah, that He might establish His word, which Jehovah spake by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat."

1. His method of considering the question. In the first verse of this chapter we see how he settled it. He went to Shechem to be made king over the northern tribes. They used the general name Israel as contrasted with the tribal name Judah. Solomon had anointed Rehoboam as king in Judah at Jerusalem, but Ephraim was an ambitious, jealous tribe and the others followed her lead. They had been called to meet the young king at their chief city about twenty miles north of Jerusalem and were in an ugly mood. They had decided to exact promises from him and had sent down to Egypt and called up the brilliant young Jeroboam to be their spokesman, and to be their king if Rehoboam did not talk to suit them. He had been employed by Solomon to superintend some work, had acquired great influence, had even fomented rebellion and had been compelled to flee. Now he is recalled.

These people were ready for an issue and demanded that Rehoboam lighten the burdens his father had put on them—the burden of heavy taxes and enforced labor.

If Rehoboam had not been a fool he would have seen the discontent that had been growing and that only the genius and the magnetism of Solomon could keep in check. He was probably 41 years old, but he was a child in wisdom, though a veteran in the practice of folly. He asked for three days to consider it. He consulted the wise old men and they told him that the people would be loyal to him, if he would be kind and careful. The young roysterers advised him to be an absolute despot and grind them.

2. His decision announced.

We can scarcely imagine a man acting with such folly. He showed no knowledge of human nature, no love of man, no love of country, no sense of justice. He ought to have seen that there was trouble ahead when the popular convention to ratify him as king was held at Shechem, where he must come to them, and not they to him at Jerusalem. It would have alarmed a sane man, when they informed him that they would accept him on condition that he would lighten the burdens his father had put on them. The spokesman of the occasion should have awakened his suspicions, for it was none other than Jeroboam, a shrewd politician, a born leader of men, whom Solomon had driven out of the country a few years before, because he suspected the fellow of fomenting rebellion. He ought to have had sense enough to follow the advice of the old men who told him that if he would treat the people kindly and make their interests his own they would serve him well. He ought to have known enough to reject the counsel of the young fools like himself who advised him to make the burdens of the people still heavier. But after three days spent in counsel he gave them the impudent, insane answer that the young men suggested (12:12-14.) Rehoboam was a moral idiot. He warned them of a heavier yoke and of punishment with scorpions instead of whips. His father was self-indulgent; his mother a heathen. That explains him.

3. The question of causes. The tyranny of Solomon, the blind brutality of Rehoboam, the disrupting forces among the people, and their anger brought it about. But through it all God's purpose was working towards higher ends.

II.

"The People's Decision." (Verses 16-17.)

"And when all Israel saw that the King hearkened not unto them, the people answered the King, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse; to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents. But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them."

(1.) Their reply.

It was formal; it was dignified; it was just; it was final. The cords binding the two divisions of the nation were ananood forever. This reply asserts that as there is nothing in common between them and the ruling family of David, son of Jesse, they would no longer support it; on the throne and it must support itself; that they would go about their own affairs, sticking to their own tents, whether enjoying them as their homes or using them for war. Their use of the term Israel seems a claim to be the real nation, and for some cause, the writers of Kings and Chronicles use it in the same way.

(2.) The line of cleavage.

The division by tribes was not strictly exact, for members of the "Israel" tribes were scattered throughout the "Judah" district and, of course, they made no revolt against Rehoboam, as long as they remained in his territory. Though the tribal lines were kept well drawn the people were more or less mingled, through marriage and migration. Judah and most of Benjamin formed the southern kingdom with capital at Jerusalem, over which only one line of kings ever reigned. Ephraim and the rest formed the northern kingdom with capital finally at Samaria and with constandly-changing dynasties.

III.

"The Actual Decision." (Verses 18-20.)

"Then King Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the levy; and all Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. And King Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem. So Israel rebelled against the house of David, unto this day. And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was returned, that they sent and called him unto the congregation, and made him King over all Israel; there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only."

(1.) Rehoboam suddenly lost ten of his tribles and 9400 out of 12,800 square miles of territory. He did have enough wisdom to try to conciliate them, but he showed his usual stupidity in sending the wrong messenger and in being too late, anyhow. Old Adoram had been "over the tribute," for years and was well hated. A shower of stones expressed their hatred of him and of his system that promptly put him out of the way. The frightened King flew home for safety. The rupture was final.

(2.) The seceders have a King ready, Jeroboam, a man, belonging to the leading tribe, a great leader, a popular idol, an opportunist, an experienced man of affairs, a man chosen by Jehovah for that place. The lower part of Benjamin sides with Judah. The ten tribes are launched into a new kingdom.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The world's rulers are invariably those who have served it.—[M. R. Vincent.

Rehoboam's oppression of the people was a sin; yet, you will observe, the people had no right to complain. They had brought this evil on themselves; they had obstinately courted and struggled after it. They would have "a King like the nations," a despotic King and now that they had one, they were discontented. Samuel had not only earnestly and solemnly protested against this measure, as an offense against their Almighty Governor, but had actually forewarned them of the evils which despotic power would introduce among them.—[Newman.

To us the southern kingdom, the kingdom of Judah, seems the more important and the more interesting division of the people. It became the heir of all the promises, the nurse of the Messianic hope, the mother of the four greater prophets, the continuer of all the great subsequent history after the glory of Israel had been stamped out forever. But such was not the aspect presented by the kingdom of Judah to contemporary observers. . . . If Judah was for many years behind hand in power, in civilization, in literature, even in the splendor of prophetic inspiration, she still managed on the whole to uplift to the nation the standard of righteousness. That standard was often fiercely assaulted, but the standard bearers did not faint. The torn remnants of the old ideal were still upheld by faithful hands. Neither the heathen tendencies of princes nor the vapid ceremonialism of priests were allowed unchallenged to usurp the place of religion, pure and undefiled. The later Judean prophets, and especially the greatest of them, rose to a spirituality which had never yet been attained and was never again equaled till the rise of the Son of Righteousness with healing in His wings.—[Farrar.

Providence works through men who are following but the promptings of their own, sometimes evil, hearts. A "philosophy of history" which leaves God out of the reckoning is not an adequate philosophy. He works in the politics of today as really as He did in Israel. Men are not moved by Him on the world's chess board as if they were senseless pawns or knights; but, more wonderful still, they move themselves, and all the while they are playing His game and carrying out his purposes. The recognition that the separation of the kingdoms was God's will determines nothing as to the guilt or innocence of the actors. The Assyrian was executing God's "charge" when he smote Jerusalem, but he was punished for his acts."

POINTS TO IMPRESS.

(1.) That one who wrongs another hurts himself.

(2.) That it is hard to rise above one's parents.

(3.) That the advice of age and experience is worth something.

(4.) That selfishness is suicide.

(6.) That counselors are more important than kings.

(7.) That "history is His story."

FOR COUNTRY'S SAKE.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Christian Endeavor Societies, the Baptist Young People's Unions, the Epworth Leagues, etc., for July 3: "Ways of Consecrating Ourselves to Our Country."—[Rom. xxiii, 1-7; I Peter ii, 13-17.

By William T. Ellis.

Every heart beats responsive to the claims of country. He is cold-blooded indeed who is not stirred by the sight of the old flag flying at the head of marching troops, or more significantly, over a schoolhouse. Whatever may be true of nations in the old world, in the new at least, men still count it sweet and glorious to die for their country. Patriotism is a vigorous virtue with us, however misdirected it may at times be.

Service of one's country is service of God. He who ordained the powers that be also ordained that a man should love and serve his country above his own family and his own life. Patriotism is one of the master passions.

Noise may express patriotism. The tumult of the Fourth of July is not meaningless. There is a spirit of patriotic enthusiasm underlying all this burning of powder and creation of racket, but noise is not enough. Devotion to country must express itself in more homely and practical ways if it is genuine. Firecrackers overthrow no wrongs, buttress no good cause. The persistent work of witness-bearing, the unbought ballot, the steady support of all that is best in public life—these are ways of expressing patriotism that count.

The heroism of the fathers is a heritage of the sons. Because our ancestors were true to their ideals of a nation doubly commits us to the same loyalty.

Every noble citizen is a national asset.

Possibly it has not occurred to many to call the men responsible for the recent terrible disaster to the ship General Slocum, in East River, offenders against patriotism. Yet such they are. Whoever is recreant to public duty, and whoever fails to play the man when his fellows need him, lowers the standard of manhood and does violence to the ideals and traditions which are a precious national heritage.

Individual loyalty to the spirit's highest convictions is a sure source of strength to the nation. There is no better offering that can possibly be laid on the altar of patriotism than a brave, clean, useful and unselfish life.

A passion for public service has always possessed patriots of the highest type. They have been men of wide enough vision to view the interests of the whole country and to seek its welfare. Party, State or neighborhood meant less to them than the entire nation. Their sentiment was expressed by Daniel Webster in the well-known lines, "Let our object be our country, our whole country, and nothing but our country." Her service engaged their best powers, her prosperity was their highest goal, her honor their greatest reward.

"What can I do for my country?" is a question which every patriot should early and often ask himself, with a view to discovering not merely what are the common obligations of citizenship, but more specifically, what is his own peculiar talent that may be consecrated to public service. Every one has some such power. To each is imparted his own special gift which he may devote to the sacred cause of patriotism.

The best man makes the best patriot.

Vigorous words need to be spoken to a certain class of men, whose number, it is to be feared, is increasing, who debauch patriotism for profit. Robert E. Speer says: "Christians are false to their God when they ignore or break down the just laws of a land. The Christian who bribes legislators, who pays the police or other authorities for the privilege of evading statutes, who prostitutes public opinion for the sake of relaxing respect for law, is by such acts belying his Christianity. Christians must obey the laws. When they do not, when by technical subtilety, or by financial influence, they succeed in postponing the operation of the law in their case or in escaping from it altogether, they bring discredit on the church of Christ, and they are traitors to its spirit and to him. It does not matter how benevolent or philanthropic they are. A man cannot, by erecting a hospital or contributing to a charity atone for the sin of disobeying the laws of his country."

"Philadelphia wants you" is the message which frequently comes to my suburban home over the telephone. I have heard the words so often that they have become a refrain, with a broader, deeper significance that is a message and a summons. "Philadelphia wants you." You have that which the city needs; it is, therefore, calling for the consecration of your powers and service. Yes, and America wants you, and so does the world. Be quick to answer; waste no time, but what you have, give, else you may cease to be wanted.

The band has its place in military life as truly as the man behind the gun. It is the inspiring, quickening agency, increasing the power and interest of the soldiers perceptibly. Patriots who cannot fight can at least cheer. Wherever a man or a woman or an organization is doing patriotic service, hurrah for it! Withhold not the word of praise from the public official or the private citizen who is standing by country with conspicuous loyalty, especially if in a difficult place. The goodly company of encouragers do better work in the world than they know, besides fulfilling the patriot's plain duty of bearing witness to the right.

Lynch law is a peril of the times. Men are too ready to take things into their own hands. The slow and orderly processes of the courts are regarded with impatience. The rope and the lamp post are looked upon by too many persons as a quick and satisfactory substitute for the uncertainties of judicial procedure. This tendency is deepiy to be regretted and combated by all good citizens. For every lynching is a blow at the foundations of organized society. Without law we must revert to savagery. The evil of a lynching is less the murder that is done to the individual slain than the blow that is struck at the sanctity of law.

There are plenty of men who will die for their country, but who are slow about paying their taxes.

It is easier to call names at George III than to tell a flesh and blood man, whose position and wealth give him power, that he is violating the cardinal principles of individual liberty, that he is an un-American despot, and that he is truly an enemy of his country. Yet just this is what the true patriot will do when occasion arises; for if ever the day comes when we shall lack men to rebuke evil, then we will have entered the last stage of national decay.

MR. TOBIN'S BLOOD CIRCULATED DEATH THROUGH HIS BODY.

Scrofulous Condition Beyond Power of Physician to Check Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. William Tobin, of No. 29 Smith's court, Newburyport, Mass., a well-known engineer, is very enthusiastic over the remarkable change which has occurred in his physical condition. "A few years ago," he says, "scrofula showed itself in the swelling of the glands of my neck and the disease gradually extended until my whole body was affected and I was covered with sores practically from head to foot; little watery puffs kept appearing, growing larger, and finally breaking and discharging a yellow fluid. After a while they would dry up in some places only to break out anew in other parts of my body.

"The physicians who attended me said I had scrofula in its worst form. Their treatment instead of arresting the spread of the disease only caused it to break out more extensively. After I had suffered in this way for four months, my misfortunes were increased by a severe attack of typhoid malaria. For some time I gave up all hope of recovery, but after five weeks the fever was checked and the doctors said the danger point was passed.

"I was still, however, affected as badly as ever with scrofula and it looked as if I never could get rid of that disease. A friend chanced to call on me one day and told me about the excellence of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood remedy. I became interested and bought a box and began to take three doses a day of two pills each until the first box was used up. Then I bought a second box and increased the dose to three pills. At the end of the second box, I noticed that the old sores were healing some and that there were not so many fresh sores breaking out. I kept on using the pills until I had taken ten boxes, and then I was entirely cured. I have had no return of the disease since, and have not lost a day's work through sickness since I was cured by this wonderful medicine."

In cases of scrofula the blood becomes vitiated to such an extent that it is no longer able to build up the body. It carries to every part irritation and decay instead of renewal of life. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills relieve in two ways. They stimulate the digestion, which increases proper nourishment; and they introduce into the blood elements that purify and strengthen it. They are sold by all druggists.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

SCHOOL AFFAIRS EMBARRASSING.

PRESIDENT OF THE PASADENA BOARD RESIGNS.

Charges of Illegal Conduct of Election Heard on the Streets—New Company Buying Much Realty. Trinity Lutherans Acquire Church Site—"Gym" Holiday.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 78 South Raymond avenue, July 2.—The Board of Education held a meeting yesterday afternoon—the meeting that had been previously called to take preliminary steps to dispose of the school bonds. There were no bonds to dispose of. Bonds were not even mentioned. There are children, hundreds of them, that must be packed in basements, schooled in tents, and cared for in side shows of many kinds—but the Board of Education said nothing. The resignation of Delos Arnold, as president and member of the board, was received and accepted. Mr. Arnold will attend one more meeting of the board, that to be held Tuesday. The first Monday in July is the time for holding the annual organization meeting, but as that day falls on the Fourth this year, the day following has been selected.

President Arnold says he has resigned on account of ill health. Another member of the board says so. But that is not all that is said. The school affairs of Pasadena are in a peculiar condition, and the Board of Education is embarrassed. Charges of illegal conduct of the election are current on the streets. M. D. Painter, inspector of the election, is alleged to have examined the ballots as they were cast; at one time no negative ballots were available, and complaint is made of the manner in which the vote was canvassed. Each of the election officers sorted the ballots after they were taken from the box, counting and separating them at the same time, and after each had ascertained the number of aye and nay votes in his pile the result was obtained by adding the individual count of each. No announcement was made of each ballot, and no response of "tally," by which process a vote at any election is polled.

Each election officer counted the ballots and announced the total of the "pile" he had drawn from the box. The combined total defeated the bonds. Perhaps the same result would have been reached by any other method, but all of these facts go in at the present time to make up the inharmonies resultant from the attempt to rebuild the burned Franklin School on the Walnut-street site.

D. W. Lewis and Clerk E. A. Walker were appointed a committee to clear the debris from the Franklin grounds, the expense to be met from the sale of the ruins of the old building.

HEAVY BUYERS OF REALTY.

A new company, of which Harry J. Munger is secretary, has been quietly acquiring large realty holdings in Pasadena the past few days. The purchaser of the Harry Allen property at the corner of Colorado street and Delacy was not known until yesterday, when it was learned that it had been bought by the Pasadena Realty Company. Other purchases of the company include the Richardson livery property on West Colorado street and the sixth lot west of Delacy street on Colorado. About $50,000 worth of real estate has so far been acquired. The members of the Pasadena Realty Company are McHenry Pierce, Albert L. Phillips, Harry J. Munger, all of Pasadena; Nelson A. Gray, Chatsworth and C. D. Bennett, Los Angeles.

TRINITY LUTHERANS BUY.

Trustees of the Trinity Lutheran Evangelical Church yesterday purchased the northeast corner of Los Robles avenue and Walnut street, 100 feet on the former and seventy-five feet on Walnut. Plans are now in preparation for a church building, though building operations will not be begun for about a year. The congregation was organized August 2, 1903, and has been worshiping in G.A.R. Hall. The rapid growth of the congregation made a church building necessary, and a site was purchased while it could be obtained at a reasonable figure. Purchase price, however, has not been made public. Rev. P. W. H. Frederick is the pastor, having been called to the church before it was an organization. Mr. Frederick came here from Chicago, where he was a teacher in a theological college.

LADIES REPORT SPOILS.

The ladies of the First Congregational Church have been a factor in securing needed money with which to build the new church at the corner of Marengo avenue and Green street, in process of construction. At a meeting at which reports were made the amount was given as $1647.19, of which "Circle No. 3" secured $375, the largest amount raised by any circle. Mrs. F. P. Boynton has given $40 on the purchase price of a handsome communion set for the new church. The next meeting of the missionary section of the church will be held with Mrs. Benjamin Page at her summer cottage at Redondo Beach, July 21.

GYMNASIUM TAKES HOLIDAY.

Director Braden of the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium will dismiss all classes after work today, until September 5, when the fall term begins. During the vacation period the outdoor court and gymnasium will be free to seniors all afternoon in the week except Sunday, and Monday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. The enrollment for the past season in the different classes has been: Senior graded class, 80; business men's class, 33; students over 16 years, 22; employed boys, 56; Junior, 47; boys, 83; ladies' special class, 57. Total, 357.

WIDOW'S MITE STOLEN.

Mrs. William Hunt, No. 247 East Green street, gave her youthful son a small sum from her pocketbook with which to make a purchase. There remained $46. The purse was placed on a shelf, and Mrs. Hunt, who is a widow, went out to work in the garden. Having occasion to again use some change, she searched high and low for the pocketbook, but if anyone has seen it since Thursday morning they won't tell. The police were notified.

MISS HIBBARD LEAVES.

Miss Katherine Hibbard, well-known through frequent visits to the homes of the McKintreys, Comins and Drews, is off again for another globe-trotting expedition, having but recently arrived in Pasadena from Chicago. Returning from a European trip, a few weeks were spent with relatives here, and now Miss Hibbard goes to Alaska, by way of Seattle, and later to Old Mexico.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Bids for the construction of the Masonic Temple will be opened Tuesday. Excavation work is now in progress, and work on the superstructure will begin immediately after the contract is awarded.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette have returned from their eastern trip, during which Mrs. Burdette attended the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at St. Louis.

Heads of departments of the city government will this year file with their annual reports an inventory of all city property in their possession, that the taxpayer may know what the city owns and what it cost.

Two and a half days' holiday in sight at noon today for City Hall people, at which time the half-Saturday holiday will be in force until September. Sunday precedes the Fourth of July, hence no business may be transacted at the City Hall after 12 m. today until Tuesday morning.

J. B. Nickerson, Jewell Bagley and Leonard Moore paid $3 each in Police Court yesterday for riding bicycles on the sidewalk, and for leaving horses unhitched E. M. Hatch and P. M. Curtis each paid $3.

The Foresters will have a picnic at Simmons's ranch, Las Casitas, July 4, going by hayrack from Library Park.

Visiting members of the Eastern Star from Whittier and Alhambra attended an initiation and social exercises of the local lodge last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holmes and Miss Angie have returned from an outing at Mt. Wilson.

CATALINA ISLAND.

BLACK SEA BASS RECORD.

AVALON, July 1.—Claude M. Heineman, one of the owners of the Ward line of steamships out of New York, who has been on the island some time building up wasted energies, yesterday broke the season's record for black sea bass. There have been a large number of this species of big fish brought in this season, but all save one has been below 300 pounds, and the greater number have been below 200, which makes a small average for this mammoth fish. Mr. Heineman has captured several, but none have been remarkable for size. Yesterday with "Chappie" as his boatman, Heineman caught a 350-pounder, and for three hours and three minutes the angler worked as though he was single-handed heaving the anchors of one of his liners. The fish towed him about at will, and when brought to gaff they were several miles from their starting point.

INSULAR BRIEFS.

There is at last indisputable evidence that the tuna are here, although the anglers have so far failed to catch one. It remained for the market fishermen to furnish the corpus delecti, which they did, by taking them in their nets. Four were enmeshed in Vincent's seine yesterday morning, of about fifty pounds weight each.

Mrs. Charles Storey of London, Eng., who with her husband has been here enjoying the fishing for a month or more, having Mexican Joe under charter, and who has heretofore confined her fishing mostly to yellowtail and albacore, this morning went out after jewfish, and showed her skill with the rod by taking a 200-pound fish in the short space of ten minutes.

Gordon Wiley of London, Eng., this morning secured eleven albacore as the result of his morning's sport. He was out with George Michaelis.

A son has been born to the wife of A. D. Green.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kelley of San Francisco are at the Metropole for an indefinite stay.

At the Congregational Church Sunday morning, there will be a communion service, and in the evening a patriotic service.

SANTA MONICA.

VETERAN FOUND DEAD.

SANTA MONICA, July 1.—Children in play about a haystack on the race track at the polo grounds this morning happened upon the corpse of an old man attired in soldiers' blue. Beside the body was an empty wine bottle and in a pocket was a partially-emptied box of strychnine pills, indicating suicide following a protracted spree. Letters found in a pocket show his name was Thomas Sexton, a former member of Co. E, One Hundred and Ninety-nine, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, and that he drew a pension of $6 a month. Some of the letters were addressed to himself at Redondo, and others at Highland. He was about 60 years of age, and beyond the fact that he has been on a spree here recently and spent a night in the City Jail nothing is known of him. His application for admission to the Soldiers' Home is on file at that institution.

MORE LIQUOR.

When the City Trustees met in special session last night buffet and restaurant liquor licenses were issued to Adloff & Hauerwass for the Pavilion, the New Holborow and the Casino. The Arcadia was granted a restaurant liquor license and Henry Akin a wholesale liquor license. The restaurant license is $300 per year, buffet $900 and wholesale $3000.

IN BRIEF.

The Sawtelle indoor baseball team has been added to the league, which now consists of five teams. At the play last night the Dales organization won over the Tompkins nine and the Y.M.C.A.'s defeated the Sawtelles.

Towner and Irwin are sinking three wells in the East Santa Monica tract. They are assured of a good flow, as a well just completed is excellent.

The Knights of Columbus are arranging to institute a lodge at Santa Monica, a week from Sunday. It is expected several hundred visitors will come.

NORWALK.

W.R.C. ENTERTAINS.

NORWALK, July 1.—The Dan Bidwell W.R.C. entertained the department officers yesterday in Masonic Hall. The hall and banquet-room were elaborately decorated in red, white and blue bunting and with a profusion of flowers. Covers were laid for 100 guests. After dinner an impromptu programme was given. The department officers present were Lizzie Belle Cross, President; Elizabeth A. Lawton, Treasurer; Ida V. Jarvis, Councilor; Lizzie H. Mills, member Executive Board; Emma L. Palmer, E.B. Mary E. Hartwell, who will go to the national convention as candidate for National President of the W.R.C., in Boston, was a guest.

Mrs. T. A. Ray and son, John, left this morning for an extended visit to her former home in Bedford, Iowa.

Teachers chosen for the coming year are: High School, Prof. Anderson, Miss Morgan, Pearl Brenizer; public, Mrs. Anderson, Lina Christian.

Mrs. Fred Bryant and son, Paul, are sojourning in Long Beach.

Mrs. Ralph Smith and child of Jerome, Ariz., are visiting her sister, Mrs. J. R. Thompson.

HALF A MILLION AT SAN PEDRO.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC BEGINS TO EXPEND GREAT SUM.

Building Track on Large Fill, and Contract Let for Dredging to Cost Over Three Hundred Thousand Dollars Along the Railroad Company's New Docks.

SAN PEDRO, July 1.—The Southern Pacific Railroad Company gave positive evidence today that it intends to "do things" at San Pedro. Fourteen cars arrived bringing fifty Mexican laborers, who were immediately put at work building tracks on the large fill made at Firmin's Point.

Work on the construction of the new wharf to extend from the end of the present wharf out to the inner breakwater line will begin in a few days. The engines and pile drivers are here and several large cars of creosoted piling have arrived during the week. It is said that nearly $500,000 will be expended here by the company before the end of the current year.

A contract for dredging the inner harbor along the new docks has been let by the Southern Pacific to Capt. Polhemus of San Diego. The contract is for a little over $300,000.

J. D. Isaacs of San Francisco, assistant engineer of the Southern Pacific, and Resident Engineer Ellison were here yesterday making an inspection of the proposed wharf site. The blue-print maps of the proposed docks show a comprehensive system of tracks and switches, at one point there being nine parallel switch tracks.

The land upon which the tracks are being built was recently leased to the Southern Pacific Company by the city of San Pedro.

HOLLYWOOD.

TRADE BOARD'S WORKS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 1.—The first quarterly meeting of the Hollywood Board of Trade was held last night. President A. G. Bartlett read an interesting article on the work done, and suggested many improvements which can be made next year with the assistance of the ladies' auxiliary soon to be organized.

Secretary E. R. Walker reported the board's active membership has reached 113, and a campaign will soon be started to bring in every available man in the city.

J. C. Newitt reported that the edition of 10,000 booklets for free distribution will be ready in a few days. Col. J. J. Steadman, P. B. Chase, P. S. Rishel, H. C. Drares, Robert Young and C. J. Wade reported the work of the various committees, all indicating better railroad service, better schools, better streets, stricter enforcement of the liquor ordinance, and a larger membership. There was music by the Aman Quartette and fruit punch was served. Many women were present and showed much interest in the work of the board.

Harry Gower, on behalf of the school boys, extended the members of the board a challenge for a game of baseball on the afternoon of the Fourth. President Bartlett accepted, and a great game may be expected Monday at the picnic grounds.

MERE MENTION.

Mayor Sanford Rich and wife returned last night from a week's visit at San Diego and left for a two weeks outing in the Yosemite Valley.

Mrs. Louise Peck and daughters left this morning for a month's visit on Mount Wilson.

Mrs. A. W. Baird chaperoned a jolly party of young people last night on a hay ride to Sackett's "Three Acres."

The West Los Angeles Water Company moved its headquarters here today over the Hollywood Bank. H. G. Candee will transact the company's business here, at Sherman, Sawtelle and Santa Monica.

Miss Gladys Chase entertained informally last evening in honor of San Diego friends—Hattie Candee, Jessie Morgan, Elizabeth Horton, Agnes Hutchins, Messrs. John Bireley, Harry Dukes, Will Morgan, Gregory Horton and Ray Herrington.

AZUSA.

NEW GIN-TIGHT ORDINANCE.

AZUSA, July 1.—The new prohibition ordinance is now in force. It is said to be thoroughly up to date. It is confidently claimed that the saloon attorneys will not be able to find any flaws in the law, and it is predicted that the sale of the so-called "Bishop's beer," which has been so freely sold here for the past month will speedily be stopped.

The City Trustees also enacted an ordinance prohibiting the presence of boys of less than 18 years of age in poolrooms or card clubs, and requiring such places to close at 10:30 p.m., and on Sunday.

The Pomotropic, Azusa's pioneer weekly paper, has been sold by Ralph H. Holmes to Frank W. Hall. Mr. Holmes will remove to Los Angeles, where he will engage in mercantile business.

POMONA.

AGAINST SPECIAL CHARTER.

POMONA, July 1.—A mass meeting was held in Fraternal Aid Operahouse last night to consider the advisability of securing a freeholders' charter for this city. The sentiment as expressed in the meeting was against the proposition.

A new lumber yard is being opened here by A. B. Snow, late of Los Angeles. The establishment is backed by the Southern California Lumber Company.

F. E. Hansler and family are preparing to move into their new home opposite Second-street Park.

Mrs. Salome Foxcroft is seriously ill at her home on Holt avenue.

Mrs. F. C. Walther will leave soon to join her husband in North Dakota.

Mrs. H. P. Wilkinson will start tomorrow for a three months' visit with relatives in Illinois.

Mrs. S. J. L. Loop is slowly convalescing from a serious illness.

Co. D, Capt. W. W. Midgley, will go fifty strong, on a special train to Riverside on the Fourth to participate in the festivities Riverside has arranged. The High School cadets and Seventh Regiment Band will go with the militia. Co. D will compete for the $100 prize offered for the best-drilled company of the Seventh Regiment.

Misses Bee Dee Abbott, Florence Kauffman, Ethel McComas, Bess Minler, Mayme Pierce and Messrs. Himrod and D. Seaver, who were graduated this year from the Pomona High School, will attend Pomona College in September.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ludden have gone on a camping trip to Yosemite Valley.

TWO BANKS NOW BECOME ONE.

INSTITUTIONS IN LONG BEACH CONSOLIDATED.

First National and American National Will do Business in Name of Former With Hundred Thousand Paid-up Capital and Board of Fifteen Directors.

LONG BEACH, July 1.—Negotiations which have been pending for two months for the consolidation of the First National and American National banks came to a successful conclusion today when the Comptroller of the Currency placed the American National Bank in liquidation; approved the increase of capital of the First National Bank and also its action in regard to increasing the directory to fifteen. On receipt of this information this morning, the American National Bank transferred its business to the First National and the business of the two institutions will hereafter be conducted by the First National. As increased the directorate will consist of W. L. Campbell, C. J. Walker, W. W. Lowe, J. B. Heartwell, John Carroll, W. P. L. Stafford and C. L. Heartwell, of the First National; S. Townsend, D. M. Cate, F. A. Parker, L. E. Grigsby, S. Heller, C. D. Paine and F. E. Robinson of the American and W. L. Porterfield, who was a stockholder in both institutions. President Townsend of the American becomes a vice-president of the new bank and Cashier W. A. Kennedy has been elected assistant cashier of the new institution.

The First National Bank opened business today with a paid-up capital of $100,000, a surplus of $50,000 and deposits of over $500,000.

The officers of the reorganized bank are: President, J. B. Heartwell; vice-presidents, John Carroll and S. Townsend; cashier, C. L. Heartwell; assistant cashier, W. A. Kennedy; tellers, D. J. Mathes and E. O. Miller.

MUSICAL SUCCESS.

The music festival continues a big success. This morning Miss Fairweather gave an intensely interesting lecture on "The Orchestra from Egypt to Los Angeles," and in the afternoon Charles F. Lummis spoke on Indian music, illustrated by native songs by Indians, the afternoon closing with Miss Pearl Herndon's graphic reading of Hiawatha's wooing. Tonight to an audience that packed the tabernacle, Miss Ada Marie Crow gave a picture sketch of the "Passion Play," illustrated by stereopticon views and a chorus of eighteen people in costume.

Saturday morning Miss Mary Fairweather will give her farewell lecture on "The Soul-music Dramas of Wagner." The afternoon entertainment will be given by the English handbell ringers and Milly Arlington, an old-time minstrel favorite, in "Minstrel Reminiscences." The closing feature of the festival will be the rendition of the "Rose Maiden," Saturday evening, by the allied choral societies of Los Angeles, Redondo, Pasadena and Long Beach, 450 voices, with an orchestra of fifty-five pieces, and the following soloists, Maude Reese Davies, soprano; Mrs. Spencer Robinson, contralto; Spencer Robinson, tenor, and Harry Clifford Lott, baritone, and all under the direction of Harry Barnhart.

SALVATION'S GUESTS.

The Salvation Army of Los Angeles brought an excursion of 300 to the beach today. Most of them were poor people, who could not otherwise have enjoyed an outing. The army had provided a wagonload of good things, and all apparently enjoyed the afternoon's pleasures.

'LONG SHORE.

Through service on the Pacific Electric from Long Beach to Huntington Beach was inaugurated today, cars running every hour.

The Fourth of July committee has arranged all details of their celebration on Monday and say it will be the biggest hurrah ever seen in Long Beach. Their latest outlay was in securing the San Pedro Marine Band of sixteen men for all day. The firemen's tournament on Pine avenue and the pyrotechnical display at night promise to be unqualified successes.

High Chief W. H. Perry and the board of district deputies of the Independent Order of Foresters paid the local lodge an official visit last night and were pleasantly entertained.

Grand Master Charles W. Nutting, Grand Senior Deacon Samuel Preger and Grand Junior Warden W. D. Stephens were guests of honor at a Masonic banquet last night, which forms a fitting climax for the many events and functions of the order incidental to the erecting and occupancy of their new temple last spring.

LORDSBURG.

LIGHT AND "JUICE."

LORDSBURG, July 1.—Frank H. Massey returned from Los Angeles today, having completed arrangements with the Edison Electric Light Company to furnish light and power for Lordsburg and La Verne. The wires will be extended from North Pomona as far west as the new Bonita High School building, and perhaps later to San Dimas.

The people of Lordsburg are delighted with the prospect of discarding their kerosene lamps, and most of the houses will be fitted with electric lights.

The large pumping plant of the Lordsburg waterworks will be equipped with electric power.

BY THE WAY.

The Bonita Union High School closed today for vacation, this being the end of the first term. The pupils assembled this morning to bid farewell to Prof. A. C. Smith, the late principal of the school, as he left for St. Louis.

Thomas C. Preston, Santa Fé agent here, has been promoted to a better position with that company at Santa Ana.

PLAYA DEL REY.

BUILDING AUTO WAY.

PLAYA DEL REY, July 1.—Work on the automobile boulevard from here to Ivy is progressing rapidly, the improvement being done simultaneously from both ends of the road. The right of way is being plowed and graded, and will be rolled and otherwise improved, so as to make an edu ring speedway for the chug wagons. There is scarcely any grade, and the last four miles is a straight run into this beach. Work is to begin at once on the automobile clubhouse and garage, which will be located on the bluff overlooking the ocean.

MRS. STIMSON PASSES AWAY.

DEATH OF CHARITABLE WOMAN COMES SUDDENLY.

Widow of Builder of Mansion and Business Blocks, and Friend of Poor and Distressed, and Founder of the Stimson-Lafayette Industrial Home.

Mrs. Achsah J. Stimson, widow of the late T. D. Stimson, died at 11:10 o'clock last night at the palatial family home, No. 2421 South Figueroa street. The cause was abcess of the liver, from which she had been a sufferer more than two years, and for four months she had been confined to her bed. The end was not unexpected, but it came more suddenly than was anticipated and all the members of the family were not at the bedside.

Mrs. Stimson was a native of Galena, Wayne county, N. Y., and her age was 69 years and 7 months. Early in life she moved to Michigan with her parents and there the greater portion of her life was spent. While residing in Grand Rapids she became the wife of T. D. Stimson and with him spent fifty-two happy years. Mr. Stimson died in this city, January 31, 1898. They lived successively in Grand Rapids, Big Rapids, Muskegon and Chicago, in each of which places Mr. Stimson was engaged in the lumber business, in which he amassed a fortune. In 1889 he retired from business and came to California to spend the evening of his life, and here he built the Stimson mansion, the finest private residence in the city. He also built the Douglas and Stimson blocks, the latter of which became the property of Mrs. Stimson in the settlement of her husband's estate.

Mrs. Stimson leaves a daughter and four sons, Mrs. J. J. Fay, Williard H. Stimson, Ezra T. Stimson, Charles D. Stimson and Fred S. Stimson, the two last-mentioned residing in Seattle, while the others live in Los Angeles. She also leaves a sister, Miss Spencer, who has made her home with the family since they came to California.

The time of the funeral has not been determined, but it will not be held before Tuesday, owing to the fact that Seattle relatives cannot reach Los Angeles before Monday evening.

In the death of Mrs. Stimson the poor of Los Angeles lost a real friend. She was the founder of the Stimson-Lafayette Industrial School and made it the successful institution which it is today. No person, not even the members of her own family, knew the extent of her charities, and hundreds of poor people were made happy through her generosity and kindness, but the world never knew what gifts she made. Being possessed of an independent fortune she devoted thousands of dollars every year to the relief of distress wherever she found it. Poor children were her special wards, and there are in the public schools of Los Angeles scores of children who were assisted in many ways by Mrs. Stimson. She was a member of the Ebell Club, and until her last illness took an active interest in its affairs.
